Oxfam has practiced and championed locally led adaptation in partnerships for almost two decades. We will continue to do so and contribute to this collective effort. Oxfam's Global Strategic Framework 2020-2030 commits Oxfam to do everything in our power to amplify local voices that challenge discrimination, exclusion, and exploitation and build global support for their fight against climate change and the inequalities that drive vulnerability. We have learned that how we work is as important as what we work on, so we will take a feminist, anti-colonial, anti-racist, and partnership-led approach to shift power to people on the front lines of the climate crisis.
