Sisaket Rajabhat University is a public higher education institution located in Sisaket Province, northeastern Thailand. Originally established as Sisaket Rajabhat Institute in 1997, the institution officially became Sisaket Rajabhat University in 2004 under the Rajabhat University Act. The university focuses on higher education, research, academic services, and arts and cultural preservation, with a strong mission in local and community development.

The main campus provides a green and supportive learning environment with academic buildings, laboratories, a library, student dormitories, sports facilities, and community service centers. Currently, the university offers 48 academic programs and serves as an important educational hub for the region.
