

Linny

Linny was a popular girl in high school. She was the best mean girl ever seen. She knew when her rivals were going to pull a prank on her or her friends and would make the prank backfire. One day, she came to school and was overwhelmed by the amount of voices she heard in a panic she let out a scream that pushed everyone in the hallway against their lockers then dropped them the next second. Her parents took her to therapy and her new psychiatrist convinced her parents that she needed to be placed in a mental ward. She befriended the patients and they in turn helped her to hone her newfound powers. As days went by her resentment towards her parents grew stronger and stronger. Months later, She was released. She found out that her father was killed by a gang of Trolls. The flood of emotions she felt was directed towards wiping out all trolls. She trained in Atlas Park then began her reign of chaos on the trolls located in the Hollows.

Flaming Rose

Rosalyn was an orphan living at a group home. She joined this gang named The Hellions. As a member of The Hellions she was the best arsonist they had so she was nicknamed Flaming Rose. She often cut school and if she did go. She just ended up bullying nerds into completing her assignments for her. Over time The Hellions became like a family to her. One night she decided to stay at one of the Hellion's hideouts. She woke up during the night with what she thought was hot flashes. All of a sudden she was engulfed in flames. The fire on her body spread quickly and started a fire on the old couch she was laying on. The fire spread throughout the whole hideout burning the building down. The Hellions blamed Rosalyn for the fire. She tried to explain and show them her new powers but they just called her a freak and tried to kill her for what she did. She ran off to Galaxy City where she heard that other people had powers like her trained. Months later confident with her powers, she set off to Atlas Park for some revenge on the whole Hellions gang and other gangs that stand in her way of saving innocents.

Zola

Zola was the latest up and coming photographer for the Paragon Times. Upon receiving an anonymous tip. Zola found out that The Lost were in talks to gain The Circle Of Thorns into their ranks. The Circle of Thorns was a cult in control of an ancient power that has been buried beneath The Hollows for centuries. The Lost were hoping to gain access to this power to assist in taking over Skyway City. Zola snuck into The Hollows through the Skyway entrance by dressing up as a hero in a green skin tight outfit with a mask to conceal her identity. The Skyway entrance to The Hollows was heavily guarded and only heroes were permitted to enter The Hollows through that entrance. It didn't take long for Zola to find a ritual taking place with members of The Circle of Thorns practicing their powers on a tied up Lost member. After taking a few shots she was spotted. A spell was cast on her that petrified her. The spell was supposed to leave her frozen in stone but something went awry and she was able to move a few minutes later but still encased in a stone armor. She put her new powers to work and destroyed everyone in her immediate vicinity. Now she spends her day charging head first into mobs of enemies to protect the innocent.
