Session Description

Building on the insights and experiences shared in Part I, our Switched-On Learning Team invites you to roll up your sleeves and get hands-on in this interactive toy adaptation workshop.

The aim of this session is not just to impart practical skills but to ignite a passion for inclusive play. We'll provide a limited variety of toys ready for adaptation, guiding you through each step of the process to make them accessible and inclusive. By the end of this session, you'll have not only adapted a toy yourself but also be equipped with the know-how to share this transformative process in your own communities and schools.

Don't miss this chance to discover a new passion and skill. Join us for this immersive experience as we continue our journey towards making switch-adapted toys a standard, not a luxury. Space is limited, so secure your spot today. We can't wait to see you!
