

Privacy Policy for Flock Bingo

Effective date: August 13, 2026

App: Flock Bingo (com.flock.bingo)

Platform: Android

Flock Bingo is a solo bingo game. This policy explains what information the app uses and what it does not.

If you have questions, contact the developer at: [YOUR EMAIL ADDRESS]

1. Summary

Flock Bingo does not require an account, does not show ads, does not sell data, and does not run its own analytics or crash-reporting services.

Gameplay progress stays on your device. You can play without creating a profile or providing a name, email, or phone number.

2. Information stored on your device

The app saves game data locally using Android storage (SharedPreferences). This data never leaves your device through our servers, because Flock Bingo has no backend.

On-device data may include:

- Game settings (sound, music, haptics, assist mode, caller speed)
- Mission progress, stars, XP, unlocks, and equipped skins
- Achievement status
- Local leaderboard scores (times and balls-to-bingo on your device only)

This is gameplay data, not an identity profile. We do not ask for your name, email, location, contacts, photos, or payment details.

You can erase progress from Settings → Reset progress. Uninstalling the app also removes this local data.

3. Information we do not collect

We do not collect, store, or receive names, emails, phone numbers, account credentials, location, contacts, photos, microphone or camera data, payment information, advertising IDs, or analytics/crash reports operated by us.

We do not sell personal information. We do not share on-device game progress with third parties.

4. Internet access and fonts

Flock Bingo is designed to be playable offline. It does not need an internet connection to call balls, save progress, or complete missions.

The app may still use a network connection to load display fonts from Google Fonts. If that request happens, Google may receive technical data such as your IP address, under Google's Privacy Policy.

We do not use that font request to identify you, build a profile, or serve ads.

5. Permissions

The Android package may declare internet-related permissions so fonts can load when a network is available. The game does not use those permissions to upload your progress, create an account, or show advertisements.

Flock Bingo does not request access to camera, microphone, contacts, storage of personal files, or location.

6. Children

Flock Bingo is a casual game and is not used to collect personal information from children. We do not knowingly gather names, emails, or other identifiers from anyone, including children under 13.

7. Data retention and deletion

Local game data remains on your device until you reset progress or uninstall the app. Because we do not operate a user database, there is no cloud copy of your bingo progress for us to delete on a server.

8. Security

Progress is stored only on the device using standard Android local storage. We do not transmit that data to our own servers.

9. Third-party services

The app may use Google Fonts for the typeface and Google Play if you download from the Play Store. We do not embed advertising, login, or analytics SDKs.

10. Changes

If the app starts collecting personal data, this policy and the Play Store Data safety section will be updated first.
