Adjusting and Adapting

By: Shomsul Alam-(12), Shobullah Kata, new extension Camp-16.

I am Shomsul Alam. I am a student who has been studying under the Rohingya Children Project (RCP) for the last one year. Before, when I was in Myanmar, I did not have a place to study free of cost. That is to say that I was completely afraid for my future life and what was waiting for me. My father died in 2009. He was a daily labourer who supported and figured out all of the family expenditures. His departure made me and my mother hopeless. But somehow, my mother managed something for the household expenditure. My study fee, however, was completely out of her control on the basis of her daily income. She used to work as a maid in our old neighborhood. Most of the time she brought rotten foods for me from those families with whom she worked as a maid for lack of sufficient income and earnings. And I have to adjust and adapt to the condition of my family.

It is why I would like to convey my special thanks to the RCP for providing a great educational facility for us. I would like to add an important role that is conducted by the Rohingya Children Project (RCP). They are adopting an important role for us so that we can recognize ourselves on the international platform. The classes, which are conducted by their honourable teachers, are really amazing, helpful and incredible. It is also mentionable that they supply monthly, quarterly and yearly educational materials and equipment. We can study totally free of cost. Besides this, they also inaugurate an annual sports competition after the final semester examination. We expect it will continue so that we can be perfectly educated and can stand on an international platform. I would like to be a teacher and I want to support my fellow young generations so that displeasing and ill-fated factors are eradicated soon from our community and we can promote the community towards success and the achievement of goals and dreams.
