

10:10 Characteristics of a Good Website

Kira, et al.

Noelle, et al.

Marjan, et al.

Grace, et al.

Kira, et al.

What are three things that make a good website?

- - readable text
- - functionality
- - consistency of layout
- - main points are easy to find
- - easy to navigate

What are three things that make a website that looks good?

- - uniform color usage
- - good graphics
- - designs that improve the clarity of the website
- - having pictures and colors
- - organization

Noelle, et al.

Three things that make a good website:

- Quality content
- Easy to navigate
- Visually appealing (ex. opposite colors)
- Organized
- Relevant

Three things that make a website look good:

- Colors
- Readability
- Appealing graphics
- Not too many words
- Appropriate dimensions

Marjan, et al.

What are three things that make a good website?

- - The website should be easy to use. It should be easy to find what you are looking for. The organization should be well-done.
- - The links, headings, etc. of the website should be functional and straightforward. This ties into clarity and how the website should be clear.
- - The website should be high-quality and have interactivity.

What are three things that make a website look good?

- - A cohesive and consistent style throughout the website
- - Images help make a website appealing
- - Bolding fonts, appropriate headings, and style are important in user readability

Grace, et al.

What are five things that make a good website?

- 1. Organization - people skim when reading, good to have headlines and clear lists
- 2. Search Bar and Tabs
- 3. Text and Images are appropriate for website content
- 4. Accurate information
- 5. Appeals to a broad range of audiences

What are five things that make a website look good?

- 1. Good use of space (limited white space)
- 2. Colors
- 3. Legible font size and font type
- 4. Ratio of text to image (both with regards to layout and sizing)
- 5. Easy to navigate/user-friendly