

Punk Zebracorn

By Punk Zebracorn

I got a feeling inside of me
Kind of strange like a stormy sea
I don't why and I don't know when I kind of like you. Can we be friends?

I'm a zebra and a unicorn
Not my fault, just the way I was born
Can't stop to mess around
There's a new kind of beast in town

Feel like a zebra? Then I've got a kick
I like the girls but I've got a trick
Hate this place, I just gotta go
Gotta be wherever you don't know

I'm a zebra, I'm a unicorn
Call me Debra, do you like my horn?
Can't stop to mess around
There's a new kind of beast in town

I'm a zebra, I'm a unicorn
Not my fault, just the way I was born
Can't stop to mess around
There's a new kind of beast in town

I'm a zebra, I'm a unicorn
Call me Debra, do you like my horn?
Can't stop to mess around
There's a new kind of beast in town.

Ever felt like you're supposed to fit into a neat little box and follow the rules? Never mind that bollocks. The Punk Zebracorn is about individuality and nonconformity. Wild, magical and unpredictable, the Punk Zebracorn stands proud and defiant for diversity. Anyone who feels they don't fit in is welcome. Anything is possible. Be yourself. Be true.

The Punk Zebracorn track was written, performed and produced by Ol West - a child of 70's England, who grew up around original punk music. Inspired to write a song for this new icon, with the memories from another era of fast, hard music, and disaffected lyrics, Ol has penned a new punk track to contrast the zeitgeist. It'll woo you, grab you, and spit you out. Arresting, in-yer-face, and proud, “Punk Zebracorn” gives you a hoof.
