

Aurora Blortles was a constellation from space. The amount of Stars in stars' constellation was the same as stars' total Star rating. Each person perceived Blortles as a different shape based on stars arrangement of stars; various Wild Wings had reported seeing star as a humanoid, a bird, a bear, and a worm, though Blortles claimed that stars' forms were endless. Star also had a special relationship with gravity in that smaller objects were pulled into orbit around star, with larger objects merely pulled closer to star.

Blortles joined Blaseball as a way to shake [\[\[https://iau.org|IAU\]\]](https://iau.org) enforcers. When stars' cover was initially blown, star jumped into a wormhole which led star directly to the Ohio Worm's shadows. The IAU claims that Blortles had committed the following crimes:

- Stealing bases
- Owning a pet jellyfish
- Tax evasion
- Incorrect use of Latin phrases
- et al.

Blortles made stars' way to the Wild Wings in order to gain the assistance of the Wild Wings Legal Team in proving that the IAU were framing star in all stars' crimes (except for the jellyfish thing, that's real). Star assisted the legal team using stars' expert knowledge of celestial bodies and other non-terrestrial beings.

Blortles was close friends with Silvia Rugrat and Wichita Toaster. In stars' free time, Blortles collected fancy hats.

NOTES from wings discussion on main

- star/stars
- Space theming, constellation, pretty aurora cape, ursa major
- Why is star here?
- Oh boy. Crimes. The space police are after stars for being an illegal constellation
- Stars is on the run, went to shadows originally to hide, went to wings
- Stars also does a myriad of other crimes, for fun
- Expert on celestial bodies and other non-terrestrial beings
- Shows up to everyone as a different form
- Kinda shapeshifting kinda not
- Different form for each stadium?
 - Ideas: humanoid, bird, bear, worm
- So Aurora ran from the Intergalactic Space Police after a legal constellation blew their cover by jumping into the closest wormhole, which happened to be connected to... Ohio.
- intergalactic federation police force
- Stars = literal stars in stars constellation
- But is she being framed?
- ACAB including the space police
- Has jellyfish pet, the Intergalactic Space Police have classified that "owning a creature that lives underwater" as a ticketable offense
- Greatest crime is tax evasion. Another crime is stealing bases.
- Aurora was close friends with Silvia Rigrat and Wichita Toaster, but also talked with teh Legal team a lot.
- Weird gravity shenanigans with ball orbiting and pulling ppl to her

EDIT NOTES

- Edited page so that Aurora's second name is used when only one name is read out. Wiki mods really like editing pages for this
