- Reputation

Our main goal is to determine if every single roulette website we offer deserves the trust of our readers. So we start with a background check designed to find out more about the company behind the casino.

If there is no reason to worry, we will continue with the gambling license and security measures installed by the casino. The first is the greatest safety net when it comes to the site itself, and the second is to deter hackers and other harmful third parties.

We also look for feedback from previous customers to help us better understand whether the casino is treating all its users right. We will forward or add the site to a casino blacklist if we have a previous record of suspicious behavior.
