

Heya Ian,

I'm amazed by how you and Dick have over 50 years of sail repairing experience, have you guys ever got to repair the sails of a Schooner?

When I first clicked into your website I was shocked to see how it hasn't been updated since 2011!

Since a website is such a massive component of your online presence. Not having a good website would be like racing with a dirty hull.

Having a modern updated website also has many benefits such as:

- Larger online presence,
- Appearing higher on google searches
- And being able to run effective and engaging ads anywhere on the internet...

If you and Dick want to build a strong online presence and help more people live their sailing dreams, email me back "website makeover".

Kind regards,

Your fellow sailor,

Michael C.G
