

SOUTH COAST MUSIC PARTNERSHIP NETWORK OF EXCELLENCE

The Place of Music at Hollybrook

Laura Jackson (Head of School) and Marcella Dobson (Executive Headteacher)

At The Hollybrook Schools, music is a vibrant and cherished part of our community. We are fortunate to have expert music teachers who lead our well considered and progressive curriculum with expertise, passion, and pride, supported by talented peripatetic teachers who enrich the musical experiences we can offer.

Our music provision is intentionally inclusive. Every child is recognised as a musician, encouraged to explore their creativity, and supported to feel proud of being part of something bigger than themselves when they share their music. Whether performing in class, singing together, or taking part in school-wide events, our pupils develop confidence, joy, and a strong sense of belonging through music. We value how our music provision brings joy to all of our pupils and recognise its importance in developing the whole child and our ability to offer an engaging, broad curriculum to enhance life experiences.

Families play an important role in our musical community. From playground Songs of the Season to concerts and performances throughout the year which include every pupil, parents are welcomed to share in the achievements of their children and celebrate the power of music to bring people together.

We are also proud to collaborate through the JEP partnership, coming together every two years for a large joint concert. This event provides our pupils with the inspiring experience of performing as part of a much wider musical ensemble, demonstrating the strength of collaboration, the joy of collective performance, and the importance of nurturing music across our wider community.

At The Hollybrook Schools, we remain committed to ensuring that music continues to flourish—lifting spirits, building confidence, and creating meaningful shared experiences for every child to hopefully engage them into a world of music as they move on to the next part of their education.