

Instructions: Please use the table below to propose a topic for a breakout room. There will be some time set aside to give you time to claim a room. Based on the sign-in sheet, suggested topics will be filled in, but please edit the table below as you see fit.

Notes: During the session, you should be able to move between rooms at will. That said, if you do participate in a breakout room, it will be helpful if you can write your name in the “participants” column just so that we know who contributed work. There’s nothing wrong with working in a breakout room by yourself (though please do claim a room or area in that case so that others know what you will be working on, should they wish to assist you).

The final column of each table provides space for you to paste any links that will help your work.
