Today, I am here to address the accusations that the subpoenas being given to President GuiltyAir's Cabinet Officials are for political power moves. That accusation is false, the reason is because the United States Congressional Committee on Government Oversight, Infrastructure, and the Interior has begun an Audit on the entire Federal Government. We have begun this process because we feel that the United States Government is wasting money and that the taxpayers deserve to get the money being wasted back. That is the real reason why we have begun the process of subpoenaing the cabinet officials and plan on continuing this process until we have solved the issue at hand. The rest of the cabinet officials will be requested to appear at a hearing sometime in the near future. I personally believe that this is necessary and I believe that this will give the American public the answers they deserve about our government spending problem. I hope the people of this nation stand with me and Congress as we embark on this process to give the American people the money, our government is wasting, back.

Thank you,
