

Heya Bob,

On your Facebook, I saw you raced in the INT MOTH LO that must have been amazing. I've always wanted to sail a Moth because of how fast they are.

While I was looking at your Facebook I noticed that you don't have a website.

A website is such an important component of your online presence. Not having a website is like racing with a dirty hull, and who wants to be slow in a race?

On the other hand, having a website is like foiling on a Moth – fast, smooth, and empowering you with:

- A larger online presence.
- Appearing higher on Google searches
- And the ability to run effective and engaging ads anywhere on the internet...

Bob, to boost your online presence as fast as a Moth in 30 knots and help more people live their sailing dreams, email me “dirty hull? Not me!”

Kind regards,

Your fellow sailor,

Michael C.G
