An Overview: Summer camp at Woodcraft is both exciting and relaxing. We have a ton of fun adventuring through our days with friends, trying out new activities, honing our skills, and enjoying all the cool camp traditions. We're learning and growing daily, but we are not stressed out! Woven into the fabric of a Woodcraft summer is the feeling of having time. Plenty of time to play cards with friends, read a book under the shade of a tree, or toss a frisbee before dinner. Plenty of time to take in the fresh air all around Woodcraft and to listen to the sounds of nature in our pristine Adirondack setting.

During each session, camper groups depart on overnight wilderness adventures for their Cabin Trip. Trip length and challenge grow with the age and experience of the camper group. Generally speaking, cabin trips go out during the first two weeks of each session. During each session's third and last week, we aim to have everyone back in camp enjoying Woodcraft together. This calendar does not mark specific cabin trips because we often have to shift and adjust.

When campers are "home," our weeks look like this: On Sundays, we sleep in and have breakfast at 9 a.m. During rest hour, all campers write letters home, and we spend Sunday afternoons celebrating the day's special theme. Last but not least, we end our evening with Woodcraft's traditional all-camp Sunday campfire! On Woodcraft Wednesdays, we wear Woodcrafty gear if we have it and head out on small group trips to explore our favorite local wilderness spots. Top choices include hiking, biking, paddling, and fishing destinations. We return for a later rest hour and head to extended General Swim before dinner. We end our Wednesdays with divisional campfires and s'mores! On Flannel Fridays, we show up to breakfast in our favorite cozy flannel something. On Saturdays, we enjoy our pizza and salad bar for dinner and get pumped for campwide evening activity!

Other optional and special activities we haven't listed, such as sunrise or sunset hikes, rock climbing trips, and counselor-led special activities, are sprinkled throughout our weeks. We have to keep it exciting!
