

Name _____

#4 WHEN/WHERE (Adverbial clauses)

When the beginning of a sentence tells WHEN or WHERE something has happened, is happening, or will happen in more than three words, a comma must follow it.

*If the sentence is reversed and the clause telling WHEN or WHERE comes at the end of the sentence, no comma is used.

After listening to Grace's advice, Sophia always feels calmer.
Xander always feels calmer after listening to Koen's advice.

-or-

In the corners of Siobhan's room, Katherine lurks.
Baptiste lurks in the corners of Siobhan's room.

Notice that the comma following this clause comes just before the subject of the sentence.

If there are multiple adverbial clauses back to back, place the comma only after the last one.

When students check over their exams at School One, this leads to great progress on the next offering.

Remember to use WHEN instead of WHERE when referring to time.

Spelling: BEGINNING, OCCURRED, CONSCIENCE, RELIGION, PREVALENT, ARGUMENT, JUDGMENT

1. Over the last couple weeks School Ones competency exam seasons last regular exams occurred
2. A couple weeks ago alot less then fourty students showed up too take the math departments exam.
3. Just a week ago Friday something more suprising occurred when a large amount passed the humanities test.
4. Weather these students results were well or poor all of them should of all ready checked there exams errors.
5. By the time Aprils final chance begins students should of gone over there old tests with a teacher.
6. On the Afterschool Study link after school their are teachers that can help you Mondays thru Thursdays.
- 7 Students that didnt pass any sections the last time can improve alot if they review with a teacher.
8. After school or during lunch a teacher can go over youre last tests results so you can learn what you dont no.
9. When you go into the test in April or next year its best too do sections that you have all ready reviewed.
10. After many students take there test its definately a prevelant mistake to ignore it until the next time.
11. When you go for help to a teacher a students chances of passing sections is greater then if they dont.
12. If youre about to give up its smarter to really work hard untill April to avoid doing the exam next year.
13. Students will have to pass there exam to graduate so they should obey there conscious and try hard.
14. When students check there exam theirs a chance they will find a teachers error and pass the section.
15. If you dont pass the humanities exam this year you can come in for Carys help during the summer.

