Inspire, Empower, Achieve ... Every Student, Every Day

December 12, 2022

To whom it may concern,

It gives me great pleasure to write a letter of recommendation for Rosemary Scanlon. Rosemary was my student teacher for eight weeks in my self-contained special education classroom at Northwest Elementary School in Evergreen Park, Illinois. Our self-contained classroom is made up of students who have Autism or characteristics of Autism, as well as language delays.

One of Rosemary's greatest strengths is her commitment to deliver quality education to our students. She is positive, creative, thoughtful, and intuitive when it comes to working with students. Rosemary makes her own instructional materials and is always finding creative strategies to help the students learn. She differentiates her instruction to meet the diverse needs of the students in the classroom and uses data to guide her future instruction. In the classroom she uses hands-on activities and visual strategies that are beneficial to the learning needs of any student. Rosemary was successful building relationships with the students by having meaningful interactions with the students about their interests. In addition, Rosemary is able to manage student behaviors by implementing behavior plans or using positive reinforcement systems leading to effective interactions with students.

Rosemary Scanlon is passionate about the work she does in the classroom. I believe she would be an asset to a school looking for a teacher who consistently strives to bring positive, motivating, challenging, and engaging lessons to the classroom. Rosemary Scanlon would be a great addition to your school.

If I can assist you with any further questions about Rosemary Scanlon's qualifications, please do not hesitate to contact me at khinde@d124.org or 708-425-9473.

Sincerely,

Katherine Hinde
