

GoScale - Privacy Policy

Effective Date: July 01, 2026

Introduction

We attach great importance to user privacy and the protection of personal information, and we treat this information with a duty of diligence and prudence. When you use our services, we will collect and use your relevant personal information and user information (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Information"). Through this Privacy Policy (hereinafter referred to as the "Privacy Policy" or "this Policy"), we will explain to you how we collect, use, store, and share this information when you use our services, as well as the ways we provide for you to access, update, control, and protect this information.

[Special Note] Before using the service, please strictly read and thoroughly understand this Policy, and only begin use after confirming you fully understand and agree to it. If you do not agree with the content of this Policy, it will result in our products and services being unable to function normally or unable to achieve the intended service effects, and you should immediately stop accessing/using our services. Your use or continued use of the services indicates that you agree to our collection, use, storage, sharing, transfer, and disclosure of your personal information in accordance with this Policy (including updated versions).

This Privacy Policy helps you understand the following:

1. How We Collect and Use Personal Information
2. How We Share, Transfer, and Disclose This Information
3. How We Store and Protect Your Personal Information
4. How to Manage Your Personal Information
5. Third-Party Services
6. Protection of Minors
7. Notifications and Revisions to This Privacy Policy
8. How to Contact Us

I. How We Collect and Use Personal Information

We collect your personal information primarily to enable you and other users to use the services more easily and satisfactorily. Our goal is to provide all Internet users with a safe, interesting, and educational online experience. This information helps us achieve this goal.

(I) We will collect and obtain your personal information through the following channels:

1. Information provided by you. Including:
 - (1) Information you provide to us when registering an account for the service or using the service;
 - (2) Shared information you provide to other parties through the service, and information stored when you use the service.

Please note that if you upload or publish information in public areas of the service visible to other users, or disclose your information in responses to information uploaded or published by others, such information may be collected and used by others. When you discover that others are improperly collecting or using your information, you can contact us through the feedback channels listed in the "How to Contact Us" section of this Policy.

2. Your information shared by other parties. That is, shared information about you provided by other parties when using the service.
3. Your information obtained by us. Information we collect, aggregate, and record when you use the service, including but not limited to log information, location information, and device information.

(II) We will collect and use the following types of your personal information for the following purposes:

1. To provide you with network security and operational security guarantees
 - (1) To ensure the security of your account, network, operations, and system, and to prevent phishing fraud and Trojan viruses, we will collect your device-related information during your use of this product, including Device Model, Operating System Version, Software Version Number, Device Configuration, IP, and Android ID. Among these, the Android ID is used for software functions and to identify whether the account status is abnormal.
 - (2) To maintain product security and troubleshoot in a timely manner. To maintain the normal operation of our services, ensure the security of your account, troubleshoot product faults, and improve and optimize our services, we will collect your EXIF data, subscription status, and service logs. This type of information is necessary for providing services, used to identify abnormal account states, and to meet relevant legal and regulatory requirements. It is de-identified after collection and will not be used to identify any specific user.
 - (3) To help us better understand the operation of this software and service, and to ensure the security of operation and service provision, we will record network log information (date and time you use this software and related services), as well as frequency of use, crash data, overall installation, usage, performance data, and other information.
2. Other Uses

You understand and agree that after collecting your personal information, we will use technical means to de-identify the data. De-identified information will not be able to identify you. In this case, we have the right to use the de-identified information to analyze the user database and utilize it commercially without obtaining further consent from you.

Please note that if we intend to use your personal information for other purposes not specified in this Policy or to collect other personal information not mentioned, we will obtain your separate consent through page prompts, interactive processes, website announcements, or other means. Once you agree, such additional uses will be deemed part of this Policy, and such additional information will also be subject to this Policy.
3. Exceptions to obtaining authorization and consent

According to relevant laws and regulations, the collection of your information does not require your authorization or consent in the following circumstances:

- (1) Related to national security or national defense security;
- (2) Related to public safety, public health, or major public interests;
- (3) Related to criminal investigation, prosecution, trial, and execution of judgments;
- (4) For the purpose of safeguarding the life, property, and other major legitimate rights and interests of the information subject or other individuals, where it is difficult to obtain your own consent;
- (5) The collected information is disclosed to the public by you yourself;
- (6) Collecting information from legally publicly disclosed information, such as legal news reports, government information disclosure, and other channels;
- (7) Necessary for signing a contract according to your requirements;
- (8) Necessary for maintaining the safe and stable operation of the service, such as discovering and disposing of faults in products or services;
- (9) Necessary for legitimate news reporting;
- (10) Necessary for academic research institutions to carry out statistical or academic research based on public interests, and when providing the results of academic research or descriptions externally, the information contained in the results is de-identified;
- (11) Other circumstances stipulated by laws and regulations.

II. How We Share, Transfer, and Disclose Personal Information

(I) Sharing

Except for the following circumstances, we will not share your personal information with any third party outside of this software without your consent:

1. Within the scope permitted by laws and regulations, in order to comply with the law, protect us and our affiliates or partners, you or other users of this software, or the public interest, property, or safety from harm (e.g., to prevent fraud and other illegal activities and reduce credit risk), we may exchange information with other companies and organizations. However, this does not include information sold, rented, shared, or otherwise disclosed for profit in violation of the commitments made in this Policy;
2. In response to your legitimate needs or with your authorization and consent;
3. Providing your information in response to the legal request of your guardian;
4. Provided according to the single service agreement signed with you (including electronic agreements signed online and corresponding platform rules) or other legal documents;

We will only share your personal information for lawful, legitimate, necessary, specific, and clear purposes. We will sign strict confidentiality agreements with companies, organizations, and individuals with whom we share personal information, requiring them to process information in accordance with our instructions, this Policy, and any other relevant confidentiality and security measures.

(II) Transfer

1. With the continuous development of our business, we may conduct transactions including but not limited to mergers, acquisitions, asset transfers, or similar transactions, and your information may be transferred as part of such transactions.

We will require the new company or organization holding your personal information to continue to be bound by this Policy; otherwise, we will require that company or organization to seek your authorization and consent again.

2. After obtaining your explicit consent, we will transfer your personal information to other parties.

(III) Disclosure

We will only disclose your personal information under the following circumstances and under the premise of adopting security protection measures that meet industry standards:

1. According to your needs, disclosing the information you designate under the disclosure method you explicitly agreed to;
2. In cases where it is necessary to provide your information according to the requirements of laws, regulations, mandatory administrative law enforcement, or judicial requirements, we will disclose your information based on the required information type and disclosure method. Under the premise of complying with laws and regulations, when we receive the above-mentioned requests for information disclosure, we will require the recipient to issue corresponding legal documents, such as subpoenas or investigation letters. We firmly believe¹ that the information we are asked to provide should be as transparent as possible within the scope permitted by law. We carefully review all requests to ensure they have a legal basis and are limited to data that law enforcement agencies have a legitimate right to obtain for specific investigative purposes.

(IV) Exceptions to prior authorization consent for sharing, transferring, or disclosing information

In the following circumstances, sharing, transferring, or disclosing your information does not require your prior authorization or consent:

1. Related to national security or national defense security;
2. Related to public safety, public health, or major public interests;
3. Related to judicial or administrative law enforcement such as criminal investigation, prosecution, trial, and execution of judgments;
4. For the purpose of safeguarding the life, property, and other major legitimate rights and interests of you or other individuals, where it is difficult to obtain consent;²
5. Information you disclose to the public yourself;³
6. Collecting information from legally publicly disclosed information, such as legal news reports, government information disclosure, and other channels.
According to legal provisions, sharing, transferring, or disclosing de-identified personal information where the data recipient cannot restore and re-identify the information subject does not constitute the external sharing, transfer, or public disclosure of personal information. The storage and processing of such data will not require separate notification to you or your consent.

III. How We Store and Protect Personal Information

We store your personal information only for the period necessary for the purposes described in this Policy and within the shortest time limit required by laws and regulations. However, in the following circumstances, we may change the storage time of personal information to comply with legal requirements:⁵

1. To comply with applicable laws and regulations, including Article 21, Paragraph 3 of the Cybersecurity Law of the People's Republic of China, which requires that network logs for monitoring and recording network operation status and cybersecurity incidents be retained for no less than six months;
2. To comply with the provisions of court judgments, rulings, or other legal procedures;
3. To comply with the requirements of government agencies or legally authorized organizations.⁶

If we terminate our service or operation, we will promptly stop the activity of collecting your personal information, notify you in advance in compliance with relevant laws and regulations, and delete or anonymize⁷ your personal information after the termination of service or operation, unless otherwise stipulated by laws, regulations, or regulatory authorities.

Personal information collected and generated during our operations within the territory of the People's Republic of China is stored within China, except in the following circumstances:

1. Clearly stipulated by laws and regulations;
 2. Your authorization and consent are obtained;
 3. The products or services you use involve cross-border aspects, and this software needs to provide your personal information overseas.
- In the above circumstances, we will ensure that sufficient protection is provided for your personal information in accordance with this Policy and national laws and regulations.

We attach great importance to information security, have established a dedicated security team, and take all reasonable and feasible measures to protect your personal information:

(I) Data Security Technical Measures

We will adopt security protection measures that meet industry standards, including establishing reasonable institutional norms and security technologies to prevent unauthorized access, use, or modification of your personal information, and to avoid data damage or loss.

Our services strictly adopt various encryption technologies. For example, in certain products, we will use encryption technology (such as SSL) to protect your personal information, use encryption technology to store your personal information in encrypted form, and isolate it through isolation technology.

When using personal information, such as for information display or information correlation calculation, we will use various data desensitization technologies to enhance the security of information during use.

We also adopt strict data access permission controls and multi-factor authentication technologies to protect personal information and prevent data from being used illegally.

(II) Other Security Measures We Take to Protect Personal Information

We manage and regulate the storage and use of personal information by establishing data classification and grading systems, data security management specifications, and data security development specifications.

We conduct comprehensive security control over data through confidentiality agreements for information contacts, monitoring, and audit mechanisms. We also hold personal information protection training courses to strengthen employees' security awareness and understanding of the importance of protecting information.

(III) We only allow employees and partners who need to know this information to access your personal information, and we have set up strict access control and monitoring mechanisms for this purpose. We also require all personnel who come into contact with your personal information to fulfill corresponding confidentiality obligations. Failure to fulfill these obligations may result in legal liability or termination of the cooperative relationship.

(IV) We will take all reasonable and feasible measures to ensure that unrelated personal information is not collected.

(V) The Internet is not an absolutely secure environment, and communication methods with other users such as email, instant messaging, social software, or other service software cannot be guaranteed to be completely encrypted. We recommend that you use complex passwords when using such tools and pay attention to protecting your information security.

(VI) The Internet environment is not 100% secure. We will try our best to ensure or guarantee the security of the personal information you send to us. If our physical, technical, or management protection facilities are damaged, resulting in unauthorized access, public disclosure, tampering, or destruction of personal information, causing damage to your legitimate rights and interests, we will assume corresponding legal liabilities.

(VII) Security Incident Response

To deal with risks such as personal information leakage, damage, and loss, we have formulated relevant management systems for information security, clarifying the classification and grading standards for security incidents and security vulnerabilities and the corresponding handling processes. We have also established a dedicated emergency response team for security incidents. In accordance with the requirements of security incident handling specifications, we launch security plans for different security incidents to stop losses, analyze, locate, formulate remedial measures, and unite with relevant departments for tracing and crackdown.

After an unfortunate information security incident occurs, we will inform you in a timely manner in accordance with the requirements of laws and regulations: the basic situation and possible impact of the security incident, the disposal measures we have taken or will take, suggestions for you to independently prevent and reduce risks, and remedial measures for you. We will also promptly inform you of the incident-related situation through website announcements, push notifications, pop-up prompts, SMS, phone calls, or other means. When it is difficult to inform the information subjects one by one, we will take reasonable and effective ways to publish announcements. At the same time, we will also proactively report the handling of information security incidents in accordance with the requirements of regulatory authorities.

Please understand that due to technical limitations and limitations in risk prevention, even if we have tried our best to strengthen security measures, we cannot always guarantee 100% security of information. You need to understand that the systems and communication networks you use to access this software service may sometimes have problems due to circumstances beyond our control.

Please be sure to keep your account, password, and other identity elements safe. When you use the service, we will identify you through your account, password, and other identity elements. Once you leak the aforementioned information, you may suffer losses, which may be detrimental to you. If you find that your account, password, and/or other identity elements are at risk of leakage or have already been leaked, please contact us immediately so that we can take appropriate measures in a timely manner to avoid or reduce related losses.

IV. How to Manage Your Personal Information

(I) Protection

We attach great importance to the management of your personal information and do our best to protect your rights regarding the query, access, modification, deletion, withdrawal of consent authorization, account cancellation, complaints, and reporting of your personal information, as well as setting privacy functions, so that you have the ability to safeguard your privacy and information security.

You can directly delete your account within this software; the specific path is "Settings - Delete Account". Before you delete your account, we will verify your account information. You acknowledge and understand that the act of deleting an account is irreversible. After you delete your account, we will delete or anonymize your personal information, unless otherwise stipulated by laws and regulations.

(II) Complaints and Reporting

If you believe that your personal information rights are at risk of infringement or have been infringed, or if you discover clues regarding the infringement of personal information rights, you can contact us via [Settings] - [Contact Us]. We will verify and respond to your complaints and reports within 15 days.

(III) Changing or Withdrawing Sensitive Permissions Settings

You can turn off location access, photo access, microphone use, camera use, and notification permissions in the device's own operating system.

(IV) Accessing the Privacy Policy

You can view the full content of this Privacy Policy in [Settings] - [Privacy Policy].

(V) Notification of Cessation of Operation

If we cease operations, we will promptly stop the activity of collecting your personal information, notify you of the cessation of operations in the form of individual delivery or announcement, and delete or anonymize your personal information held by us.

(VI) Disclosure and Sharing

We provide a video sharing function. You can share short videos you create in this software with your friends or on social networks. These may be independently cached, copied, or stored by other users or third parties not controlled by us, or saved in the public domain by other users or such third parties. If you disclose or share the short videos created in this software through the above channels, causing your information to leak, we do not assume responsibility. Therefore, we remind you and ask you to carefully consider whether to disclose or share your information through the above channels.

V. Third-Party Services

This software service may sometimes link to social media or other services provided by third parties (including websites or other forms of service). Including:

(1) You may use the "Share" button to share certain content to third-party services, or you may use third-party services to log in to this software service. These functions may collect your information (including your log information) and install COOKIES on your mobile device to operate the above functions normally;

(2) Other circumstances of accessing third-party services. For example, to achieve the purposes stated in this Policy, we may access third-party SDK services and share certain personal information of yours collected by us in accordance with this Policy with such third parties to provide better customer service and user experience.

Such third-party social media or other services are operated by the relevant third parties. Your use of such third-party social media services or other services (including any information you provide to such third parties) is subject to the third party's own terms of service and information protection declarations (rather than this Policy), and you need to read their terms carefully.

We remind you again that the personal information protection measures provided in this "Privacy Policy" only apply to this software and related services. Once you leave this software and related services to browse or use other websites, services, and content resources, we have no ability or obligation to protect the personal information you submit to software or websites outside of this software and related services, regardless of whether you log in, browse, or use the above software or websites based on links or guidance from this software.

VI. Protection of Minors

We suggest: Any minor participating in online activities should obtain the consent of their parent or legal guardian (hereinafter referred to as "Guardian") in advance. We advocate that parents or guardians guide minors under the age of eighteen to use our services. We recommend that minors encourage their parents or guardians to read this "Privacy Policy" and suggest that minors seek the consent and guidance of their parents or guardians before submitting personal information.

According to relevant laws and regulations, if you are a child under the age of 14, before using related products or services, you should follow the usage process to obtain the consent of your parent or legal guardian in advance, and your parent or legal guardian should help you read this Privacy Policy so that you can use the products or services we provide.

If you are the guardian of a child, when you help the child complete the use of the product or service, you should read this Policy carefully and decide whether to agree to this Policy.

If you have any questions or rights requests regarding the protection of personal information of the children under your guardianship, please contact us through the contact information disclosed in this Privacy Policy. We will process and reply to you within a reasonable time.

VII. Notifications and Revisions

To provide you with better services, we will modify the terms of this Policy from time to time according to updates to products or services and relevant requirements of laws and regulations. Such modifications constitute part of this Policy. If such updates cause a substantial reduction or major change in your rights under this Policy, we will notify you through website announcements, push notifications, pop-up prompts, or other means before this Policy takes effect, so that you can understand the latest version of this Privacy Policy in time.

Any of our modifications will put your satisfaction first. We encourage you to review our Privacy Policy every time you use the service.

We will issue announcements related to the service when necessary (including when we suspend a certain service due to system maintenance). You will not be able to cancel these service-related announcements that are not promotional in nature.

VIII. How to Contact Us

We will protect your personal information in accordance with this Policy. If you have any complaints or reports regarding personal information security, or if you have any questions, comments, or suggestions regarding this Policy or your information, please feel free to contact us. Generally, we will accept and process your questions, comments, or suggestions within 15 working days after receiving them and verifying your user identity.

Contact Email: speedgiantai@gmail.com