Reader's (including Reluctant Readers!) Bill of Rights

Read through the following Reader's Bill of Rights. It was created by French author, Bill Pennac and modified by school librarian, Kiera Parrott.

Choose 5 that resonate (that word means stand out) with you.

In the space below the 5 you select, write a complete sentence or two about why that point resonates with you.

Share your thoughts with a partner and discuss/brainstorm if there are any points we need to add or revise.

Use the blank boxes at the bottom to add any amendments to our Reader's Bill of Rights.

1. The right to choose whatever book you want.	9. The right to read anything.
2. The right to skip pages	10. The right to escapism.
3. The right to read anywhere.	11. The right to read non-fiction.

4. The right to not finish.	12. The right to not defend your tastes.
5. The right to read graphic novels and manga.	13. The right to not like a book.
6. The right to read at your own pace.	14. The right to browse.
7. The right to read out loud.	15. The right to read magazines.
8. The right to not read.	16. The right to reread.
Anything else?	Anything else?
