Early Life and Career

1. It should be noted prior that the circus mentioned was discovered to be partially composed of TEs. All TEs are either now liquidated or contained. Due to being raised within the circus Lola, or 'Giggles', did not see anything strange and simply believed them to be "incredibly skilled".
2. During their circus tour, the performers came across an abandoned infant outside their tent. Upon finding her, they thought they should deliver her to the nearest shelter and go on their way. However, they decided that growing up in foster care would not be an ideal way for her to live. Thinking this, they decided to take her with them, naming her Lola.
3. Lola grew up with the performers and saw the entire circus crew as her family. She learned to help around the grounds, practical skills like cooking/cleaning, and practiced tricks of her own in her spare time, but no matter how many times she saw the show she had no idea how they pulled off the tricks that they did.
4. Upon reaching the age of 18, she was offered a real job in the circus, performing her own act as 'Giggles' the clown. The name was decided for her as an infant when they saw that the show always left her in fits of giggles. Hearing this, Lola immediately accepted and began to practice on the road while they traveled to their next show spot. Lola could hardly contain her excitement upon reaching the new spot and immediately got started with helping to unload supplies. The tent was pitched by the end of the night and she was exhausted, quickly falling asleep. Come morning it was time for rehearsals, Lola was given her costume, consisting of a mask and outfit.
5. The day of her performance came and it went extremely well. The audience took kindly to her and loved her act. She enjoyed the thrill of the circus and was happy to be there. Though the performer's abilities were becoming more evident to audience members, rumors began to spread. The UNGOC caught wind of these rumors and began to investigate, resulting in the detainment of the entire circus crew.
6. Upon investigation it was found that 4 performers within the crew were anomalous in nature and were detained. Others were amnesticated and returned to their hometowns. Lola however could not be returned as she lived with the circus. It was decided she would in-turn be trained within the UNGOC to assist in menial tasks, later being trusted with more.

7. Lola continued working through the ranks, obtaining the codename 'Giggles' for her circus-based background. Eventually she ended up working in PSYCHE as an Attache, assisting in creating policies and procedures for bettering relations. Upon receiving great praise for her efforts she was promoted to LT. Upon receiving the role she took on the responsibilities of an Ambassador in an effort to stabilize relations with other GOIs.
8. Throughout her duration working with the UNGOC she kept her original mask she was provided with, though through the years it's received edits, renditions and has been worn down. This does not stop her wearing the mask as both a way to remember her make-shift family, and her introduction to the paranormal world.
