

I AM Laughing Boots

I have a joke for everything.

I am a silly blast. I giggle.

Nothing can ever make me care, or stress.

I do unexpected things all the time. I stop when I usually want to go fast. I turn right when I usually turn left. This makes people crazy, and it's so fun. I'm not old Shannon at all.

I make entirely different choices, because nothing matters at all, except having fun.

When I work, I go into deep relaxation river mode!

This is the funnest, because I can be myself completely, and I am just in the gondola with my fun task going up the mountain, there is no choice and I have no control, I can just relax and work.

I don't care a fig what people think, or what the outcome is, I just want to do my fun work and ding ding ding on breaks run around and exercise and jump and play and giggle. Ding ding ding!!

I am always laughing, at everything. Get used to it. Ha ha ha ha!

I am just relaxing and watching the river of joy as all my cells drink it up, drink it up. I don't worry about what's going to happen, I don't care because that's what Mommy and Daddy do, They run everything.

And every day, I come to them, and we are quiet, and they love and hug me.
