

HOW TO INTRODUCE MICKEY BELL (READ THIS FIRST)

Before you read the intro:

- Read it slowly
- Smile
- Don't rush
- Pause after the punch lines
- And most importantly: don't add your own commentary

The intro is designed to do the work for you 😊

STAGE INTRO SCRIPT

“Alright everyone, tonight we are really excited about this.

Our guest tonight is a clean comedian — which means you can relax...
no earmuffs, no explanations to the kids, and nobody storming out offended halfway through.

He performs over 250 shows a year, so if you think you travel a lot... he's basically on a first-name basis with hotel front desks and waffle house cooks.

His comedy has been seen by millions of people online, and he's known for doing something rare — making people laugh hard while also saying things that feel a little too real.

He doesn't do comedy for people who have it all together... He does comedy for people who've been through some stuff.

So if life hasn't gone exactly the way you planned, if you've ever had to start over, or if you just want to laugh without worrying about what's coming next...

You're in the right place.

Please give a big, warm welcome to Mickey Bell!”
