GLITCH PRODUCTIONS

DATE: 4/9/2026 WRITTEN AT 1613

CONTEXT:

- I. We, the Youtube Troll Police, are a fictional group and has nothing to do with any individuals who commit real-life crimes, if anything happens we will find out and contact real-life law enforcement to take action. Thank you for reading this

1. GOOSEWORX

- II. Gooseworx, known by his real name Cooper Smith Goodwin, is the creator behind The Amazing Digital Circus, a “indie”-animation series animated and published by Glitch Productions. Ltd, which was first uploaded on October 23, 2023. After its release, it became so popular that it became GLITCH’s highest grossing animation series.

This also helped boost Cooper's exposure to the world, however it came to know that dark secrets are hidden behind good actions.

Figure 1.1: Gooseworx complaining about parents getting mad at their children for looking at porn, not realizing that it would actually affect them at their earlier stages of life to become sexually addicted once they grow up. Promoting sexuality to a child is also considered to be a pedophilic action.[2]

Figure 2: Gooseworx was also exposed for sending a minor suggestive art, and he knew it was a minor.

This has been well known for a long time but fearing that if Gooseworx gets exposed, GLITCH would lose a lot of money and their empire as we know it will cease to exist.

Gooseworx has been hiding this ever since 2019 when he sent softcore pornography to one of his old friends by the alias of "Natekitty", who was apparently under 18 years of age when Gooseworx had sent the unpleasantly inappropriate attachment to him. Since Gooseworx was approximately 26 years of age during the time he sent the attachment, it will obviously be illegal under international jurisdiction.

Not only did we tackle about the two previous screenshots but we have to consider the fact that Gooseworx unironically defended Shadman, who was some artist on Youtube (got terminated for some controversial stuff) that got exposed for making Lolicon and/or Fictional Child Pornographic art of people. So that goes to show that Cooper aka Gooseworx is also doing everything he can to save his own reputation and a theory has been rising where GLITCH is helping gooseworx from getting exposed due to the immense popularity of TADC.[3]

Another thing is that Glitch Productions has been known to be a cash cow, the fact that it was meant to be kept as an “indie animation” studio became the same thing as these other companies were. And while this is not always a huge problem since most indie animators don't get funding for it, you can see that someone like Viziepop making a shit ton of money despite being “indie” beats the purpose, so either Glitch did want to keep the promise of being “indie” and failed to do so, or they just straight up lied so they can try to maneuver attention from a specific demographic audience of around late teens-early adults, left leaning mostly, neurodivergent, and late millennial-gen z.

Figure 4: Gooseworx, under the username of @goopswax on Tumblr, expressed his complaints about people who can't tell the difference between “fictional and real life” on a post mentioning underage fictional characters.[4]

In addition, another archived screenshot of Gooseworx on his alternative Tumblr account by the username “@goopswax” has been forwarded to an anonymous Discord user. The figure above highlights his Tumblr quote complaining about people who can't tell the difference between “fictional and real life” on a post consisting of images and/or mentions of underage fictional characters, which is still obviously considered pedophilia and possibly illegal, regardless of the point you're trying to bring up here, since it still involves sexual attraction to characters under 18 years of age. Consider the fact why he kept his repulsive shit under the grave for half a decade while getting to run a 9-episode kids-themed “indie” animation with an underage-majority fanbase.[4]

Not only did he state his complaint about it, but also the fact that he reblogged a sexually suggestive artwork of Ryuko Matoi, a 17 year old Anime character, who is still obviously considered underage. There are still a handful of his archived reblogs about it out there on Tumblr and they are redirected on reference link no. 4. [5]

Gooseworx also defended Xplosi, a groomer who made sexual jokes towards a 13 year old while they were 17 years of age. gooseworx seemed to defend this. Link to thread:
