Jack Savage: Hats Made The Old Fashioned Way

- Hats are Inspired by a love of nature and a connection to the Spirit
- create unique, one-of-a-kind pieces that tell a story and speak to the Wild within
- finest materials and traditional hatmaking tools and techniques
- seeks quality work of lasting value that will stand the test of time and express the unique spirit of the person who wears it

"It's amazing how a hat can transform a person's look and create an aura of style, intrigue, and mystery. I make hats that tell a story, not just of themselves but of the one who wears them, and while each story is unique the message remains the same. My hats whisper, "Look at me, I'm different..", and shout, "I am Wild. I am Free!" - Jack Savage

SL: The Untamed Nature of Your Hats

Howdy Jack,

Bringing life into some dead and cold object is always a Kind of Art. I like the way you bring a simple felt to life, infusing it with its own unique story and style, like your Cowboybaby Hat.

This leads me to your website, where the hats you create, embody the spirit of nature and the untamed wilderness.

In my quest to stay connected, I looked for a newsletter to subscribe to but found that you don't currently have one. Many businesses use one to forge a connection with their customers and ignite their spirits.

Imagine the impact of a newsletter that captures their imagination and attention.

While I am very passionate about supporting and enhancing your business, I let my creativity flow and wrote an example of a welcome email below which create this curiosity and bond.

I'm curious to know your thoughts on the idea of a welcome email.

May your spirit be as free as the wind,
Lucas

PS: Whisper through the leaves if you're eager for a nature-inspired rewrite!

Welcome Email:
