

There are currently three characters for the production. One is a main character, one is recurring, and another is a one time character.

Note: All voice actors are expected have nearly perfect mics for recording. Noise removal can be applied by me or the sound department, but your files must be clean of plosives. Actors have to be emotional (unless stated otherwise), enunciate, and the biggest rule is to do your best. Oh, and fun. Can't forget fun!

——— Doctor Stephen E. Colbert, DEA: Titular character for the show. His voice stands out, but I would say it remains around the medium range. Refer to this video for an example of his voice (starting around 0:10). The closer it can be imitated, the better the VA's chances are. This VA is expected to be dedicated to the project along with the things mentioned in the note.

Audition line 01: Now folks, you know that I have never been a fan of Princess Celestia. She has governed for more than a thousand years, which means she is probably going to be up for reelection sometime soon. Now, she arose controversy within a certain minority of ponies in Canterlot for the strings that she pulled for Rarity, a fashion designer in Ponyville. Apparently, Rarity was allowed to stay in the Canterlot Castle, free of charge, because she was friends with Twilight Sparkle, who is Celestia's student. She caught fire from the right from the National Canterlot Freedom Club and it's president. NCFC founder and switched stork baby Questionable Actions had these words to say.

Audition line 02: For too long, Celestia has been abusing her power by allowing someone to stay in the sixty five room castle with twin spires, 24 hour security, a royal pool, garden, and around the clock chefs. How dare you, Princess Hand Out!

Questionable Actions: A boring politician with a very drawling voice. He only has one line, but it's decently long. He might come back if there is future installments. See this video for reference at 1:39.

Lines: We believe... uh... that Princess Celestia should not be giving out her castle to merely anypony. There are thousands of years of tradition inside of that castle. Uh... Celebrities have worked their flank to the bone in order to get into the castle, while others, such as Rarity, were able to go in simply because she had connections. We believe that... uh... You have to work in order to be given such an honor.

Clean Spring: An environmentalist pegasus. Female, maybe around mid twenties. Medium range.

Line 01: (Formal) So I decided to look into why some clouds were dirtier than others. I visited Cloudsdale's Rainbow Factory, the Cloud Factory, and the many reservoirs that store water for the cloud machines in order to figure this out. My book explains some possibilities in detail, one of which involves a very rich Earth Pony that happened to buy up most of the Cloud Factory.

Line 02: (slightly smug) I'd rather have a Ph.D and be poor, than be a high school drop out and be rich.

~~Best of luck to all voice actors. Do take note that if you are not recruited for the first episode, future episodes will have different guests and politicians. So don't give up!~~

~~Send all auditions as a .wav or .mp3 to abagofvicodin@gmail.com. Alternatively, you can add me on Skype if you prefer live call auditions at a_bag_of_Vicodin.~~

Deadline: 2-10-2013

Deadline has been met. Thank you for all of your auditions.