Tennessee Youth Symphony does not discriminate in awarding assistance based on race, gender, religious affiliation, or any other factor other than financial need. Applicant agrees to request only the percentage of scholarship that is needed. All additional costs, such as transportation, maintenance or rental of instruments, concert attire, supplies, etc. are the sole responsibility of the student and guardian.

Students must follow all rules and guidelines in the TYS handbook and are expected to maintain the mandatory attendance of rehearsals and performances as outlined in the handbook. Should the need arise, guardian agrees to provide documentation or proof of need if requested by TYS for our tax purposes or our need for documenting non-profit status. TYS has no obligation to provide scholarships on an ongoing basis and the number and amount of scholarships depend on the number of applicants and extent of funds available each year.

Any tax ramifications as a result of this scholarship are the sole responsibility of the guardian. We encourage anyone with concerns regarding tax ramifications to consult with their tax/financial advisor. Student and guardian agree that Tennessee Youth Symphony will not be liable or held responsible for any unintentional oversight in the administering of tuition assistance.
