Diagnosis

The patient failed the memory test but has good vision. The patient is slightly overweight by about a pound, but appears to be recovering from obesity. The patient also did very well on the physical tasks and has a great diet; however, the patient shows symptoms of hypothyroidism with a lack of iodine in their diet, which may explain the previous obesity and the memory loss.

Treatment

I'd recommend the patient to add more iodine into their diet to help with the hypothyroidism with the use of dairy or meats such as chicken.
