

THE TWITCH CHAT IMPROV SHOW FULL PARTICIPANT LIST

THE TWITCH CHAT IMPROV SHOW FULL PARTICIPANT LIST

HOW IT WORKS

2 Participants at a time join and go on 'The Stage'.

One will be lead, the other will be Twitch Chat.

The lead is the one who primarily carries the scene and reacts to whatever Twitch Chat says. The person playing Twitch Chat gets their lines fed to them by Twitch Chat.

The pair will be given a prompt by the hosts, and have 5 minutes on the clock to perform this to the best of their ability.

Once the scene ends, the roles swap around and they go again until both players have had a turn as Lead or Twitch Chat.

Both the lead and the person playing Twitch Chat can improvise as they wish. The Chat Player does not need to solely read Twitch Chat lines, but can respond to the Lead or adapt a line to help the flow of the scene.

The role of Twitch Chat (The audience) is to fill the chat with potential lines. Short one liners, longer messages, one word sentences, meme references. You could react according to the scene, or you can say something entirely different.

And if you're needing help, or perhaps need time to think of a response but want something to say, you can use !line

!line will generate a random response largely created by our wonderful participants and chat that will be posted by the EliasJDogger Bot.

(Please be careful that !line might break if used simultaneously by two different chatters, resulting in $response. I'll try and delete these responses if they're generated. Don't 100% rely on !line just in case, make sure to add your own typed responses too!)

Obviously standard chat rules apply, don't be a dick, avoid mass spam of the same responses. Anyone caught being egregiously rule-breaking will be timed out or banned at moderator discretion.

This is a fun, silly, non-competitive event! A lot of us have had minimal to zero experience with improv, so please make sure you give a ton of love to everyone involved who took time out to participate!

NOTE: Certain participants have opted to take part in both dates.
