

Practice: The Joy of Giving

Objective of the Practice: To support our fellow beings in dire need. To make one understand ' the joy of giving'

The Practice: Charity begins at home- The Faculty of our college has come forward voluntarily to support the non-teaching staff, which is at doldrums during the Covid- 19 Pandemic by providing rice, groceries and other needy things. Sanitizers and masks are distributed to both teaching and non-teaching staff. College has strictly observed the saying- "Service to Humanity is Service to God" and created a secured feeling in an uncertain environment.

Evidence of Success

The volunteers of our college served food packets to the frontline warriors in the Government Hospital. As a part of this programme, 700 food packets were distributed everyday for a month without any interruption.

Problems Encountered and Resources Required

Some of the volunteers got affected in doing this service but they continued their service with the same spirit. Obstacles faced if any and strategy adopted to overcome them: Fortunately no obstacles are found Impact of the Practice Maintenance of the family became better Got the feeling that humanity is still there in the world Healthy atmosphere was created.
