

EXT. Fade in. Bustling city train station night

Young adult Jay (mid 20s) boards a train, pulls his headphones on and taps his phone

Phone message begins to play, strong female voice.

INT. Inside Train Car at night

Mom phone message VO: Sorry I missed you, I was thinking about you.

Close up on Jay writing text message to DAD on cell phone.

Mom phone message VO: You don't really need a reason to call someone you love right?

INT. Suburban kitchen at night

Mom phone message VO: Be grateful for the one's you love, thank them for their love and mean it when you say thank you!

Text appear's on DAD's cell phone.

'Hey dad Thanks for everything. I love you'

DAD who's face is serious, even somber, looks at his phone and smiles

INT. Diner in the morning

Mom phone message VO: We think people know we're grateful for them, but we've got to show them.

DAD somberly eats lunch, watching a cnn news report of a hurricane he notices his waitress serving two elderly veterans.

Whispers something to waitress

Waitress drops off check in big letters it says "THANK YOU FOR YOUR SERVICE"

EXT. City Street in the morning

Mom phone message VO: even small, simple things

Veteran sees a flower shop

INT. Modest home mid day

Mom phone message VO: and don't forget God's hand in your life, He's there for you.

Veteran smiles as he gives his wife flowers.
Pulls one out and puts it behind her hair.

EXT. City neighborhood during the day

Wife with flower in her hair passes Jay and the two smile brightly at each other.

Mom phone message VO: You've got to see the good in the world. I thank God for you everyday son.

Jay stops at the walkway to a house. He pushes a button on his phone and the message begins again.

Mom phone message VO: Sorry I missed you, I was thinking about you.

Jay walks up the drive into the home to console his bereaving father after the death of his mother.

INT. Suburban kitchen during the day

The two embrace as we show a wide shot of the kitchen to show the aftermath of a wake, with flowers and a blown up picture of the Family together. Jay, Mom and Dad.

Fade out.