Admittedly this one is a bit basic, compared to the other ones I made at least. Then again I don't know anything about Shrek and "Internet Sensation" doesn't have much to work with so I kinda had to be basic.

Kirby, unlike Shrek, is something I actually know about. I kinda just used Kirby's game over sprite from Kirby's Adventure for this one. As for the X itself due to Kirbys childish nature I thought it'd be fitting for me to lazily draw the X rather than trying to be perfect.

SALES GONE DOWN THE [Drain] [DRAIN]

Now originally I was just gonna steal DR2's Death Portrait for Gundham and call it a day. The problem is, how was I supposed to do that? The X in Gundham's DR2 portrait didn't seem like it had any real origin. At first I thought it was the same X as the twitter X but that got proven wrong so I was confused. Was left with no choice but to recreate it myself (Not sure I did the best job at that but it's the best I got :D)

Same as Gundhams death portrait but it's intended to show that he is too injured to show up to the class trial rather than showing that he is dead. Funnily enough this fangan has caused some sort of mandela effect that made me think that when Nekomaru couldn't show up to the class trial in 2-3 that there was a special death portrait that was the same as normal but the X was blue instead of red to indicate that though Nekomaru is still alive he's too injured to show up to the class trial. Turns out that wasn't the case and in that trial there was just nothing in where Nekomaru would normally be. That being said, I still kinda head canon that was done for Gundham in the 2nd trial of Ultimate Meme Team. I mean in both the pre trial photo icons and the spot where Gundham would normally be in the trial areas it shows a blue x in the 2nd trial instead of the red x that the dead people receive so maybe Apples the one who came up with the idea. Regardless, I still think it's fitting.
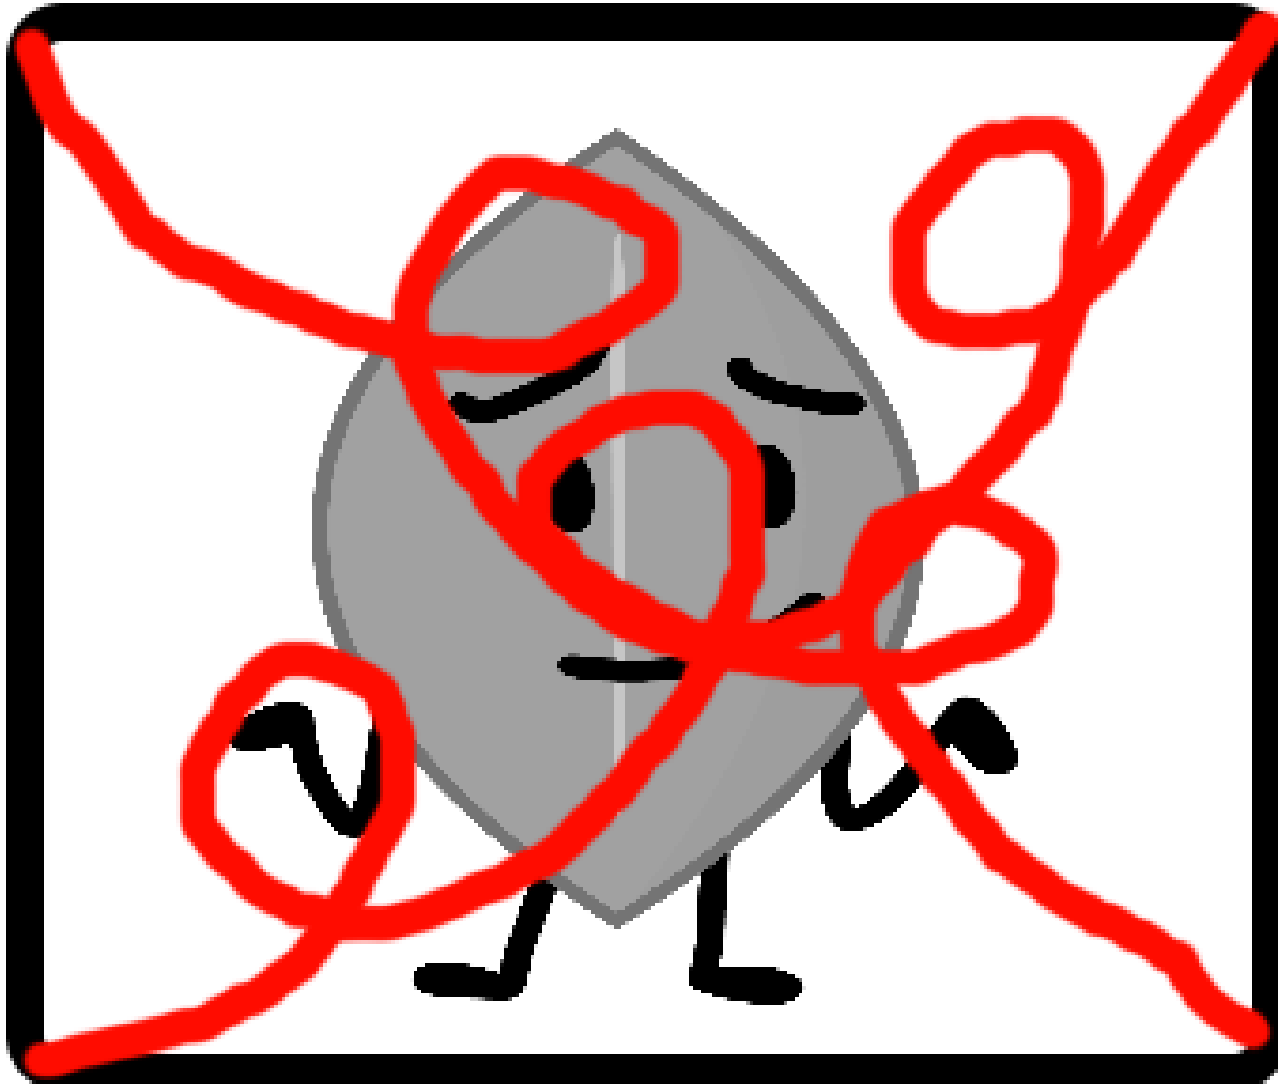

Yeah so I kinda just used 2 clarinet icons from google images, painted them red, and crossed them out on Squidward. I mean if Teruteru can get away with having a fork and knife for his death portrait Squidward can get away with having 2 clarinets for him.

At first I was going to do something similar to Korekiyo's death portrait where it wasn't an X at all, just some weird astetchic except more so as a nuclear explosion as a reference to his talent. Except explosions are hard to draw when you only have one color to work with, I originally intended to go with the good old mushroom cloud explosion, except not possible. So I went with a generic nuclear symbol, it's the next best thing.

Update: So 2 people died in Chapter 4 time to upload more death portraits

Must have been the wind.

Yeah I don't really know anything about BFDI so I mostly based this off of the Ultimate Thief Talent. I imagine going for a windy effect because 1. Leafy is a leaf who is greatly affected by the wind 2. Leafys is a thief who are usually known for being as quick as wind.

HAH LOSER

Yeah so for this one I kinda just gave him the L, as in he lost the game. I was considering giving him an upside down L but I feel like just a plain L would be more insulting to Waluigi as it's out right calling him a loser.