

Corvids and Cauldrons

2023 Summer Reading Challenge

June 1st - August 1st

Welcome! This year Corvids and Cauldrons put together an exciting reading challenge for polytheist, pagan, and witchy readers. All ages are welcome to participate with parental supervision. We have a challenge for little ones, medium ones and teen to adult challenges.

Rewards

25 Challenges: At least one Surprise Service, Handmade or Downloadable Item from our talented Corvids and Cauldrons Artisans.

Examples: Bookmarks, crocheted animals, one card tarot reading, handmade washclothes, altar candles, incense blends, downloadable albums of music, free class passes etc..

20 Challenges or Children's Bingo Card Completed: Downloadable storytelling and literacy Year With The Gods conference package for folks over fifteen. Physical or e-books for children under fifteen.

15 Challenges: We donate $2 to Young Black and Lit (up to $200).

10 Challenges: Printable Certificate of Accomplishment & Your Praises Shouted Out on Discord (unless public praise isn't your vibe then you can just know Uncle Vyv is impressed in her heart with you)

To receive your rewards you will need to email vyviane@landseaskytravel.com by August 3rd with how many challenges you have completed. Include your home address if you want to be eligible for a handmade gift. If there are multiple people in your household eligible for physical rewards, please group them together so we can mail everything at once.

Please let us know if you have anything you would like to donate as rewards. We are looking for stories, prayer cards, worksheets, coloring pages, bookmarks, discount codes to small pagan businesses, or similar items.

Rules

As with all Land, Sea, Sky Travel sponsored events, we are operating under our Hospitality Policy.

As we all have lived through the past few years, we know that times are hard, and situations are rapidly changing. We will do our best to send your promised rewards, even for overseas readers, but if anything changes beyond our control we may need to adjust as we go along. Physical rewards are limited in number and available on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The terms "reading" and "books" in the prompts are meant to be broad, inclusive, and accessible. It includes physical books, e-books, audiobooks, graphic novels, oral storytelling, text-to-speech programs, blogs, articles, comics, short stories, children's books, or any other accessible media. If you need suggestions or help finding reading material, you can check out our suggested resources. You can also ask directly on our Discord server, where folks are happy to help you find free, accessible, and ethical reading materials.

For people under 18 joining our challenge, a parent or guardian must be a member of our Discord. We leave it to the parents and guardians to decide which resources are appropriate, and whether Discord membership for older teens is appropriate.

Our children's program is primarily meant to be fun, inclusive and spark a love of reading for the children in our community. You and your child may adjust or interpret the challenges to fit your reader's age, skill level, and sense of what's fun.

The Littlest Ones may just need to "read" aka flip through or just pick out a book at the library that they feel matches the picture on the Bingo sheet.

You can have your child read 5, 15, or 30 minutes or even read an entire book for each prompt.

They can do an activity for each prompt such as make a snack inspired from the book or make a craft associated with a book or story.

They can take a picture or draw a picture of each activity they complete around the prompt if they want to do activities instead.

While your books can be Pagan or pagan-adjacent they do not have to be.

You may also adjust the topics to fit your family's comfort.
