

PLC Decides Toned Legs Competition

When Kylie Jenner decided to put her stable through a rigorous leg workout, her initial plan was to get the Barbies in shape and help them with their kicks. She never imagined that it would get the attention it received and having her stable compete in a toned legs contest brought controversy when the two judges came up with different winners.

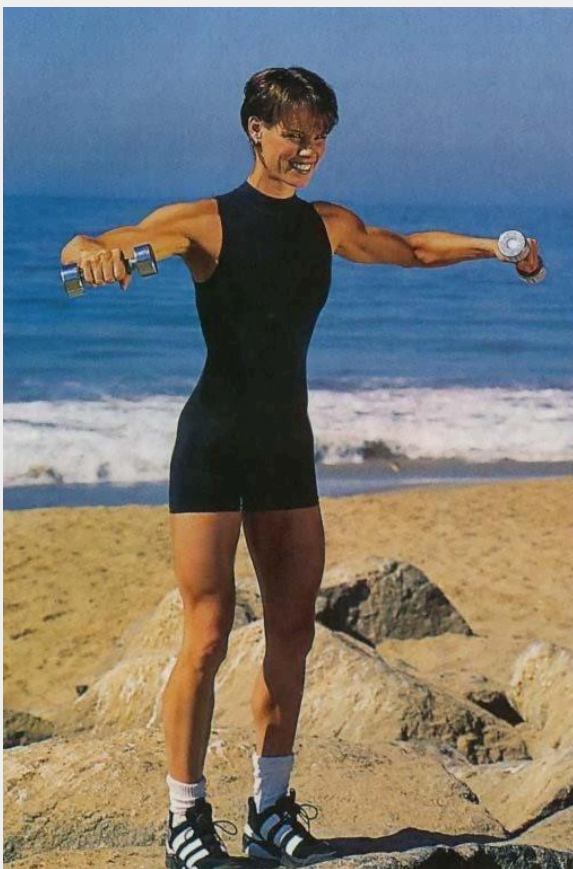

Jessica Simpson from Pyes Gorgeous Grapplers was the first to judge. Jessica was an easy choice considering that she has been known to have the shapeliest legs since her breakout out role as Daisy in the Dukes of Hazzard remake. She also is known for having the strongest legs in the UCC, a title she is proud to hold despite claims to the contrary from her teammate Pamela Anderson.

Jessica went over the roster and meticulously judged the Barbies legs on a number of criteria. When finished, she came up with the two top finalists and 4 runners up. Hailee Steinfeld, Kendall Jenner, Taylor Swift, and Shailene Woodley made the final cut while Nina Dobrev and Julianne Hough took the two top spots.

After another round of judging, Jessica felt that Julianne's legs best fit her criteria. Jessica posted a photo of Julianne walking away showing how substantial and muscular Julianne's thighs and calves really are. Jessica shuddered to think of being trapped between those legs, let alone having them blast her with a high kick to her head; a middle kick to her ribs, waist or butt; or a kick that takes her legs out from under her.

Jessica was impressed with how Julianne showed how sexy strong legs can be. Jessica also pointed out how muscular and well-defined Julianne's calves are even though they are relaxed without the benefit of high heels or being flexed.

To Jessica, Julianne was a clear choice but Raccoon's fitness and female body expert Alexandra Paul did her own extensive evaluation and while many of their top choices were the same, Alexandra came up with a different winner. Alexandra looked over the shapely leg photos in TKO but also did a deep dive even going to the dark web to find as many angles and positions as possible before she came to a final three.

After careful deliberation, Alexandra chose Nina Dobrev, Kendall Jenner, and Vanessa Hudgens. While her sentimental favorite, Zendaya Coleman made honorable mention, Alexandra compared Zendaya's long legs to Gina Lee Nolin and felt that while she found Zendaya's legs very desirable, she was looking for something else.

Alexandra also felt that Kendall's legs were too similar to Zendaya leaving her to decide between Nina and Vanessa. Alexandra was impressed with Nina's fitness and strength training routine but just she couldn't help going back to Vanessa. She even felt that Vanessa's calves and thighs would give Jessica Simpson a run for her money. With such high praise, Alexandra felt that Vanessa was the winner, a choice that even her stable leader Chyler Leigh agreed upon.

Both Julianne and Vanessa had fun claiming the title but deep down both felt that they had the nicer legs and in private they felt slighted. With no clear winner their competitive sides started taking over and what started out as a friendly debate quickly became personal and they both agreed that some sort of competition was needed to settle the dispute.

Vanessa felt that having a competition to see who could squat the most 5 times was needed to settle their beef while Julianne felt a best 2 out of 3 Indian Leg Wrestling competition was needed.

Kylie was growing weary of their constant bickering and decided to put pictures of their legs online and settle this once and for all. She had the pics ready and was going to post them on Reddit when Dove Cameron came into her office with breaking news of a new stable.

Dove and Kylie quickly looked up the new stable and found out that Proud Legs Corporation was located in Germany and that Taylor Hill was their stable manager. Both looked at each other and on queue and both blurted out that PLC could break the tie between Julianne and Vanessa. Who could be better than a Stable full of fighters with incredibly sexy legs.

Kylie had met Taylor but remembered that her big sister Kendall had worked the runway with Taylor and both had built a solid friendship. She also remembered that Taylor Swift had mentioned that she vacationed with Miss Hill in the past so she decided to let them contact her and see if she was willing to break the tie.

After a quick call from Kendall and Taylor, The Proud Legs Corporation Stable Leader gladly agreed to look over and give her expert opinion. Taylor wasted no time and evaluated all of the Barbies legs in the two most important categories. While Alexandra put a lot of importance on physical strength and muscle definition, Taylor concentrated on the overall shape of the legs and being a famous Supermodel, her second category involved the overall length.

It was a close contest with Taylor Swift, Dove Cameron, and Selena Gomez getting perfect scores for the shapeliest legs while Hailee Steinfeld scored the highest marks for the all important length. Taylor sent the results to Kylie with a brief statement. "First of all I did not vote in favor of Taylor Swift because of her lovely first name - let's get that straight! She has a lovely leg package over all. That's why she deserves the crown next to Hailee Steinfeld, who really surprised me in a positive way with her legs. They are lovely!"

	Shape	Length	Total
Taylor Swift	10	8	18
Hailee Steinfeld	9	9	18
Julianne Hough	9	8	17
Nina Dobrev	9	8	17
Dove Cameron	10	7	17
Olivia Holt	9	8	17
Selena Gomez	10	6	16
Kylie Jenner	8	8	16
Kendall Jenner	7	8	15
Ashley Tisdale	7	8	15
Miley Cyrus	8	7	15
Vanessa Hudgens	8	6	14
Bella Thorne	6	8	14
Cara Delevingne	7	7	14
Lucy Hale	9	5	14
Madison Beer	6	8	14
Shailene Woodley	7	7	14
Katy Perry	6	7	13
Zendaya Coleman	6	7	13
Zara Larsson	6	6	12

Kylie sincerely thanked Taylor and the two had a friendly discussion about life in the UCC and her current roster. Kylie clearly remembers being impressed with Taylor’s perfect 7-0 UMMA record. She also remembered that Julie Scharf was the talk of the League and a Joe Rogan favorite winning 16 of her first 17 fights. After their friendly conversation Kylie was more than impressed and expects to see Proud Legs Corporation being competitive from the start.

Taylor even hinted that she would put her legs up against Taylor Swift’s in a battle of the Taylor’s. Kylie was intrigued by the competition and is considering turning it into a friendly charitable event. Upon hearing the challenge, Taylor Swift immediately accepted and will gladly put her legs up against the PLC Stable Leader saying that “Only one Taylor has her legs insured for $40 Million. I look forward to putting another notch on my garter”. Stay tuned to the UCC Forum for a possible date.

Kylie was now left with the daunting task of choosing a Toned Legs Champion. With 3 different winners she would have to crunch some numbers between the 3 judges and average out their scores. She started a spreadsheet using data on all of the 20 Barbies and placed them in order of finish. She felt that winning was important so she gave Julianne, Vanessa, and Taylor an extra bonus. After entering all of the data it was a close competition with a surprise winner.

Kylie’s plan was to post the results knowing full well that she would be getting an earful from the losers. She decided to only post the top 5 seeing that not placing could be a big blow to the ego.

Dove Cameron, Selena Gomez, Shailene Woodley, and Hailee Steinfeld all tied for 6th place, falling 1 point behind 5th place winner and Alexandra’s choice Vanessa Hudgens. Kendall Jenner was 4th while Proud Legs Corporation winner Taylor Swift was 3rd leaving the title to either Nina Dobrev or Julianne Hough.

Kylie ran the numbers again and came up with the same results. She knew this was a much better scenario seeing that Julianne and Nina have been best friends for many years and win or lose both would be fully supportive of the other.

She was more concerned with Vanessa seeing that she already crowned herself the winner and was sure she would be hearing all about it. It would also be a big blow to Taylor Swift seeing that she had yet to come up short in any legs contest but Kylie felt confident in the judges choice.

Despite not being the favorite of any of the judges, Nina Dobrev was consistent and placed a solid second in all of their eyes and in Kylie’s mind was more than deserving of the title. She is sure that this will cause a stir but it’s official and the winner is Nina Dobrev.

Kylie would like to thank all of the judges for taking time out of their busy schedules. She is very appreciative and will gladly offer her services if another stable is in need of a judge.

Toned Legs Winner - Nina Dobrev

