

Chapter One

“Hello, Goodbye, and Peace”

Obnoxious – annoying, nasty, unpleasant

Convincing – able to make someone think something

1. What is Lola’s favorite sport?
2. Why is it hard when her friend Josh doesn’t come to school?
3. What do you usually do when you try to convince your family to do or buy something?
4. If a person is popular, how should they treat others?

Chapter Two

“The Orange Smoothies”

Tia – aunt

Buenos Dias – Good Morning

Café con leche – coffee with milk

1. What does Lola’s room look like?
2. Why does Lola not like her full name?
3. Are you a creative person like Lola and her dad? Would you want to paint your own room and closet?

Chapter Three

“Five-Minute Warning Bell”

Como estas – How are you?

Muy bien, gracias – Very well, thank you.

1. Why do Lola’s classmates get mad at her?
2. How are Alyssa and Lola different?
3. Would you rather play on an all girls team? Or a mixed boy-girl team?
4. If you don’t watch soccer, you may not know what a “slide-tackle” looks like. Here is a video of Olympic gold medalist Shannon Boxx explaining how to do one safely and correctly. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=henqArhaEWk>

Chapter Four

“Mean Lola Levine”

1. What is Lola’s punishment for hurting Juan?
2. Why is Ben quieter than usual?
3. Do you think Lola’s punishment was fair? Do you think it is helping her learn a lesson?
4. Ben defines “liking” as wanting to share paint and pick for the same teams. How would you describe what it means to “like” someone?

Chapter 5

“Pencil Power”

1. Who is George?
2. What is Lola’s plan to get her recess back?
3. Do you ever try writing notes to solve your problems?
4. Lola’s family is very understanding of Ben’s “sensitive stomach.” Is there anyone in your family with a special need that everyone needs to respect?

Chapter 6

“Meow Miao!”

te quiero mucho – I love you a lot

gracias – thank you

bueno – ok/ good

Humane – opposite of cruel. The Humane Society offers care to orphan cats and dogs

1. Who stand up for Lola on the soccer field?
2. Why is Lola finally going to get a cat?
3. Have you ever had to stand up for a friend before? What would you do if someone was being unkind to a friend in front of you?

Chapter 7

“Wriggly Science”

1. What was Ms. Garcia’s big surprise?
2. How does Lola get to know Mira?
3. Does this sound like a cool science lesson to you? Or too gross?

Chapter 8

“Hello, Goodbye, and Peace”

1. Why do you think Lola’s mom doesn’t like the word “enemy?” What does Lola mean when she says that she’s starting to see why.

Again, if you enjoy reading to your scholar, go for it. If your scholar would rather read it to herself, great. This is for anyone who needs the support. For instance, if this is just a smidge above your scholar's independent reading level, she can follow along in the book while listening to me read it. This is called "shared reading" and is great for building fluency.

To respect the author's work, please don't share this link with people outside the book club who have not purchased the book.

Happy Reading and Listening!
