

Questions to ask College Disability Services AND Questions they may ask you!

Questions to ask the disability services coordinator: • What documentation must I bring to identify myself as a student with a disability entitled to reasonable accommodation? How current must it be? • How is confidential information handled? • Who decides if I qualify for accommodations? • Are the accommodations I need available? • How much advance notice is needed to have textbooks recorded on tape? • Is tutoring provided? What is the cost? • Are waivers or substitutions granted to students who, because of their disabilities, cannot pass certain courses, such as foreign languages or statistics? • Are basic skills or study skills courses offered? Are they available for credit? Can they be counted as hours toward full-time status? What is the cost? • Is there a support group on campus for students with disabilities? • Is there an adaptive technology lab on campus? • Will I have both a disabilities advisor and a regular academic advisor? If so, will the two work with each other?	YOUR RESPONSES:
Questions the disability services coordinator may ask you: The disability services coordinator may ask you these questions. Write down your answers and review them with your IEP manager, a teacher, school counselor or parent. • What is your disability? • How does it interfere with your learning? • How comfortable are you in discussing your disability with teachers? • What are your academic strengths? • In what areas do you have difficulty or problems? • What accommodations will you need? • What kind of support services have you used in high school? • What was most helpful? • Are you willing to work harder than other students to be successful in college? • How do you manage your time?	YOUR RESPONSES: