1. Web Templates, Website Templates Introduction:

(1). Difficulties and bottlenecks that students often encounter in designing websites:

Generally, after learning web page production, students will encounter a bottleneck, that is, the website designed is too monotonous, without texture and creative beauty

If you use too much javascript or java applet dynamic effects, not only will you have no design taste, but it will also cause the web page to be very confusing

Many people learn a lot of web skills, but in the end, they find that these skills are not very helpful for web pages

Because the web page you make isIt's not good-looking

Therefore, in fact, the key to the success of the whole web design is actually in the "aesthetic arrangement and texture design"

But how can students create a creative, design-oriented website?

==> This requires a long learning process of art training

Is there a quick way to do it right away?

==> Yes, you can use "web template, website template" to solve this problem

This is shown in the figure below

(2). What is a 'web template, website template':

These templates are created by many masters who love design, and all of these creations have one characteristic, that is, they are beautiful. So even people who don't know how to design web can easily apply templates and make a beautiful web page. Some of these websites are html websites, and some are flash website boilerplates

The more professional the website design, the more you need to spend money on it, such as:

These websites that people can download for free are all located in 'Chinese mainland, Korea, Europe and the United States', and there are very few such websites in Taiwan. But Korea, China's web template websites, many are graphic templates in psd format. It is not convenient to use, and there is a lot of subsequent processing.

On the contrary, most of the web template websites in Europe and the United States provide processed htm websites, which can be directly applied to Dreamweaver, and many of the designs are fresh and beautiful.

You don't need to worry about English, in fact, there are many treasures in these European and American web template websites.

Don't be afraid to visit the English websites of these templates. As long as it can download.

(5). Dump the information of the website: (If you don't dump it, next time, you have to add a new website, it's too troublesome)

Result: An additional 'Site Definition' file was created

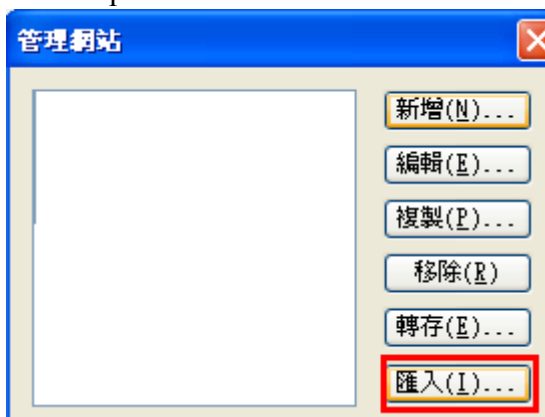

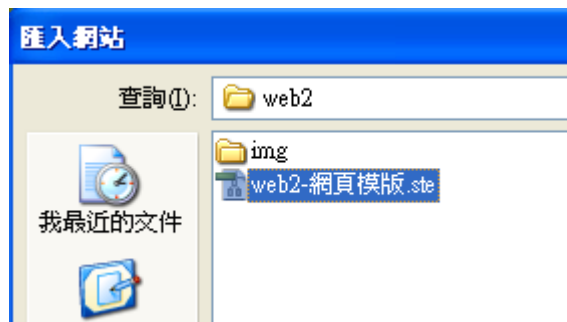

The next time you turn it on, you can open it and you can reopen the website that has already been defined

(6). Test: Close the site and then reopen it

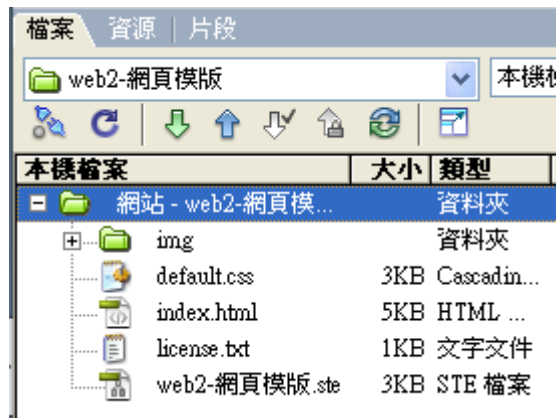

Then import it in

Outcome:

(7). Turn on Home index.html

(8). Modify the content of the Home to be used as a template for each future page:

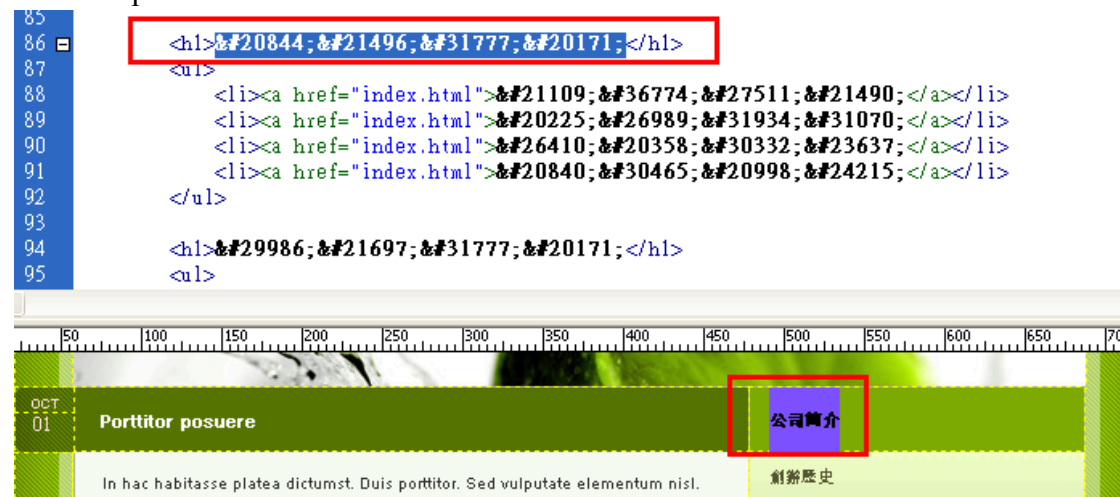

Modify the top title and encoding of IE web pages

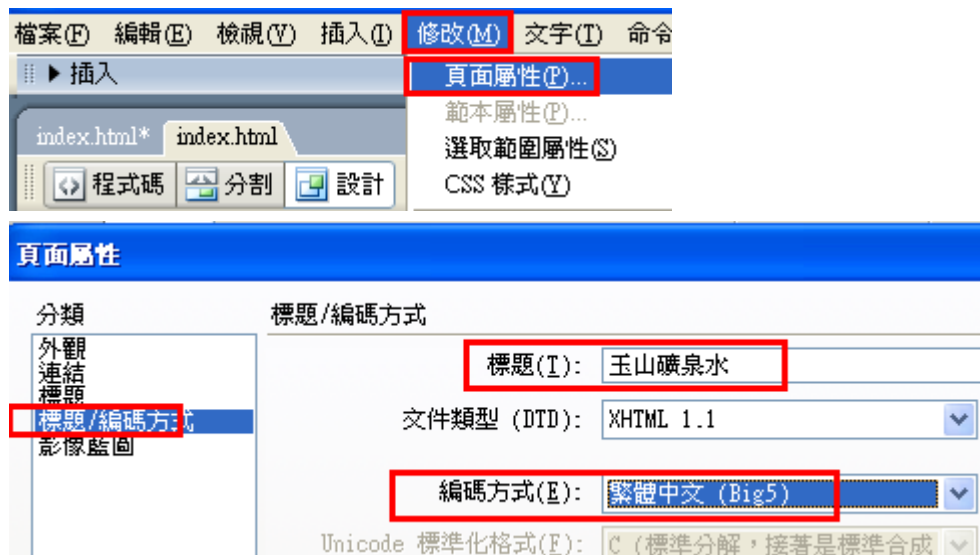

Note: Websites downloaded from abroad are all Western European languages, or Chinese Simplified Chinese, or Korean

This will cause garbled Chinese characters

For example:

Modify the top title and encoding of IE web pages

Add text items from the web page

Counter-Strike evolves again with an Online version First debuted in 1999, Counter-Strike is a first-person shooter featuring terrorists versus counter-terrorism teams. The exhilarating shooting sensation, the thrill of-for-tat, and the fluidity and balance of the game make this game the best-selling FPS in the world. Inheriting the absolute force developed by CS Online (Counter-Striker Online), it not only maintains the original CS game characteristics, but also emphasizes the addition of weapons, maps, characters, etc. without destroying these game characteristics... and other items to provide players with new fun without losing the original flavor.

The new friend system and clan system not only make it easier for you to play with your friends, but also allow you to develop your own clan, and the war between clans provides players with new fun.

Individual and clan rankings are updated directly in the game every day, so you can not only directly check your position among all players to better understand your strength, but also check the positions of other players to effectively grasp the current status of your competitors.
