

Managers in North Dakota, northwest Minnesota assess winter's impact on deer and other wildlife March 15, 2020 North Dakota

Grand Forks Herald

... There's still time for a setback, but winter appears to be on the downward track.

That's good news for wildlife in North Dakota and northwest Minnesota, where deer especially appear to be coming through the winter of 2019-20 in decent shape, wildlife managers say...
