

Revised Common Lectionary – Scriptures by book, annotated

From www.cri/voice.org (this webpage is no longer available). From it, I developed this chart and used the right hand column to annotate notes for me to consider the next time that scripture comes around. You can copy/download this file, delete my comments, and develop your own version.. – Tim Isbell, created 3/18/2024.

Exodus 1:8-2:10	A	Proper 16	Sun bt'n Aug 21-27	Quote from Subversive Witness (Kindle notes): Pharaoh could not fathom a resistance movement led by women. His command, "If you see that the baby is a boy, kill him; but if it is a girl, let her live," exemplifies this. Bruckner describes the irony of this decree: "Pharaoh thought men were the threat. In fact, it was women who continued to outfox him."¹¹ Terence Fretheim writes, "The daughters are allowed to live, and it is they who now proceed to thwart Pharaoh's plans." Yellow highlight Location: 840 By the end of the story, the pharaoh (who never shows up in this narrative) is thwarted by the women, even as he was by the midwives in Exodus 1."¹² Thank God for the faithfulness of our foremothers and the remnant who refuses to cower before imperial power! By the end of the story, the pharaoh (who never shows up in this narrative) is thwarted by the women, even as he was by the midwives in Exodus 1."¹² Thank God for the faithfulness of our foremothers and the remnant who refuses to cower before imperial power!

1 Kings 18:20-21, (22-29),	C	Proper 4	Sun bt'n May 29-June 4 (if after Trinity Sun)	Decline/Renewal of American Church, essay 3 (Keller). Christians must recognize that they do have things to do to prepare for renewal, but that

30-39				ultimately it is God's wise sovereignty that will determine whether and how the church is renewed. Many see a metaphor for this concept of renewal in Elijah's confrontation with the priests of Baal on Mount Carmel in 1 Kings 18. The prophet builds an altar, but it is only God whose fire can ignite it. Christians looking for revival, then, are "building the altar," praying that God will use their efforts to bring a fire of revival with a movement of his Spirit.

			Nov 5	This passage is from one of four similar psalms generally attributed to David. Some suggest a chronological order of 6, 38, 51, and 32. Many think 38 and 51 reference David's sin of adultery with Bathsheba and the murder of her husband (2 Samuel 11-12).

Each temptation represents a parallel temptation the devil used to lead Adam and then Israel to sin, and each signifies a different spiritual obstacle Jesus had to overcome to be faithful to his mission and purpose. Theologically, there are clear parallels between Jesus' temptation in the wilderness and Adam's temptation in the garden. González writes, "Just as Adam was tempted, so must Jesus be tempted; but while Adam succumbed to temptation, Jesus will stand firm. In the first round of the conflict the devil won; but now the devil will be thoroughly defeated by the work of Jesus." ⁵ In the first temptation, ministry or maybe a network of networks—that organizes Christians and churches in communities to both help various needy populations and also to work for a more just and fair social order at the local level. (I have long thought that eventually, after picking up and ministering to dozens of victims of robbery, that the Good Samaritan might begin to ask how to make that particular stretch of road safer for travelers.)

Instead, follow Jesus, who sacrificed himself for our sins! What an enormous change in religious world views! Two first-century Jewish festivals correspond to Christian holidays. Jewish Passover commemorates the night God freed their ancestors from Egyptian slavery at the cost of the eldest son in every Egyptian family. It corresponds to Christian Good Friday and Easter, celebrating Jesus' crucifixion and resurrection, who died to offer freedom from sin to those who follow Jesus. And Jewish Pentecost, five weeks after Passover, commemorates when God gave the Law to Moses on Mount Sinai to guide them from the wilderness to nationhood. It corresponds to Christian Pentecost when God gave the Holy Spirit to believers to guide them in their daily lives of following Jesus.
