

In my veins, a legacy's embrace,
Jew-ISH, not in a temple's space.
Menorahs alight, Passover's feast,
Yet, in this strife, our hope decreased.

Proudly Jewish, yet times are tough,
A truth that's raw, words not enough.
I am not a Zionist, let it be clear,
Palestine yearns for freedom near.

War crimes stain where stories unfold,
A bitter truth, a tale untold.
Jews in chorus, voices unite,
Against injustice, we shed our light.

37% rise in hate's cruel game,
America's fear, a whispered name.
Menorahs hidden, blue lights dim,
In Hanukkah's silence, shadows swim.

America was once a welcoming shore
But now, all it has given
Is hate and war
But what is any of it for?

We fight, argue, spend, and cry
While children in Gaza continue to die
Anyone who supports this genocide
Is not on any Jew's side

Jewish isn't Zionist, hear the plea,
A nuanced truth lets minds clearly see
Kindness to Jews, leave us be.
