

DISCLAIMER

You are responsible for your use of the App. MISN is not responsible for any of the equipment you may use to access the App (including earplugs, earphones, or any other listening device, or any mobile device or any other device used to access the Service). Also, MISN is not responsible for anything you may encounter while using the App (including, but not limited to, physical hazards, traffic, and other people. Accordingly, you must exercise due care when using the App, follow traffic signals and beware of other hazards. Always be fully aware of your surroundings at all times while on the app or otherwise using our App.

We strive to update this tour annually (in the late spring/early summer) to let folks know if there is construction or other barriers that prevent the tour from being wheelchair accessible. Please feel free to send us an email (info@mininginjustice.org) if you have plans to take the tour and have specific questions about accessibility. Please note that there is often construction happening throughout the financial district and therefore we may not be able to account for all obstacles. We apologize in advance if you encounter an issue along the way.