Name: Suzanna Ashlar

Goes by: Zanna

Species: Human

Age: 26

Continuum: World One

Appearance: Zanna is of average height, about 5'6". She has short, vaguely spiky blond hair, in which you can still see the faded bits of pink in back from the last time she dyed it. She has bright gray eyes, a perpetual manic grin, and likes to wear lots of dangly colorful jewelry.

Personality: Zanna is very loud and social and almost always enthusiastic. She likes to talk, and talks a lot, regardless of whether anyone's actually listening. She also has little to no filter between her brain and her mouth, which results in a lot of tactlessness. She doesn't have much regard for personal space either, and likes to greet people, even if she knows them only tangentially, with flying hugs. She has a very unique sense of what's normal and acceptable and what's not, which tends to weird people out.

Zanna is primarily very happy and bubbly and cheerful, but prone to rapid and complete mood whiplashes. She's very passionate and rarely feels anything halfway. She is incredibly impulsive, always rushing into things without thinking first, and has a special fondness for chocolate, fire, and Bad Ideas. Despite all this, she's deceptively intelligent, and not-so-deceptively slightly insane.

Backstory: It takes a very special kind of person to accept a job offer from a giant, psychic, well-dressed flower. Zanna Ashlar is that kind of person.

Zanna is from New England. Pre-PPC, she was a librarian. Because of the really bad understaffing problem the PPC has, they went out recruiting, specifically looking for people who already A) had a deep love, understanding, and respect for canon, and B) were slightly crazy. Zanna fit the bill very nicely. She is having the time of her life in PPC HQ.

Name: David Stewart Wheatley

Goes by: David

Species: Human

Age: 17

Continuum: Sherlock Holmes

Appearance: David is young, thin, and moderately tall - about 5'9". He has longish, neatly-combed-back brown hair, pale skin, and big brown eyes.

Personality: David is rather quiet and timid. He's not very social, and being around people tends to make him uncomfortable. He's quite calm and reserved. He thinks about things to the point of overanalysis, which means he doesn't do stupid heat-of-the moment things he'll regret later, but also can't make snap decisions and in fact tends to freeze up in a crisis. He scares easily and would almost always rather run or hide than stand and fight, and he cannot do confrontations at all. However, if backed into a corner, he can be surprisingly brave - if he manages to overcome his wide-eyed terror paralysis.

David is gentle, compassionate, and unfailingly polite, though he has trouble navigating modern-day society (which is a factor in his shyness). He has very strong morals and is a devout Catholic. He's normally not at all violent, but views killing Sues as a solemn and almost moral obligation to protect the multiverse. He's quite a prude (he's from the Victorian Era, after all). He's also gay, and due to said Victorianness, is still coming to terms with that.

Backstory: David was a bit character in a Sherlock Holmes badfic, who was rescued and recruited by Agents Kelok and Unger. He died, was revived, and had to experience the rest of the fic. He spent months in FicPsych recovering from this. He still doesn't like to think about it, let alone talk about it.
