SPACEMVTT/UFOHOUSE & EMODOQS BEWARE

This document contains mentions of: grooming, censored feral nsfw, racism

This should not go without saying, but please do not harass anyone named in this document. Unfollow, block, and quietly disengage. We do not condone nor promote harassment at all. All we want is to make sure people know who they're following and supporting.

This document was created by former moderators of the spacemvtt discord server (the space cafe) and three anonymous admins of the spacemvtt beware twitter account to expose the deplorable actions of its server owners: spacemvtt, better known as ufohouse, and emodoqs, their partner.

As of the time of writing, and when the most important situation occurred, spacemvtt is 24 and emodoqs is 23. Both of them are adults and have shown they understand the seriousness of the claims being brought against them today. There was never a point where they did not.

TW: PROTECTING A GROOMER (2022/2023)

Before going forward, we would like to ask that you read this document that the victim put forward on twitter on February 20, 2023. His twitter threads on this situation can be located here, then here. The victim is referred to as J, Jayden, Josu/JOSUKILLS, and Riot/RiotPound. Collectively, we will try to use Josukills for consistency.

Since July of 2022, spacemvtt and emodoqs have been aware of a groomer in their server, yet chose not to say anything about it. Instead, they dismissed the victim coming forward due to their lack of evidence, and decided to instead speak to their groomer friend about what occurred. Said groomer friend is known by many names - you can find details concerning her in this twitter thread, but she shall be referred to as Opal.

There is no doc out about Opal yet, but you can find additional information here: daresday's thread, halee's thread, bugs' thread, the toyhouse thread, and any that we have retweeted. The screenshots of Josukills speaking to spacemvtt are as follow:

hey aiden, i'm not sure if you remember, but im jayden, who was originally in your server, i was invited by opal, but i left due to reasons i'll be explaining now, mostly because i didn't want my presence to stir up any trouble; but i've been informed that some of the things i've endured with opal for the past few years wasn't right in the slightest and i've been encouraged by my peers to tell you, you're not obligated to believe me at all, and i completely understand if you don't, as i no longer have proof of these accounts taking place (i was blocked by her on discord, and i've accidentally closed out the chat making it impossible to get the proof needed. i am hoping only my words can suffice) to start things off i want to state this, im 16, 3 years younger than opal, and she knew this from the start. i've known opal since i was about 12-13 on google+ (her being 15-16 at the time) and when the site shut down around 2018, we started talking on discord then, she has moved accounts multiple times since she knew it was wrong around others, because she had an oc server with her friends (you were also a part of it but i'm not sure if you remember a lot of it) and that server included an nsfw channel, i joked along the lines of "where's my nsfw role" because i was again under the impression that what she was doing was totally normal, but she stated that i was "too young", but the nsfw conversations continued in private dms.

my ocs are definitely of age (18+) but after being made aware that having someone 18 and over indulge anything nsfw related with me, a minor, is completely wrong, and she should've had the self restraint to immediately stop once she hit the age of 18, but she didn't, and i was made to believe it was fine because i trusted her, someone i saw (and still do in some way) as my older sister.
again, i don't wish to make you feel obligated to believe me as i don't bear the evidence with me anymore, if she hadn't blocked me i could probably get evidence in under a minute if i'm being honest. these conversations we've had were also not just about ocs and expanded beyond that, but they're too uncomfortable to go into detail about, and i hope you can understand that.
i deeply care about opal even after she abruptly cut ties with me, and i hope she doesn't take things too far with this (which is why i'm making a wish that you don't mention this to her at all, if you are still communicating with her that is) a part of me still wishes to speak with her on the matter but it's time i come to terms that distancing myself from her is probably for the best; i just wanted to get this off of my chest and let you be aware of what was going on behind the scenes.
issues went beyond just the nsfw topics but i won't go into those either because i'm just not mentally prepared to do so, i hope you can understand my reasoning for telling you this, and i'm deeply sorry if this changes anything between you and opal at all, your partner included.
New messages

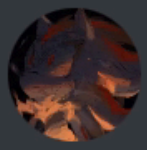

Opal admitted to everything she did and no further investigation on this topic was done by spacemvtt or emodoqs. Instead, they continued on as normal, not once following up with the victim. They took the word of a serial liar and child groomer over a victim, who was coming forward desperate to be believed.

(message from Opal/Charlotte/Phoebe to the victim, as seen in his doc)

This happened in July and was not brought up again until a moderator of the space cafe, and friend, of spacemvtt and emodoqs was clued in on what had happened whatsoever. When this was eventually addressed to at least one or two of the five(?) moderators, they were lied to about the full veracity of the situation.

It took until February 20, when Josukills published his document detailing what spacemvtt said to him, that this gained traction once more. It was discovered by them on February 21. That prompted these messages to be sent in their server:

audrey 21/02/2023 23:26

it's not your fault, its no one's fault besides the attention whores that want to take us down he even said in his own screenshot "its okay i have no proof" why.. am i the bad guy here then

From day one, all spacemvtt cared about was their career.

Instead of trying to reach out to the victim to see what they could do to help, they created a giant thread about how spacemvtt was to not be involved on the following day, February 22. The thread is as follows:

(note: they recognize what happened was wrong.)

(note: serial liars like opal will do anything they can to maintain innocence. she was not to be trusted from the start.)

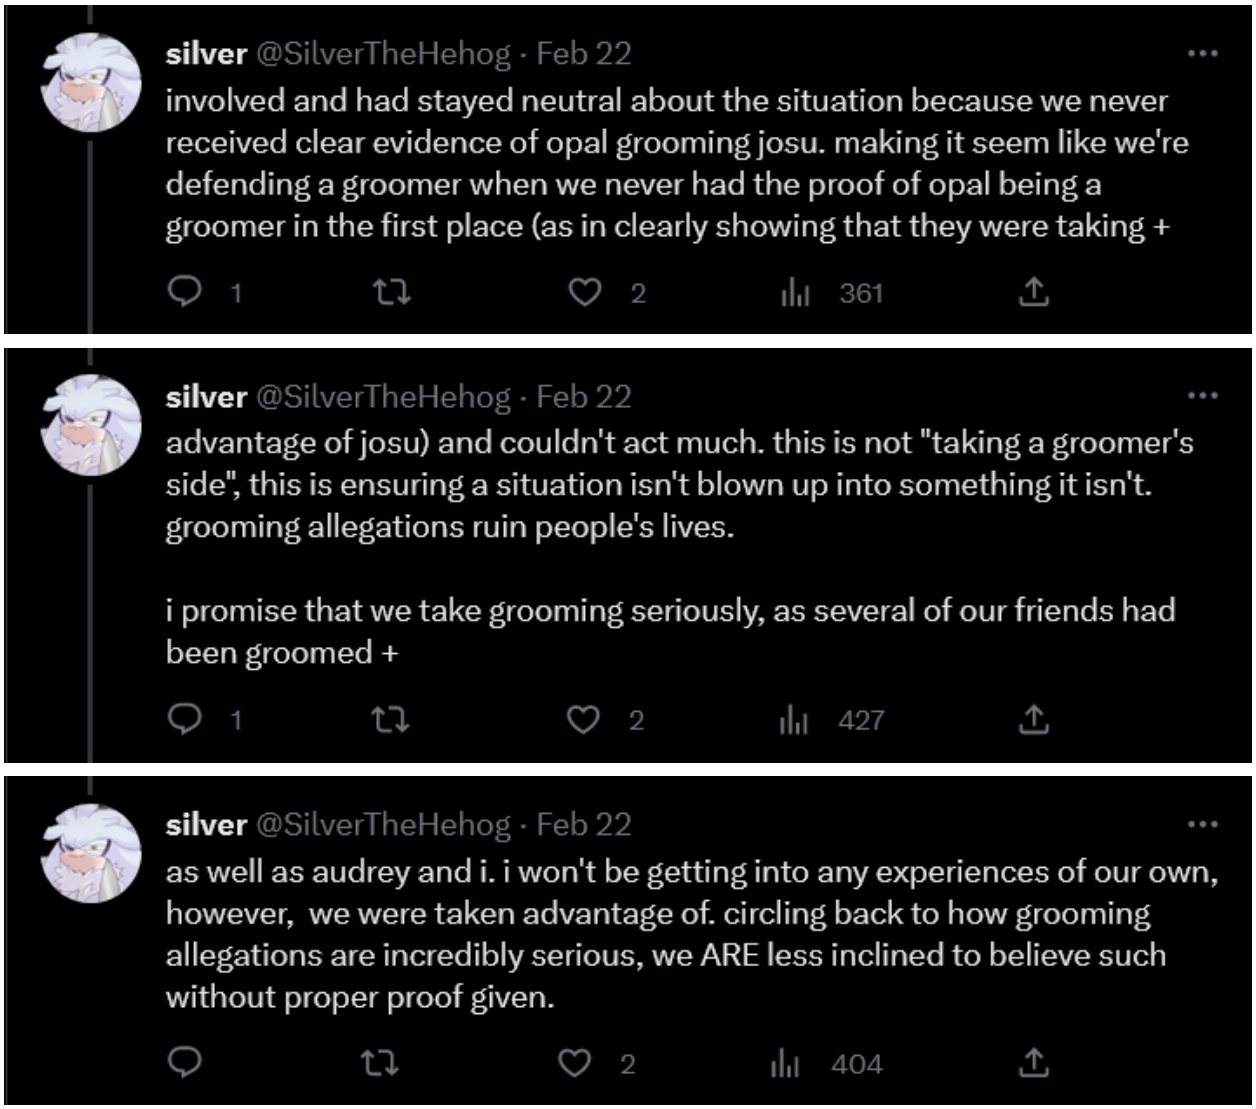

(note: “don’t bring this into the public” is clearly Opal trying to save her skin. how did they not find this suspicious?)

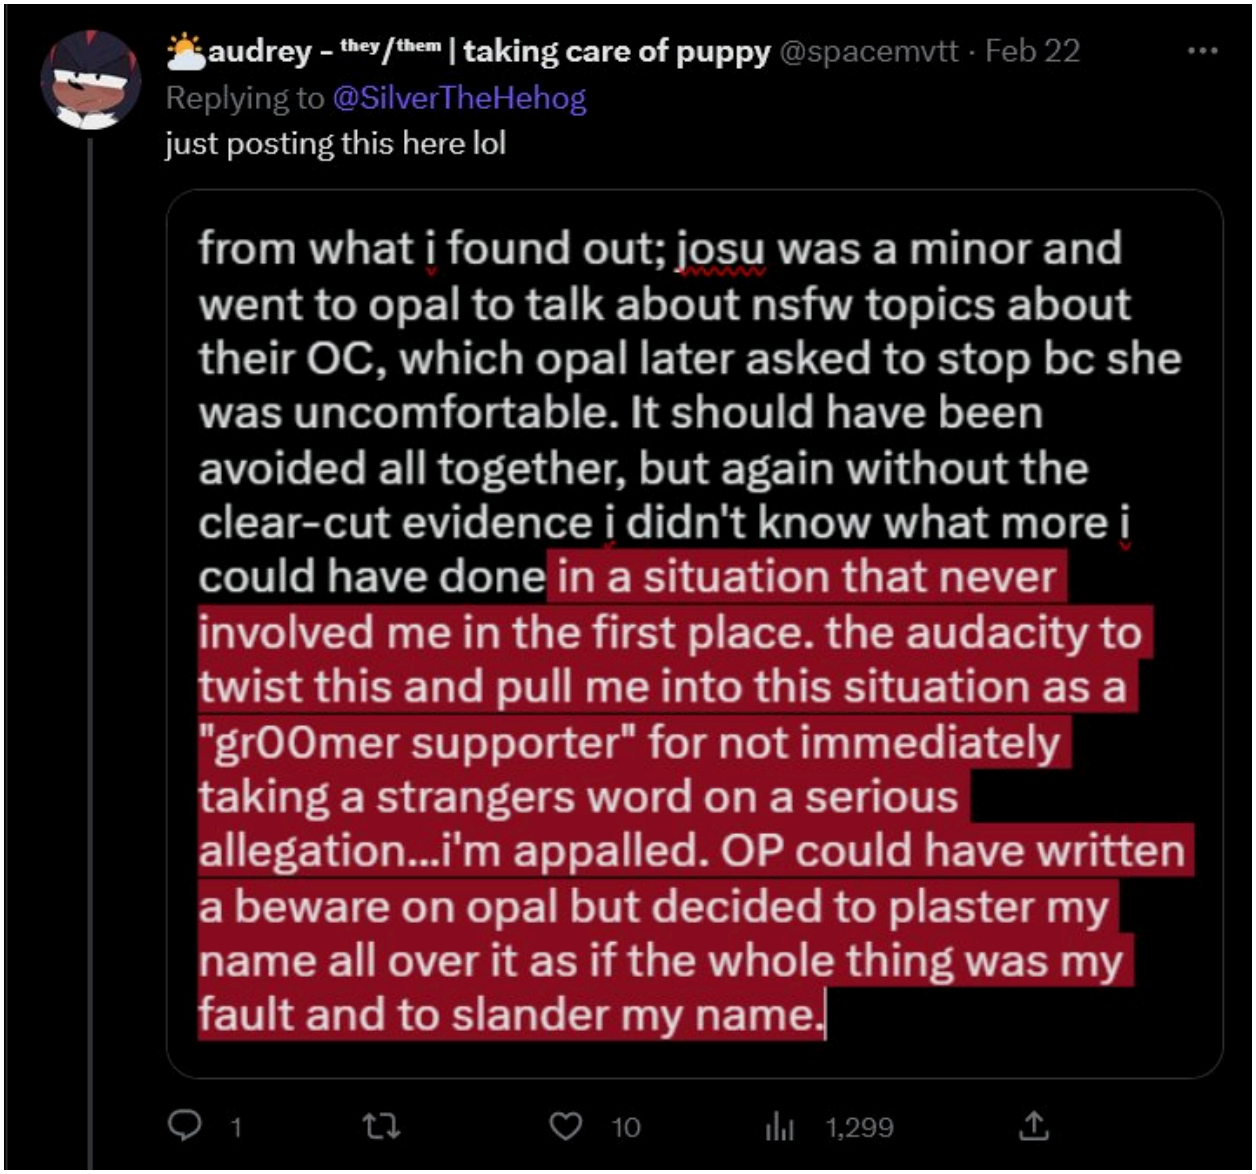

(note: there is no neutral side in a grooming scenario. they did not cut off Opal. they took her side.)

(screenshots taken from this thread by @ploverenjoyer on twitter)

After this thread by emodoqs (under their alt “SilverTheHehog”) was posted, spacemvtt had this to say:

In addition, there was a recovered screenshot from something else spacemvtt had said, yet deleted upon being told it was not appropriate:

(note: a few people who were aware of the situation were trying to figure out discrepancies in Opal's story. ages were not lining up and it was discerned that Opal was in fact an adult during the grooming.)

Please take a careful look at what spacemvtt says. In both of these messages, instead of taking into account that a minor cannot consent to discussing and seeing sexual content, they instead immediately went to blaming the minor publicly.

As a result of the investigation going on behind the scenes, on February 23, a conversation was held between mothippie, emodoqs, and later on, Opal herself in a group chat. The screenshots speak for themselves, please read all of them carefully. Take into account the manner in which both emodoqs and Opal (Phoebe) are speaking. It is nothing short of manipulative.

The full conversation in better quality can be viewed here.

Hey Fir, I know you said you appreciated me being an outside perspective in this whole situation, since I don't know either party and so I felt that I should say something as I'm really concerned.

I have been trying to figure out how to say this nicely, while also keeping my own experiences cooled down as to not make me verbally angry with you or Audrey. I am not here to yell or anything, but I am very upset. This is about the Phoebe situation to be even more clear if I wasn't already.

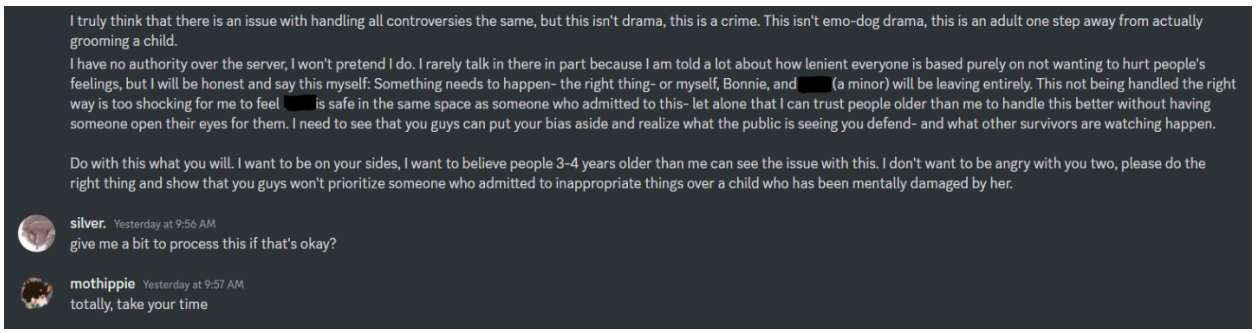

As an outsider and someone who has been able to see more than the public, I am extremely concerned and worried about the seemingly neutral stance this very serious issue is falling into. When [redacted] was making misogynistic comments, they were banned. When Prince and Warden were being weird and stealing designs, they were banned. But Phoebe admitted that what J said was true and it seems it's just being brushed off. This is more serious than any accusation any of you have had your name tied to, this doesn't have the defense the feral stuff does with you both being socially groomed, or that it happened half a decade ago, this is a current minor coming forward about how someone 3 years their senior- and adult- had sexual conversations with them.

No one expected you to take the word of a stranger, but when J came forward and Phoebe was talked to- them agreeing that anything happened at all should have been all the proof needed. As soon as Phoebe admitted to anything, that isn't you two taking the word of a stranger- a friend of yours admitted to behaving sexually with a child. That is a fact, I cannot stress that enough. There is no tier scale to an adult having sexual conversations with a child, it's all beyond horrifying.

I am a grooming victim myself. One of the most common things I had in all my experiences was the discussion of sex toys, and to see Phoebe explain this away as a hyperfixation makes my blood boil, and I have no idea why it doesn't make everyone else hearing it feel the same- or at least show that it does. Hyperfixation or not, feeling guilty/ashamed or not, this happened and an adult acted inappropriately with a child who is now hurt beyond repair. When I read the dms between Phoebe and J, I saw myself in them and even before I was sure Phoebe was for sure guilty, I knew that conversation was full of pain and suffering. Everything they said was what I wanted to say to all of my abusers, and they were brave enough to actually voice their feelings when many cant- and behind the scenes you and Audrey asked Jace if you two could censor a private conversation about the situation and post it. I cannot express how concerningly out of touch and immature even considering that is. You two are 23-24, genuinely asking if it would be alright to post a talk about a 17 year olds experience- someone at least 6-7 years younger than both of you. What's worse is Audrey did publicly say the minor may have lied instead of considering maybe Phoebe had.

If I, as someone with even more info on what's going on than the public is this angry, then I can only imagine how angry the public who have seen this is. There was no other correct course of action other than saying you were looking into it- seeing Phoebe admit to it- and drop them. Being neutral or praying controversies die out does not work for everything, and I am shocked that this is being taken less seriously than what Prince and Warden were doing.

When it was discovered Sibby had exposed a minor to nsfw, you all were upset- at least from what I was told. Why is that worse and more upsetting than an adult admitting to having conversations with a minor for over a year? Either it's all okay or it's all bad- and if it's anything other than all bad then I am horrified.

I truly think that there is an issue with handling all controversies the same, but this isn't drama, this is a crime. This isn't emo-dog drama, this is an adult one step away from actually grooming a child.

I have no authority over the server, I won't pretend I do. I rarely talk in there in part because I am told a lot about how lenient everyone is based purely on not wanting to hurt people's feelings, but I will be honest and say this myself: Something needs to happen- the right thing- or myself, Bonnie, and [redacted] (a minor) will be leaving entirely. This not being handled the right way is too shocking for me to feel [redacted] is safe in the same space as someone who admitted to this- let alone that I can trust people older than me to handle this better without having someone open their eyes for them. I need to see that you guys can put your bias aside and realize what the public is seeing you defend- and what other survivors are watching happen.

Do with this what you will. I want to be on your sides, I want to believe people 3-4 years older than me can see the issue with this. I don't want to be angry with you two, please do the right thing and show that you guys won't prioritize someone who admitted to inappropriate things over a child who has been mentally damaged by her.

i do not want to seem like i'm not taking this seriously. my initial reaction yesterday may have been wrong, and how i approached the situation. i should have considered j's feelings more; what was on my mind above anything was to make sure people knew that audrey wouldn't defend someone who was grooming - to which, i am a grooming victim also, and i personally thought what happened was not grooming. i'm not sure if jace had made you at all aware of phoebe being in an environment where, when she was still a minor, people were actively engaging her and even tord/red into nsfw chats/situations. which made it hard for her to develop a filter as it was normalized to her. i don't want this to be the excuse of the situation, but i do want to think that like... it played a huge role into this.

i regret that audrey made that post. they made it without thinking just to clear their name and i'm not happy with how they acted. it wasn't okay with how i acted and i am still looking into this and considering on how to act. i am waiting on phoebe to be awake also to discuss this with nat once again, should they feel willing, or maybe even if you were to be included which i am not sure if you would be.

phoebe told me a little more about the situation itself that i also just... have to think about. it's difficult seeing two sides with no proof, where both could be right. i know that phoebe is and has been transparent with this entire situation but her having deleted accounts where proof on both sides could be secured makes this a lot harder.

i'm sorry if my response isn't what you expect, i promise i'm actively trying to think on how to word myself and my feelings, and i don't. want. to play the victim but i'm the only one trying to clear this situation actively. and it's exhausting at the moment, i do wanna do the right thing, i absolutely promise, but i need outside opinions like this to help me.
if you are okay with it/open to the idea, i do want to attach a few things that phoebe (and tord, to some extent) told me this morning, including the age thing. it turns out it was not a lie, however getting the timeline completely wrong (edited) > silver. i do not want to seem like i'm not taking this seriously. my initial reaction yesterday may have been wrong, and how i approached the situation. i should have considered j's feelings more; what was on my m silver. Yesterday at 10:16 AM i want to reiterate that i HAVE put more thought into the situation on j's side. i do not know if they would be comfortable with me messaging them, i don't, quite know how to if i were to - but i would be open to the idea

mothippie Yesterday at 10:26 AM
I can totally understand wanting to be as careful with this as possible, but I feel that goes out the window when the accused admits that 1) they did it and 2) they know it was wrong.

I can also understand and have seen where Phoebe discussed concerning what happened in their childhood, and I can sympathize with it, but it is almost entirely irrelevant to what has happened concerning their own actions. In the same message they opened up about that, they admitted they knew that adults having certain discussions with them was wrong (i.e. the 40 year old) and so I have a hard time as someone in a very similar position believing that is at all important to the current issue. I know you don't mean for it to sound like an excuse, I truly believe that with all my heart, but it comes off as such based on the severity of what we are dealing with.

I can also completely understand wanting to protect your partner. I would also jump to protect Bonnie if something like this happened, and they would if it happened to me. I'm glad you realize the response was wrong, now the only thing you can do is go from here and given that the accused admitted to the allegations being- for the most part besides very small things- true should be it. I know there aren't screenshots to work off of, but if you cannot trust Phoebe to be honest about it happening, then you shouldn't trust them at all. And if you do trust they are being honest when they say it happened, then they need to be removed. There are 14 minors in that server, and it is not a safe space if someone like Phoebe can be allowed among them.

This victim was used as a gatcha by a beware account and used that to then share their side of the story. Yes, it came off as accusatory, but even in the doc they said it wasn't about Audrey. With things like this, extreme care needs to prioritize speed, because this has absolutely spun out of control when it could have been handled a lot better.

Timeline wrong or not, the bottom line is that this happened, and that is my largest concern. A child has come forward and I, as an outsider, do not feel this has been handled the only way it should have.

I am open to seeing more attachments. I trust you are doing something but I feel that it should be a lot more black and white given what this is all about. I have a very very similar experience based on what Phoebe said and I could never do what she did, I can't see that as anything other than a poorly attempted excuse, even if that wasn't the intention.

If you do message J, it has to be after Phoebe is removed. If you don't remove her, I don't think you should bother messaging a victim who is already feeling pushed aside. They know Phoebe was talked to, they seem to know Phoebe admitted they did it to you guys, if I was them I would feel ignored and invalidated too. You guys have to make this right or I see no point in messaging J.

silver. Yesterday at 10:35 AM i see where you're coming from, yeah- i suppose you're right with that, i'm torn between not completely wanting that to be swept under the rug and sympathizing that yes, if she knew it was wrong, it should not have happened for now, i will absolutely remove phoebe from the server and let her know about it while i attempt to get my thoughts gathered with how to approach this. i hope you can understand that i want to try to get this cleared as soon as possible, but my brain is still a little foggy with thoughts and emotions.

i feel bad, truthfully, that i didn't take the victims feelings into consideration as much as i should have.

i agree it's spun out of control. i didn't handle this rationally at all, and i do want to apologize to j for that i don't know if you can full on agree with what i may send you then, but it's why i'm still swaying a little bit, but i know time is of the essence here

mothippie Yesterday at 10:39 AM
I say it's alright not because of how it's been handled but because I do understand how stressful this must be given this is a friend of yours. I can totally and completely understand that this has got to be hard.

I think that would be for the best as you work with her behind the scenes.

The only way to get better with this stuff, from my experience, is trial and error but only if someone tells you what was wrong, and that's truly what I'm trying to do because I don't see you or Audrey as malicious, just really really poor with communication and rationale when anxiety/panic kicks in. I really appreciate you hearing me out as much as you have, truly and honestly.

silver. Yesterday at 10:44 AM

i'm looking at these differently now and i'm sorry for censoring the name - it's in a group chat between tord, phoebe and i and it doesn't feel appropriate having the name shown i have removed her from the server and let her know about my next course of actions ;;

i promise i wouldn't ever try to hurt someone, no matter WHO it is. but yes, anxiety has been kicking in for me and it's made it hard to properly look at the situation

AND I CONSCIOUSLY TRIED TO TOWARDS THE END especially when Jay reciprocally sexualized the Tiger OC I gave to plum

I recognize I have no proof of this either but I tried to shut it down with Jay. I absolutely really had. it was he who personally told me he didn't care if it continued

I absolutely should have had the understanding to stop it beyond that point but again. I was also enabled into doing so yes I understand minors cant consent but it was also just. a dynamic between two friends at the time

I would like to say that anything around BD would only be mentioned due to it being a mutual interest Jay had expressed independently from me yet would participate had I mentioned it--again having shared space within the fandom, it was not me forcing my interest onto him and not at all me engaging with him sexually it was engaging with sexual content with or by him

> once I was drawing said character and mentioned offhandedly that when I got stuck on it I was bored and drew a dick on it--something I said flippantly and should not have mentioned, it was entirely unnecessary for me to do so. but Jayden pushed me two separate times to show it to him, once saying he wanted to see it then reiterating a separate time he would "pay money to see his dick" at which I felt pressured to show him, so I did. which I entirely regret

> I would never have allowed them to be a ship if I had known in the beginning he intended for them to have a sexual relationship, I only let them be a pair because Jay took particular interest in the character and thought it would make him happy

I forget the specifics of the conversation in particular, I think it was in reference to the fact I didn't ship him with Keith's character Elios anymore after parting ways, I recall Jay saying "tiger dick for me and only me" when talking about him it was entirely encouraging on jaydens behalf. for him to suddenly be like "I learned it was wrong so now I feel like I was groomed" is entirely contrary to how he behaved towards the character and myself

There are additional screenshots from their DMs that are damning, but we are choosing not to include them in the doc in order to keep the focus on them protecting the groomer: Opal. The group chat screenshots are as follow. Please note that frisbee is Opal/Phoebe.

Anytime, I don't really want to be cruel or anything or overstep, I just want to try and be the balance to this since I don't. have any bias.
Sorry, I'm trying to balance multiple things, apologizes if I have breaks in-between messages but I am giving my attention to this as I feel that's important

I just want to say, especially to start this off, that this is really really bad, and from everything I have seen, you agree Phoebe. I believe that you know it's wrong, I don't have a doubt in my mind, but the way you have gone about this has been really difficult as someone who is watching this go down. I don't want to sit here and shame you, I don't feel that's at all responsible, but some serious things need to happen because of how horribly this has been handled. I know a lot of you involved/knowing of the situation struggle with anxiety and keeping calm during this stuff- unfortunately this is the best you're gonna get in terms of getting a chance to learn from how this was done.

mothippie Yesterday at 11:22 AM
I think everyone involved is more than capable of growing from this, but the first thing I think you need to do is seriously reevaluate how you talk about this.

In one breath you recognize that the minor couldn't consent, and then the next you word things in a way that comes off as pushing blame onto said minor. I feel it's more than irresponsible to have the mindset that you were pressured or pushed to show nsfw to a minor when it's your responsibility to say no, and not interact with those discussions.

I won't comment on if this was grooming or not, I am not an authority of any kind and I cannot pretend I am, but no matter how this is spun, you were the adult in an adult/minor interaction, and you held all the responsibility to end this, and not say things that come across as blaming the now 17 year old for realizing what you did was wrong.

I'll give you a moment to respond.

frisbee Yesterday at 11:38 AM absolutely no pressure, the same stands here as we navigate this together, I appreciate you allowing me the time

I intend to make no excuse as I retain full responsibility and wish to again condemn my behavior in spite of horribly clouded judgement—if I may without indulging trauma, explain that I endured similar experiences in my youth to in any way convey how I misjudged the gravity with which such content is to be handled

It was not my intention to blame, I wanted to clarify that he would as equally initiate if not participate. I should have known better, I recognize that it does read that I was pressured and I apologize. I cannot justify that and lack the ability to articulate why I felt it were in any way necessary. It wasn't necessary and I deeply regret being as insensitive as I was reckless.

I have cut ties with those in my life who influenced those beliefs and behaviors, for which I again take full responsibility neglectfully perpetuating as I should have had the forethought to put an end to it sooner than I had. I put and end to it in parting ways with him as I would describe in my final discord message to him. I have taken the steps to learn and grow from it in the last 7 or so months since I ceased contact originally

I have been made aware of your past, and I sympathize with it, but you then turned and did things very similar to the minor, who I have been calling J because I see others doing the same.

It doesn't just read as you being pressured, you directly stated he pushed you, and that you felt pressured, and I have a great issue with that. He may have initiated or participated, but that is a nearly entirely mute point as it doesn't offer much of anything to the conversation unless the intention is to shift blame. I'm not saying that is what you intended, but that is how it comes across.

I'm sorry if this reveals just how much I know, but I also take issue with how you use the term hyperfixation to describe your actions that led to you having these conversations. Whether J shared the interest or not, you never should have created the exact environment that opens doors for future adults to take advantage of minors- let alone creating a path that could have led J to then perpetuating that behavior as an adult. It's good that J sees what you did was horrible, and any phrasing that invalidates those feelings is incredibly wrong and I see you know and recognize that. There needs to be insane levels of care and thought that goes into what you say, especially as you are not the victim in this in any way.

regrettably I hate to claim emotional inarticulacy but I'm undecided in how to progress if depicting the reality of the situation semantically designates blame? I have no issue recognizing the habilitation is the issue, but it is untruthful to say I acted predatorily and entirely without incitement or reciprocation.

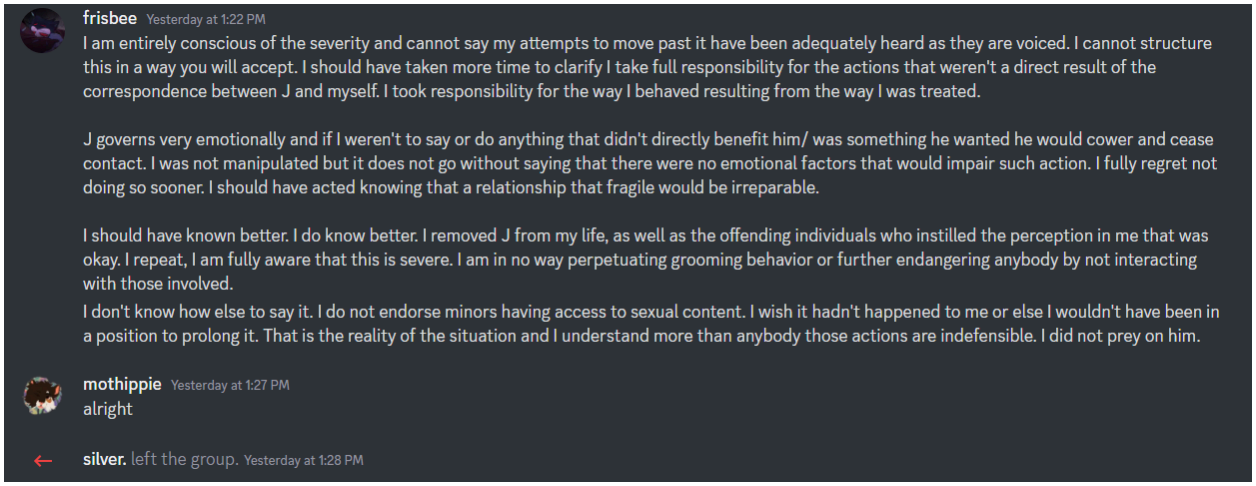

I should have known better, I should not have created such an environment. I have no intention to be argumentative, I simply fail to understand how it's productive to entirely rule out that I were in any way encouraged strictly on the basis that he is the minor.

I recognize that the minor is in no position to consent, but to tiptoe around the fact J actively endorsed and participated in the environment in which it was habilitated is entirely disingenuous and only stands to depict me as an aggressor. I was not in the right, but I don't think avoiding an influence fostered by somebody with whom held significance to me is at all reasonable. We are each responsible for our own actions, as are we responsible for the way in which we influence each other. (edited)

To say I am struggling to find words in response to this is an understatement, I need a moment.

(note: emodoqs has known what Opal did since July 2022. acting shocked and innocent does not work here.)

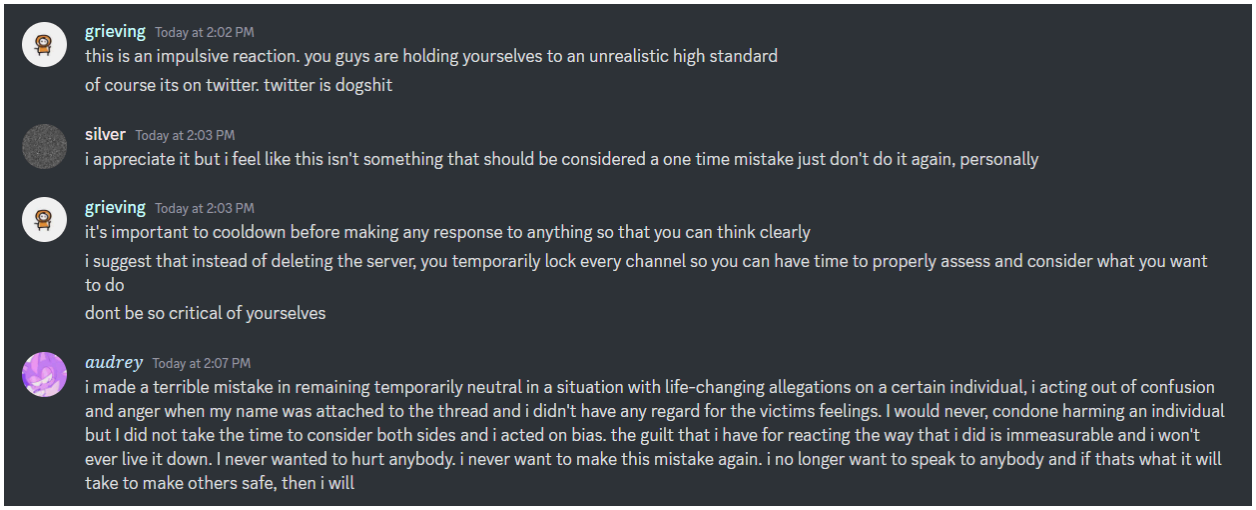

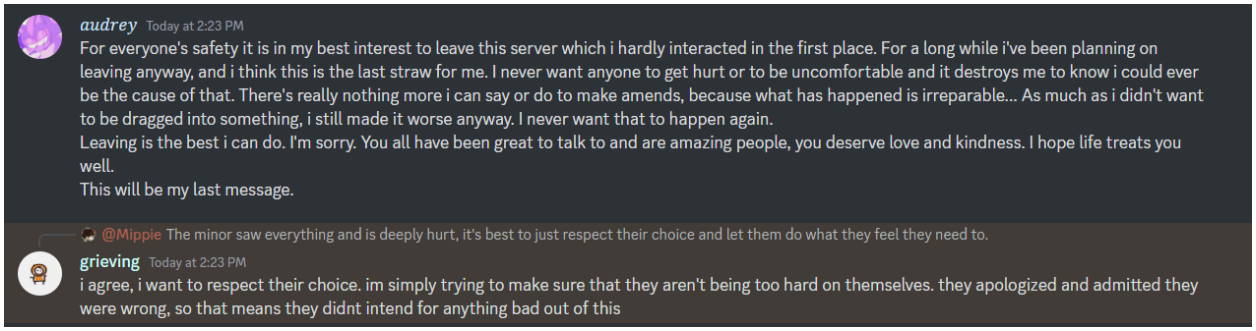

After this, everything went down from here. The space cafe was deleted, of which a few screenshots were taken:

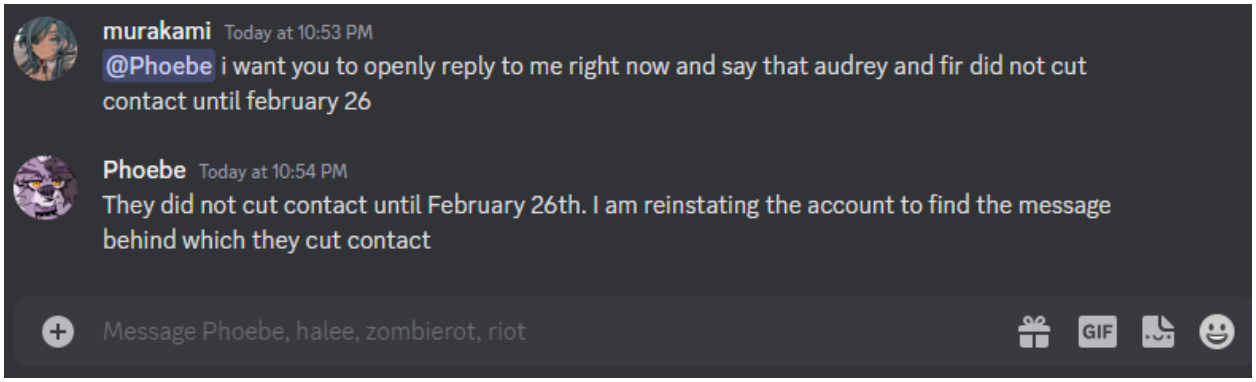

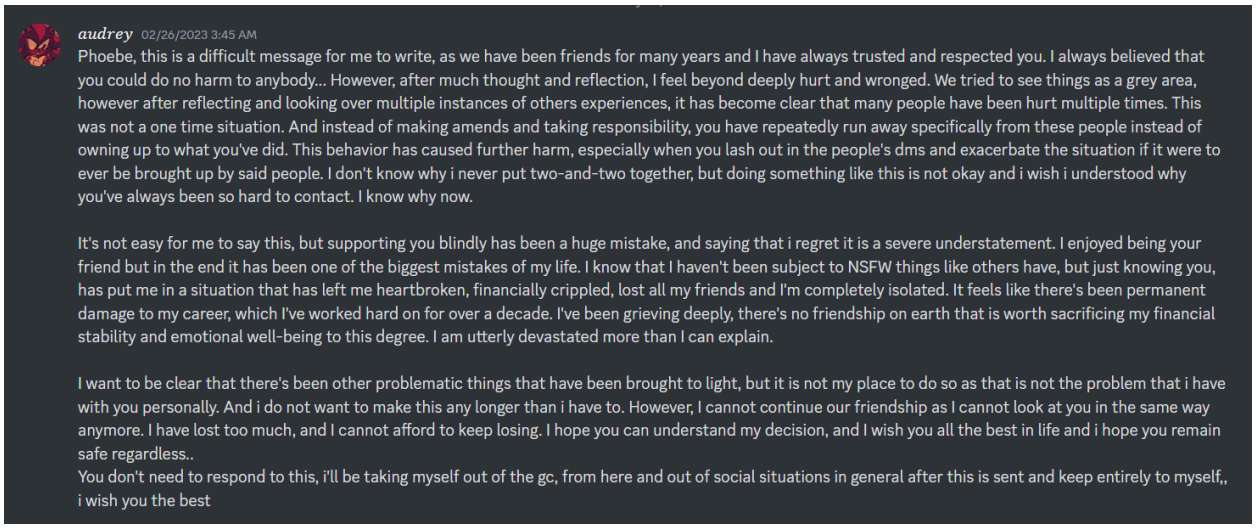

As of now, spacemvtt and emodoqs are on a hiatus after issuing lackluster apologies to their audience, then the victims of their groomer friend.

LYING & KEEPING PHOEBE AROUND (2023)

Both spacemvtt and emodoqs did not cut off Phoebe until February 26, 2023. This situation all came to a head on February 22. On February 24, spacemvtt posted a public apology in which they publicly claimed that Phoebe was cut from their lives. Spacemvtt and emodoqs waited an additional three days after everything was out in the open to cut off Phoebe. They were lying and thought nobody would find out. Well, people found out. Phoebe herself has confirmed this, through talking to her victims, and we have been given the following screenshots. The first screenshot, in which murakami is speaking to Phoebe, was taken on March 12 of 2023.

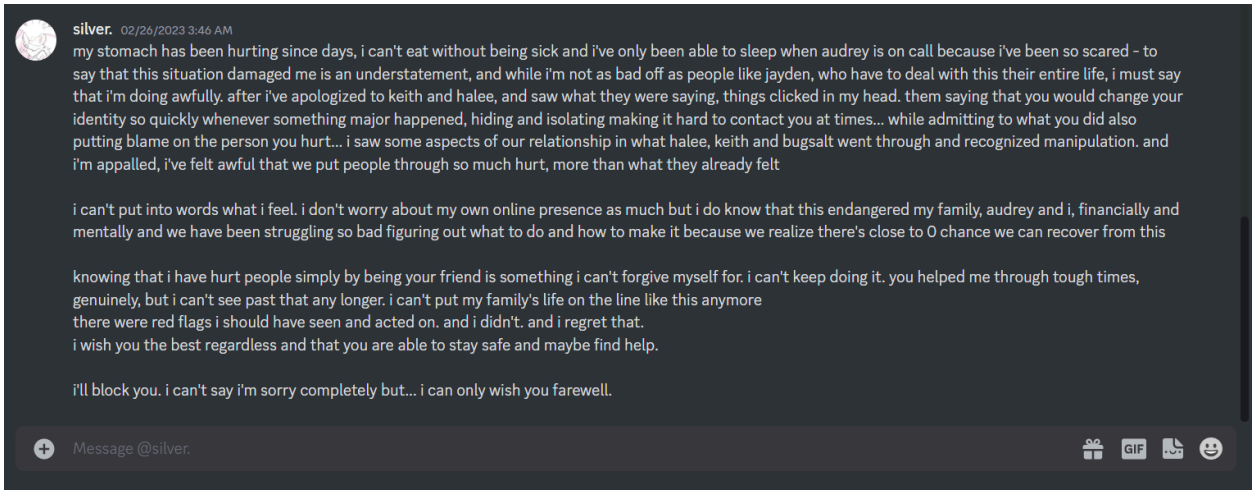

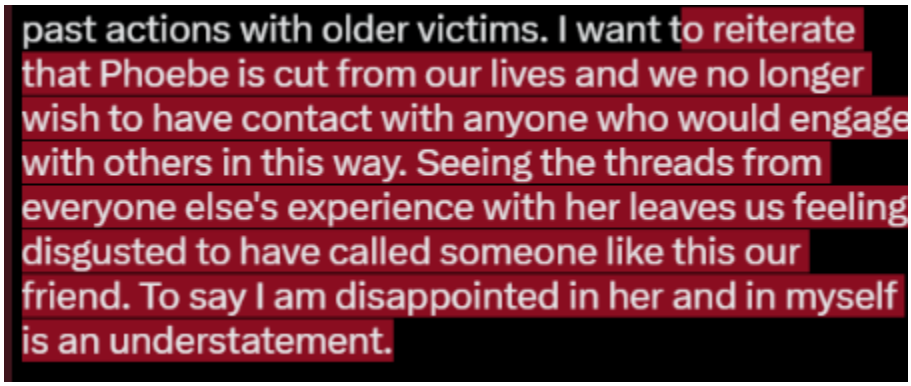

audrey 02/26/2023 3:45 AM

Phoebe, this is a difficult message for me to write, as we have been friends for many years and I have always trusted and respected you. I always believed that you could do no harm to anybody... However, after much thought and reflection, I feel beyond deeply hurt and wronged. We tried to see things as a grey area, however after reflecting and looking over multiple instances of others experiences, it has become clear that many people have been hurt multiple times. This was not a one time situation. And instead of making amends and taking responsibility, you have repeatedly run away specifically from these people instead of owning up to what you've did. This behavior has caused further harm, especially when you lash out in the people's dms and exacerbate the situation if it were to ever be brought up by said people. I don't know why i never put two-and-two together, but doing something like this is not okay and i wish i understood why you've always been so hard to contact. I know why now.

It's not easy for me to say this, but supporting you blindly has been a huge mistake, and saying that i regret it is a severe understatement. I enjoyed being your friend but in the end it has been one of the biggest mistakes of my life. I know that I haven't been subject to NSFW things like others have, but just knowing you, has put me in a situation that has left me heartbroken, financially crippled, lost all my friends and I'm completely isolated. It feels like there's been permanent damage to my career, which I've worked hard on for over a decade. I've been grieving deeply, there's no friendship on earth that is worth sacrificing my financial stability and emotional well-being to this degree. I am utterly devastated more than I can explain.

I want to be clear that there's been other problematic things that have been brought to light, but it is not my place to do so as that is not the problem that i have with you personally. And i do not want to make this any longer than i have to. However, I cannot continue our friendship as I cannot look at you in the same way anymore. I have lost too much, and I cannot afford to keep losing. I hope you can understand my decision, and I wish you all the best in life and i hope you remain safe regardless..
You don't need to respond to this, i'll be taking myself out of the gc, from here and out of social situations in general after this is sent and keep entirely to myself,, i wish you the best

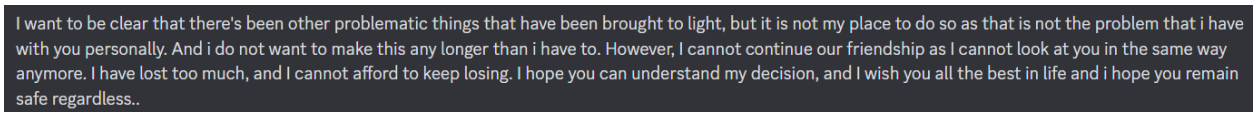

(excerpt from spacemvtt's apology that highlights their bold-faced lie)

As always, these screenshots are available in higher quality on our Google Drive.

Please note that in both messages from spacemvtt (audrey) and emodoqs (silver) they are completely self-centered. Whereas emodoqs somewhat mentions the victims by name and what they endured, spacemvtt outright refuses to. Even still, they try to see grooming allegations as something they can remain neutral to, and grieve their career more than the victim who was harmed.

"I have lost too much, and I cannot afford to keep losing"

SILENCING OTHER VICTIMS (2022)

This statement comes from batphantoms, who was a member of spacemvtt and emodoq's server at one point in time. It can be found here, but will be posted here with the corresponding screenshots. Please offer your support to Dez, who has clearly been through something horrible, and was so cruelly dismissed by spacemvtt.

i am SO glad spacemvtt is getting shit now. They really have a problem with trying to silence victims, one of them being me.

They straight up called my vent art GORE PORN at one point. And told me to take it down, because it caused a relapse I couldn't control, EVEN THOUGH I TW'D IT. IT WASN'T PORN. PORN MEANS IT'S MEANT TO BE

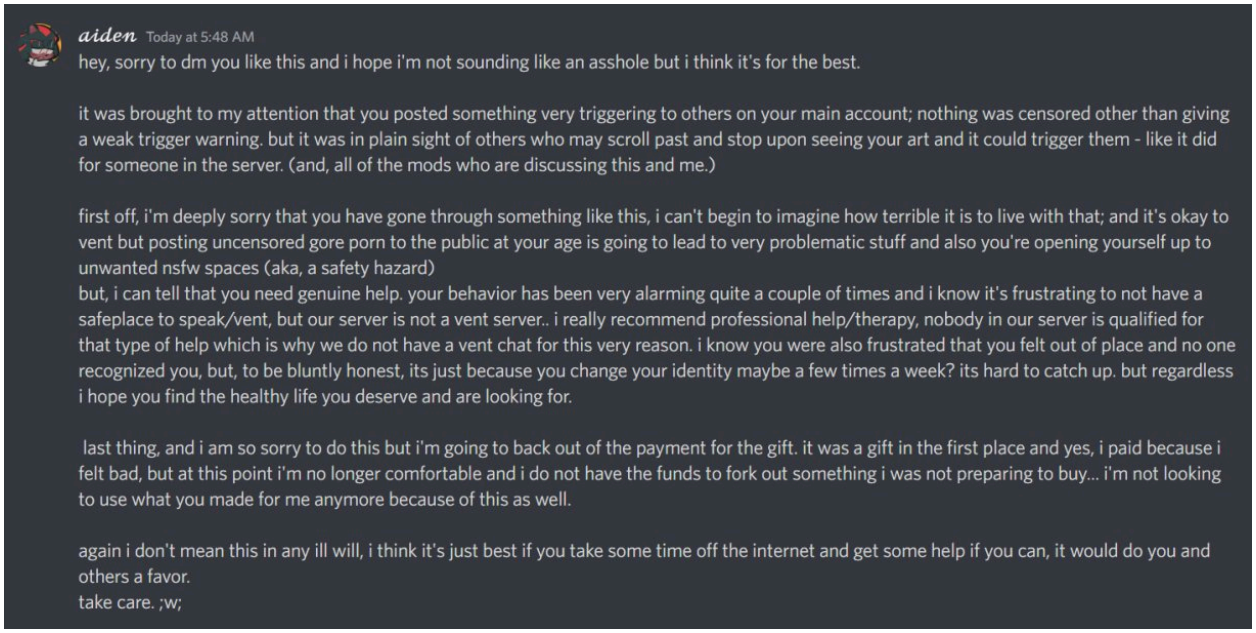

E R O T I C.

IT WAS A PIECE ABOUT MY RAPE HISTORY.

NO????

I sadly don't have the fucking dms anymore I wish i did I really wish i fucking did because it was fucking disgusting but the screenshots are all lost now due to ex-friends o mine being stupid and getting on my bad side and i, a person with chronic dumbass disease, left the groupchats so they wouldnt bother me any further. I also closed my dms with Audrey. Because, again, CHRONIC DUMBASS DISEASE

god im so tired

aiden Today at 5:48 AM

hey, sorry to dm you like this and i hope i'm not sounding like an asshole but i think it's for the best.

it was brought to my attention that you posted something very triggering to others on your main account; nothing was censored other than giving a weak trigger warning. but it was in plain sight of others who may scroll past and stop upon seeing your art and it could trigger them - like it did for someone in the server. (and, all of the mods who are discussing this and me.)

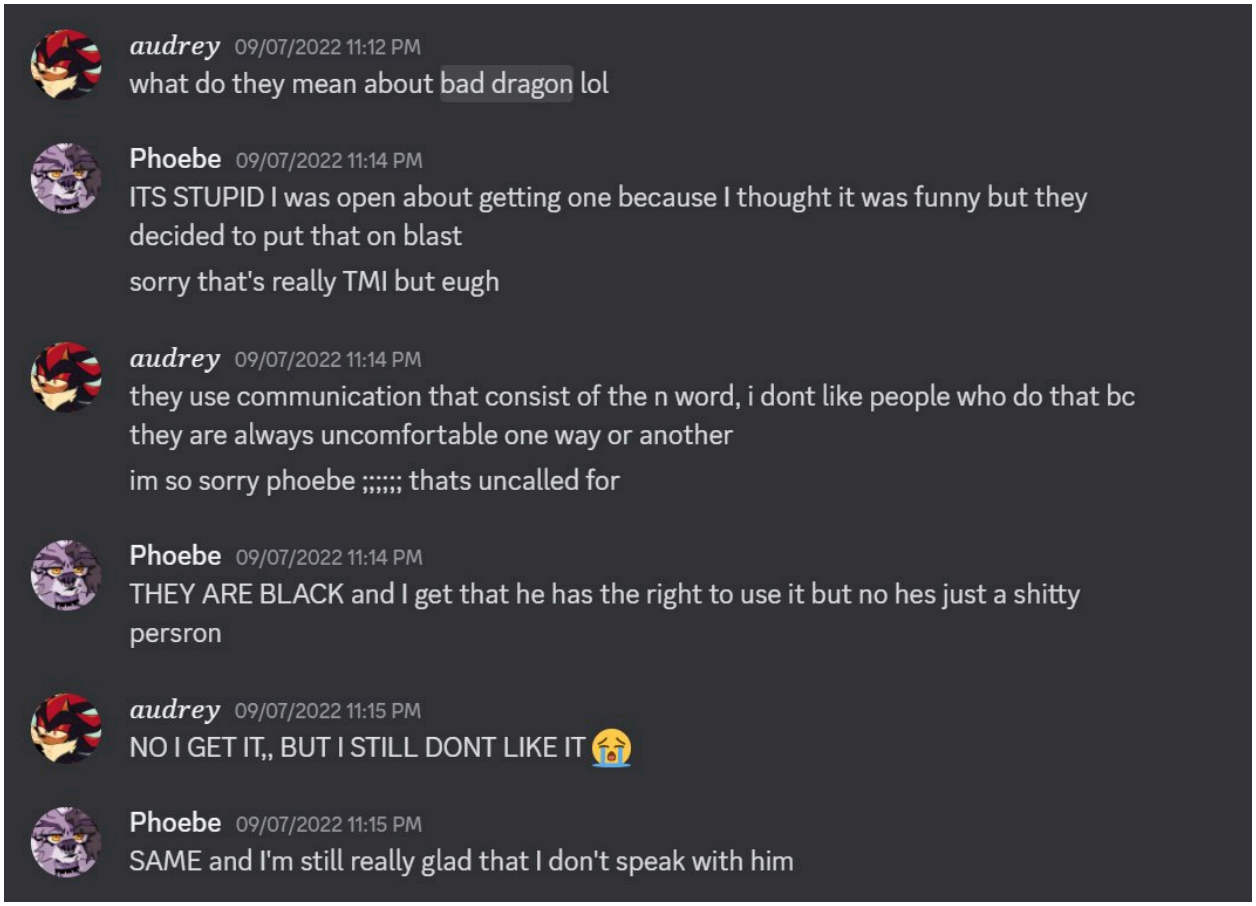

first off, i'm deeply sorry that you have gone through something like this, i can't begin to imagine how terrible it is to live with that; and it's okay to vent but posting uncensored gore porn to the public at your age is going to lead to very problematic stuff and also you're opening yourself up to unwanted nsfw spaces (aka, a safety hazard) but, i can tell that you need genuine help. your behavior has been very alarming quite a couple of times and i know it's frustrating to not have a safeplace to speak/vent, but our server is not a vent server.. i really recommend professional help/therapy, nobody in our server is qualified for that type of help which is why we do not have a vent chat for this very reason. i know you were also frustrated that you felt out of place and no one recognized you, but, to be bluntly honest, its just because you change your identity maybe a few times a week? its hard to catch up. but regardless i hope you find the healthy life you deserve and are looking for.

last thing, and i am so sorry to do this but i'm going to back out of the payment for the gift. it was a gift in the first place and yes, i paid because i felt bad, but at this point i'm no longer comfortable and i do not have the funds to fork out something i was not preparing to buy... i'm not looking to use what you made for me anymore because of this as well.

again i don't mean this in any ill will, i think it's just best if you take some time off the internet and get some help if you can, it would do you and others a favor.
take care. ;w;

To liken a child's S/A vent art to "uncensored gore porn" is disgusting. There is a way to handle issues such as these, but this is no way to speak to a child who fell victim to S/A.

RACISM (2022)

Spacemvtt openly admitting to thinking people who are able to reclaim the n-word are “always shitty”. We should not have to explain why this is a blatantly racist statement. Spacemvtt is 23 when this conversation took place; they are old enough to understand that black people are allowed to reclaim a word used to oppress them. Spacemvtt and Phoebe are both white.

RACIAL ISSUES (2022?)

This specific testimony is being put apart from the others due to the nature of race, and racial-type issues being brought into it. This is not something to take lightly. This statement comes from an anonymous black person, who we will refer to as Orange. This section of their testimony is as follows:

"the server used aave a lot to my memory and i had to explain to audrey (spacemvtt) to edit or remove a eagle feather from one of their sonas heads/mane. it was the horse fursona.

audrey had also previously made fun of my blk autistic friend for either a typing quirk or for how they spoke.

there were other incidents and allegations from other blk/poc friends about aubrey's behaviour that bordered on racist but im sorry i dont remember all of them"

Unfortunately, as the server as been deleted, we are unable to recover screenshots that fully confirm Orange's story. However, we have statements from former moderators and guests of the space cafe that confirm these things happened.

A few recall a message being pinned in the general chat of the server from Orange that discussed the importance of not including feathers in any sort of animal design. This likely stemmed from the mention of the horse design, which we have located. Do not harass the new owner of this design.

artwork - artwork 2 (both by spacemvtt)

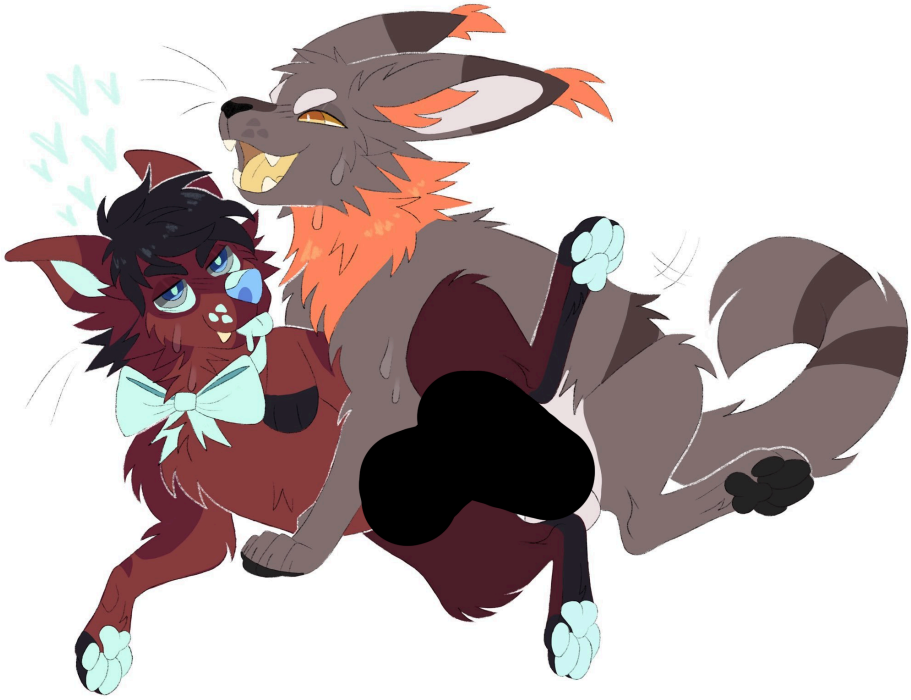

The server members and former staff can also confirm that spacemvtt and sometimes emodoqs used AAVE quite frequently, despite neither of them being black. Again, there is no proof available, as the server was deleted.

TW: FERAL NSFW (exposed 2022)

Both spacemvtt and emodoqs have engaged in consuming feral nsfw during their online careers. This all happened in 2017 and maybe 2018, but still feels relevant to bring up. We discovered that spacemvtt has at least two pieces of feral nsfw commissioned of their fursona, Loki, and their partner's old fursona, Toby.

The artworks are as follow:

The current owner of Toby would not like to be associated with any of this, as they have severe trauma with feral nsfw and did not know about this artwork prior to April of 2022.

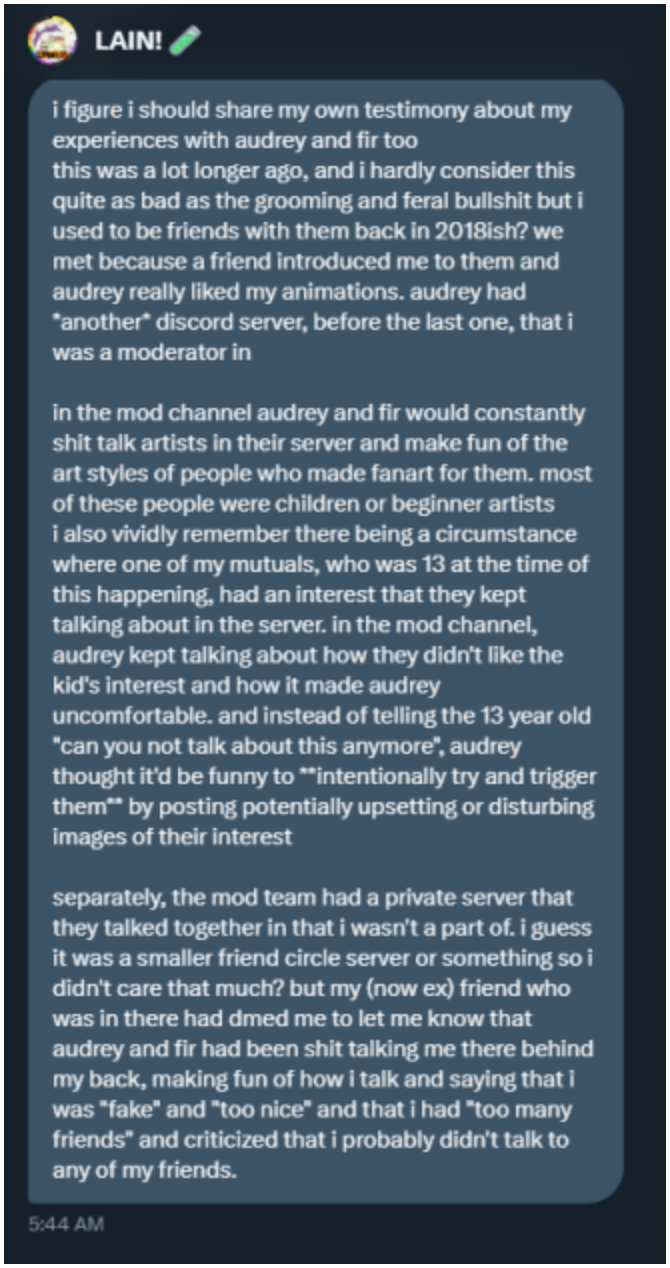

In order to be transparent, spacemvtt has since apologized for these artworks being commissioned. Those threads can be found here and here. However, what happened happened. Many people in the furry fandom have trauma and/or were groomed with feral nsfw. As we stated before: people deserve to know who they are commissioning, and what their morals were.

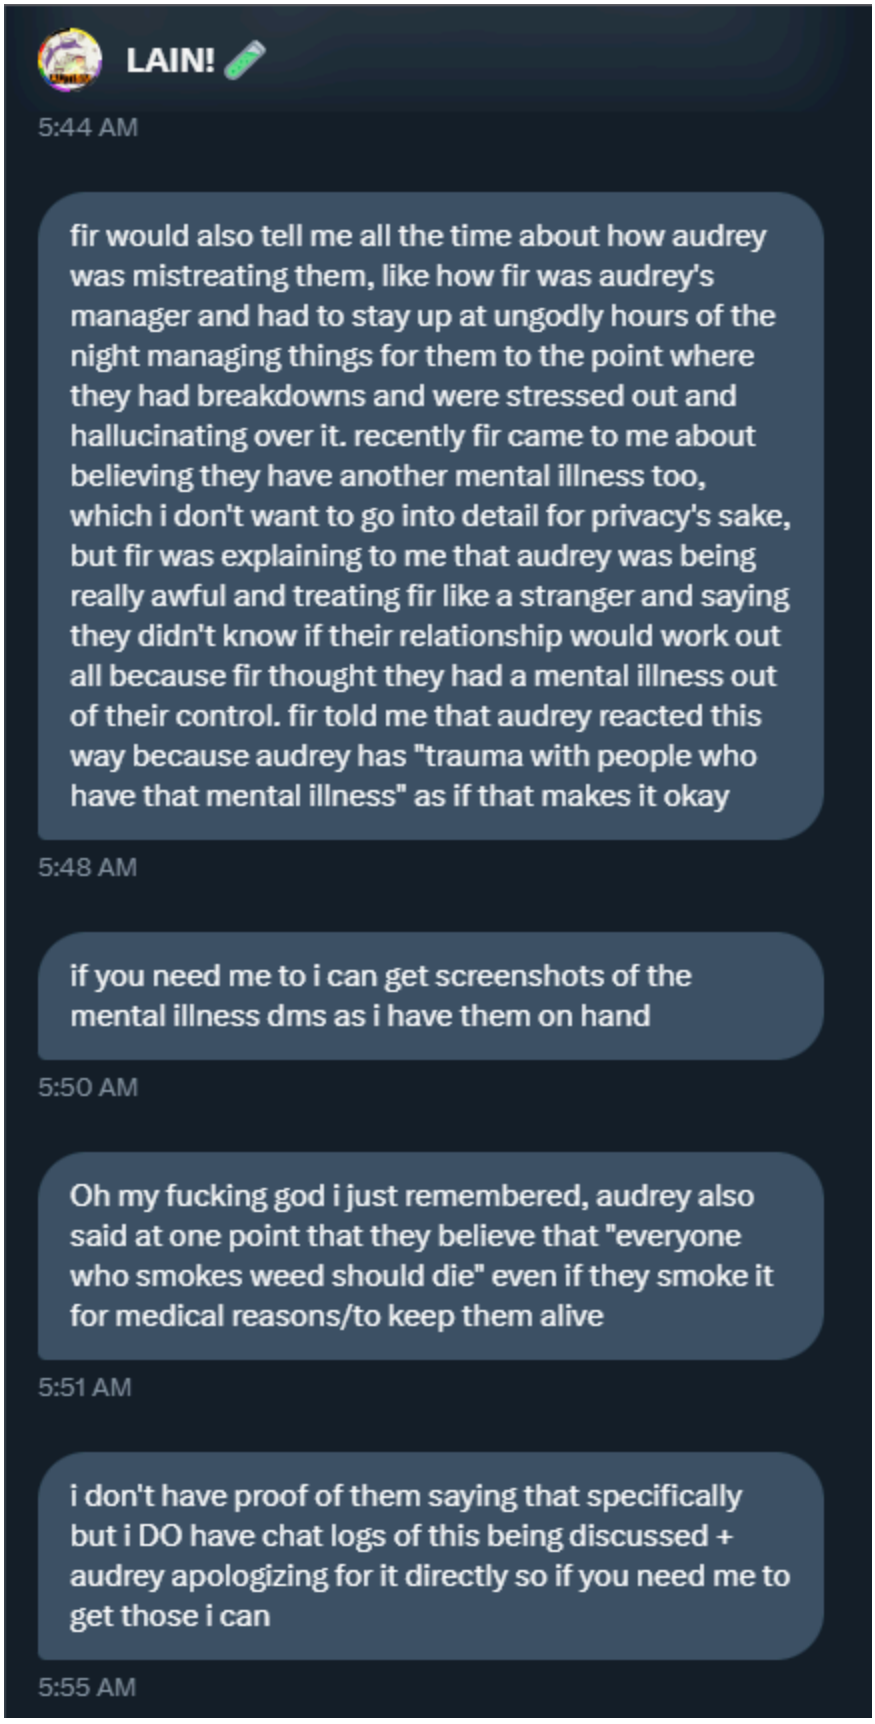

Something that we were encouraged to remember through posting this evidence was the fact that spacemvtt and emodoqs had been socially (and otherwise) groomed into thinking feral nsfw was normalized. While we acknowledge this, it points out a very big flaw in what occurred with JOSUKILLS. With spacemvtt and emodoqs being grooming victims themselves, why on earth wouldn't they take a child coming forward about grooming seriously?

STATEMENTS / TESTIMONIES

From fluxbuddy, a former friend:

All screenshots can be found here. CW FOR ABLEISM.

i figure i should share my own testimony about my experiences with audrey and fir too this was a lot longer ago, and i hardly consider this quite as bad as the grooming and feral bullshit but i used to be friends with them back in 2018ish? we met because a friend introduced me to them and audrey really liked my animations. audrey had another discord server, before the last one, that i was a moderator in in the mod channel audrey and fir would constantly shit talk artists in their server and make fun of the art styles of people who made fanart for them. most of these people were children or beginner artists
i also vividly remember there being a circumstance where one of my mutuals, who was 13 at the time of this happening, had an interest that they kept talking about in the server. in the mod channel, audrey kept talking about how they didn't like the kid's interest and how it made audrey uncomfortable. and instead of telling the 13 year old "can you not talk about this anymore", audrey thought it'd be funny to intentionally try and trigger them by posting potentially upsetting or disturbing images of their interest separately, the mod team had a private server that they talked together in that i wasn't a part of. i guess it was a smaller friend circle server or something so i didn't care that much? but my (now ex) friend who was in there had dmed me to let me know that audrey and fir had been shit talking me there behind my back, making fun of how i talk and saying that i was "fake" and "too nice" and that i had "too many friends" and criticized that i probably didn't talk to any of my friends.
5:44 AM

LAIN!
5:44 AM
fir would also tell me all the time about how audrey was mistreating them, like how fir was audrey's manager and had to stay up at ungodly hours of the night managing things for them to the point where they had breakdowns and were stressed out and hallucinating over it. recently fir came to me about believing they have another mental illness too, which i don't want to go into detail for privacy's sake, but fir was explaining to me that audrey was being really awful and treating fir like a stranger and saying they didn't know if their relationship would work out all because fir thought they had a mental illness out of their control. fir told me that audrey reacted this way because audrey has "trauma with people who have that mental illness" as if that makes it okay
5:48 AM
if you need me to i can get screenshots of the mental illness dms as i have them on hand
5:50 AM
Oh my fucking god i just remembered, audrey also said at one point that they believe that "everyone who smokes weed should die" even if they smoke it for medical reasons/to keep them alive
5:51 AM
i don't have proof of them saying that specifically but i DO have chat logs of this being discussed + audrey apologizing for it directly so if you need me to get those i can 5:55 AM

[redacted] 07/06/2017 7:29 PM
i need.
time bc im honestly fucking pissed.

All i did was defend one of my closest friends bc he will literally die without weed.
He doesnt want to be dependant on it. no one wants to be dependant on drugs.
And Alister says to my face, and [redacted]s face, that our friend, who's helped us through a lot, should die.

Then left the chat and kicked me from their server.
Because I want my friend to be able to function.

I'll unblock them but I want time.

[redacted] 07/06/2017 7:31 PM
mmMMM.. i totally get where you're coming from ;;
just like. let me or calico know when you've had enough time bc i totally understand!!!! it was definitely super over the top so ghHH I WOULD BE UPSET TOO heres messages from them juST. so you know they really do feel bad.
i hope you feel better soon though dude!!! feel free to vent to me if you need to i prOMISE ITS ALWAYS OK!!!

[redacted] 07/07/2017 8:11 AM yo uh got sent some screenies and um!! if Alister is so scared of me then I don't want to be their friend again? bc that's not a friendship?

And also no, they didn't give any warning to stop talking about it
They started acting all shitty but I'm autistic so I don't get social clues so honestly

I'd rather not try if they're gonna blame me? and be scared of me and kick me from a chat just to vent about me and make me seem like the bad guy,,, but jeff wanted me to send this-how do you deal with your partner treating you like a strangerand syaing htey dont know if it works out

Jul 11, 2022, 3:59 PM
I HONESTLY... DON'T KNOW. because they should support and love you no matter what, regardless of what you may be suffering from and struggling with. [redacted] does not change you... it just means your brain works a little differently i'm sorry they're being weird to you about this :(you deserve to be loved and supported no matter what, you shouldn't have to be forced into a position where you have to choose between your partner and accepting a disorder you suffer with, the two should be able to co-exist without problem

i want to reassure you like... you are not a bad person for this, this is not your fault, you deserve to be treated with respect for this. there is nothing wrong with [redacted] and people should take [redacted] seriously and treat them like people
idk if aiden like.. can, they have pretty bad trauma with [redacted] ppl and i dont blame them but they have reassured me they love me
Jul 12, 2022, 10:02 AM i mean this in the kindest way.... but i need to be blunt; trauma with people with certain disorders doesn't excuse you to treat everyone with that disorder weirdly
i was abused by someone with BPD who constantly blamed their actions on their bpd, but even still i know not to demonize people with bpd because their disorder does not equate to my traumatic experiences... you know?
i know you want to justify their actions because you love them, and i respect you for that, but from an outsider's perspective it's just not a valid excuse
Jul 12, 2022, 10:05 AM
yeah i do ;; i really do i know its not a valid excuse and ik how it feels having bpd myself

From daresday/kaizolevel:

To Audrey and Fir? Honestly eat shit.

Every story I've heard about you up until this point has been nothing but negative. How many more victims have you silenced. How many more people have you harassed into hiding. How many children have you failed to protect. I wish this doc came out years ago, because you're not nearly worth half the shit you've put everyone through.

And then you both come into my dms with the most basic bitch "apology" imaginable. You told me your biggest regret "was being friends with Phoebe". You're not sorry you and your friends harassed me. You're not sorry you and your friends have stalked me since 2021. You're not sorry you silenced people who knew the truth. You're not sorry you let a groomer continue to stay around children. You're not sorry you hid Charlotte's open admission from the public. You're not sorry you pushed Riot, a child, to the side and told him to get evidence you knew you had.

You're only sorry you weren't able to manipulate well enough to keep people on your side.

A child should never feel scared to come to another adult for help. He should have never felt scared to come to me. He was scared I wouldn't believe or protect him just like you. And you chose to cause that fear. You chose to fail Riot and you chose to fail so many more. For what? A fucking friendship? As someone who was close friends with her for 5 years, she's barely worth a passing glance. But tell me, are you that fucking pathetic you can only find common grounds with open-admitting predators? I guess you bitches have to stick together, because who else would.

This is such a basic never meet your heroes story.

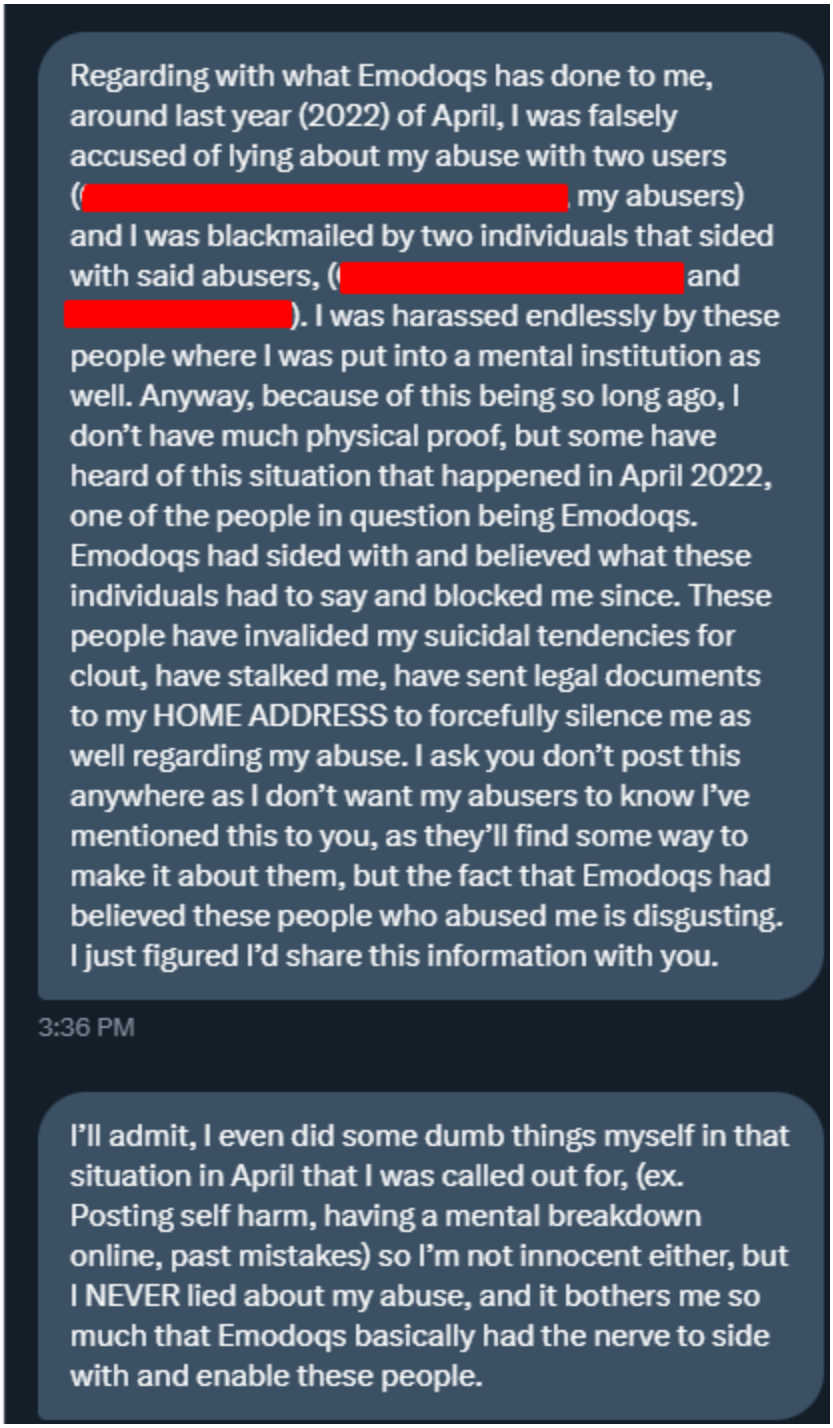

The fact that so many children looked up to you and found inspiration in you makes me fucking sick. You never would have protected any of them from the start. I found that inspiration in you too, and look where it got us. You put so many children in harm's way over a "friendship". You abused your power in the worst way possible.

You're both genuinely fucking evil.

I sincerely hope it was worth it.

Full statement from Orange:

so,

i joined the server via toyhouse when it first started going up and joined the ko-fi chat soon after so i had access to both chats

i wasn't active at first due to fear since aiden/Aubrey was one of my idols and i was you know a big fan! i soon became active n frequently talked or tried my best to talk in chat, often chatting a bit with mods and such soon i began taking commissions in the server for side money and out of habit i would talk about my art and such and would ask about what others would be interested in in general. i viewed it as art related and never had anyone say anything about it beinh annoying or disruptive and it was not against the rules at the time. i would sometimes do this in kofi chat but only because i would see a client, do a very quick "hey im working on this btw!" nothing descriptive or in detail because i wanted to be respectful

this became a common occurence and from what i viewed nobody had any issue with it or confronted me aboht it. so i assumed it was ok. i also got a frequent client from this time who i'll call scourge to keep them anon because i believe they geninuely had nothing really to do with it scourge commissioned me often and i would start making jokes cause i saw other creators do it where they would play around with their frequent clients and i considered scourge akin to a friend. i will admit how it could come off as disrespectful but scourge would joke back with me and would gift me things so i saw no issue.

however, fir and aubrey saw issue with it and talked to the mod team. at the time, scourge was friends with majority of the team and they were all very protective of scourge i think? note: all were adults expect 2 i believe scourge i believe was in his 20s id also like to quickly mention i apologized often to fir and Aubrey when i did talk about my stuff since i felt i was talking too much about myself and didnt want to fill chat sometimes.

i was kicked out of my house by my guardian and lost all my savings and money moving in with my mom. everyone was aware of this since i made it clear when venting and in advertisements for emergency comms. so at the time, i took comms thru friends and family as paypal was holding my money at the time for a month minimum for every payment

i would become more active and talking mindlessly about my art/in general/and about anything due to the fact i was trying to grapse on some sense of normality for the longest

i believe a month or so later, fir confronted me claiming i was manipulative and toxic towards scourge and pressuring him into buying things from me, which i was not doing. they also claimed i was being disrespectful towards Aubrey for talking about myself too much. this was very sudden and at the time caused me to have a breakdown because i was terrified they were going to publically shame me or kick me from the server. they also asked for a refund (which they never actually said if they wanted one, just really a maybe, which later i found out they actually wanted one when i was going to start their comm. they were refunded.)

i immediately apologized from stress and fear and went to scourge to apologize, in which fir accepted with an attitude. i stopped being active slowly after i realized how rude and aggressive it actually was to come to a kid with no prior warning and make accusations. scourge later responded to me stating he had no issue with me or my jokes, which confused me heavily since i thought he had made the complaint.

i was later removed for inactivity since you had to talk weekly to be considered active and unsubscribed from the ko fi.

for the racism bits

the server used aave a lot to my memory and i had to explain to aubrey to edit or remove a eagle feather from one of their sonas heads/mane. it was the horse fursona.

aubrey had also previously made fun of my blk austic friend for either a typing quirk or for how they spoke.

there were other incidents and allegations from other blk/poc friends about aubrey's behaviour that bordered on racist but im sorry i dont remember all of them

im gonna send scs of fir when i get back silver. Today at 4:06 PM

hey,

the mods and i had a talk since you seem to almost daily talk about your commission progress and advertising in general chat. while yes, art talk isn't wrong, you talk about your art progress specifically. it's not your update server, and it feels unfair and disrespectful towards aiden. this includes things such as talking about your commission in their ko-fi channel, asking to be paid through friends and family (which is against paypal's tos and it could get you in huge trouble) and especially, pressuring specifically [redacted] into art related stuff. we notice you're being quite manipulative towards him and some things you have said are... bluntly? really shitty. attached below.

you're getting a warning and if this keeps up we'll kick you. your behavior is manipulative and toxic and we do not advocate that at all.

i might also ask for a refund. i'm not okay with how you treated [redacted].

[redacted] Today at 4:20 PM

Honestly no hard feelings! I'll be honest when I say I hadn't noticed a whole lot but when someone pointed it out it did remind me of some bad drama with someone who did use me for my money.

I can understand them as jokes and I had no problem what-so-ever with them, I'd say we're still on friendly terms and I'm still more than willing to commission and work with you! I know you meant well and I am not upset at all

thank you for not being upset with me i just didnt know how i was coming off towards you!! also for the future please note most of the time anything i say is always in jest/playful 99% of the time!! usually when im seirous ill almost always use proper capilization or add /srs ^^ i geni uely think of you as a friend since youve helpd me a lot n ur cool!! plus youre friends with some of my friends!!

please let me know if i ever get out of hand tho!! i cant really tell my tones/limits with people a loy

[redacted] Today at 4:27 PM

Nah I could tell your tone from the way you type! I know it was mainly you jesting! Ain't nothing bad between us I promise!

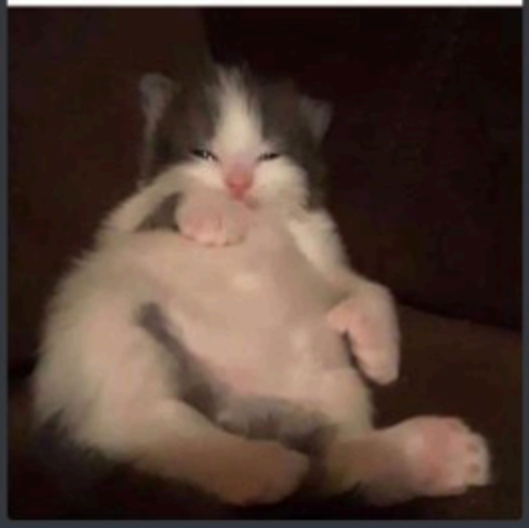

me apologizing to scourge

if u do post these scs plz block out names !!

[redacted] 13/04/2022

[redacted] give me 2 dollars and ill trace this with your sona

no talk me im sleepy

"part of the proof" against me ill pull the others when i find them example of me talking in general, last blocked out names were fir and aubreys name

Yesterday, 12:18 PM

Yesterday, 12:18 PM

im sorry i dont have a bunch its been a year and ive switched phones since

Yesterday, 12:19 PM

the cat one was in kofi chat when me and scourge were talking but it was also used as an example of disrespecting aubrey by advertising in their kofi chat

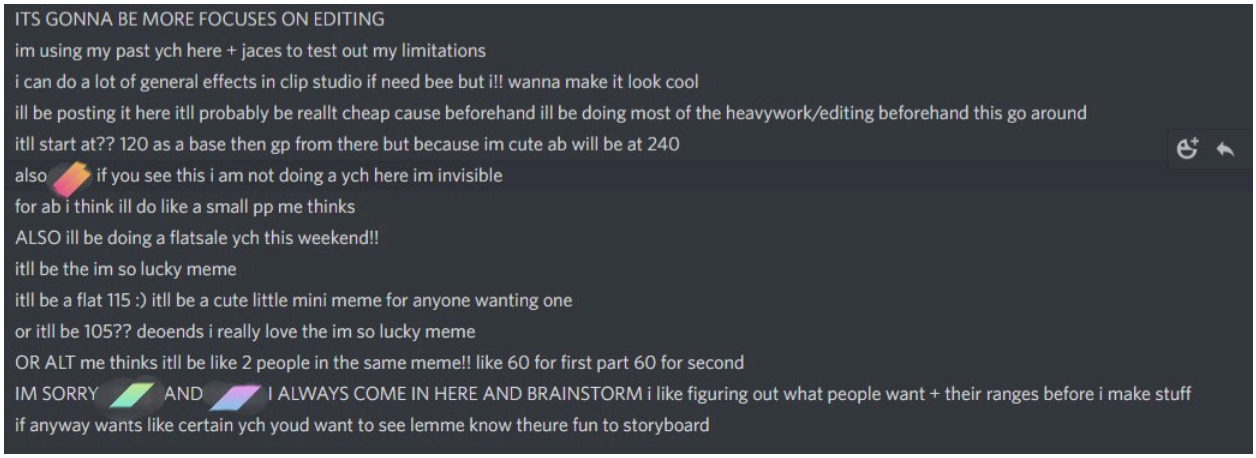

Yesterday, 12:22 PM

like i said i will admit that me making jokes about using scourge's money or stealing scourge's wallet can be disrespectful and i apologized for such and have since stopped that, i do honestly think the manner fir came at me was aggressive and disrespectful snd most proof against me weree out of context, as most scourge was joking around with me and scourge was actively in chat

Yesterday, 12:30 PM

making a claim that a 16 y/o was abusing and manipulating a 20+ y/o is very stupid to me and they should have came in a calmer manner

From cvpidletters:

I considered myself a friend to Emodoqs (who I will henceforth refer to as Fir) and attempted to be a friend to Spacemvtt (henceforth Audrey). I had no personal issue with how Fir treated me, my complaints are mostly with Audrey. Like many others it was rare that I ever got a response from them-- even when I would send them money, offer them food, and give them art. To be clear I don't mean to sound like I require praise or wanted to be best friends with this person- but since I was previously close with their partner and they were formerly somewhat close to my QPP, I thought it would be nice to try to get to know them. I only wish they would have been kind enough to acknowledge my presence.

Audrey followed me months back on twitter and would go on about how they loved my art (if I sent it through Fir, because they immediately reacted if Fir was the one to give it to them), wanted to commission me and support me, but the only time they had ever retweeted something I had said was for a YCH that I said I'd give them most of the earnings of(for their upcoming wedding). And I held up to that, sending them $50. I sent Audrey at least $200 over the course of us knowing each other, expecting no art in return despite them offering to draw me art countless times, which I never fully declined and they would say they'd do it- only to never do so. They offered to refund the recent $50 unprompted with a very pity-reaching tone. I have never been anything but kind and civil and it does hurt my feelings that they could not be assed to return that.

From oktobre_ / forestempl3:

Where to even begin?

I want to preface this with saying that this- all of this- has not been something I've enjoyed doing. To assist in writing a document exposing horrible things my ex-friends have done has been less than enjoyable. It has hurt me in such a personal place. This isn't a gotcha-type moment. These people were my friends for years, no matter if we were not as close as were until the end. Now, they are not, and I have to try to make right what they did, because they will not.

Nevertheless, I'll try to keep this short. To both Fir and Audrey: I resent you. I resent you for making me into your attack dog; the attack dog that everyone resented for their encouraged aggression, their perceived lack of care, and their willingness to defend its owners at any cost. I resent you for using my developed skills in my field to assist you in writing apology after apology, or handling your personal issues with other people that I had no business being involved in. And you knew that. You thanked me for getting involved, for doing what you couldn't and continue to be unable to do: handle conflict, or handle your problems when things got tough.

I was nothing more than a tool to both of you in the end. You had absolutely no qualms with spamming me in the dead of night over a situation that did not concern me, nor how it would make me feel to see the things I saw. But, you did it. You did it knowing my history with being groomed for three years of my life as a child by a woman seven years my senior. You didn't care. Anything that threatened Audrey's platform- no matter what it was- had to be snuffed out, right? Because Audrey's precious platform took precedent over a child who was abused, right?

I hate you. I hate you more than words can accurately portray. You both do not deserve the platform you have; you never did. You are terminally online, immature, spineless, narcissistic adults that never evolved past highschool drama on deviantart. I hope that every day you wake up nauseous at what you forced a victim to go through because of your refusal to act. I hope that every single day going forward, you are overcome with guilt. You deserve it and more.

I know you will never truly be sorry for what you did. You are sorry you got caught. You are sorry that you both are going to lose the online platform that you are glued to. You are sorry that you couldn't keep people in your circle and lie to them about the true extent of what happened. Nobody will shield you anymore. I will never let anyone shield you ever again. There will never be another me. There will never be another ghost writer or attack dog to protect you.

You have nothing. You deserve absolutely nothing. I can only hope you would grow from this, but I know you won't. Five months of handling every issue for you has taught me that much.

CONCLUSION

With the conclusion of this document, all we want to see happen is to have spacemvtt and emodoqs deplatformed. They have been allowed to abuse their power as "popufurs" for far too long. Wherever they go, drama, abuse, and mistreatment follow.

We have compiled a list of accounts that both aforementioned parties use regularly, or have used in the past. Please ensure you are not following them anywhere, especially twitter or instagram, where they arguably have the biggest presence. Neither of them are deserving of a platform.

Thank you for reading what we've had to say. If you have any questions, or want to share your own story, you can reach out to our beware account. We will regularly update this doc as we see fit.

EDIT 1 - 2/28/2023

Despite saying they were on an “indefinite hiatus”, emodoqs is still active on toyhouse and actively purchasing designs made by an abuser (liontoys). Birds of a feather flock together.

1/8/2024: Tiramisurat is also actively trading with and allowing emodoq to purchase their designs.

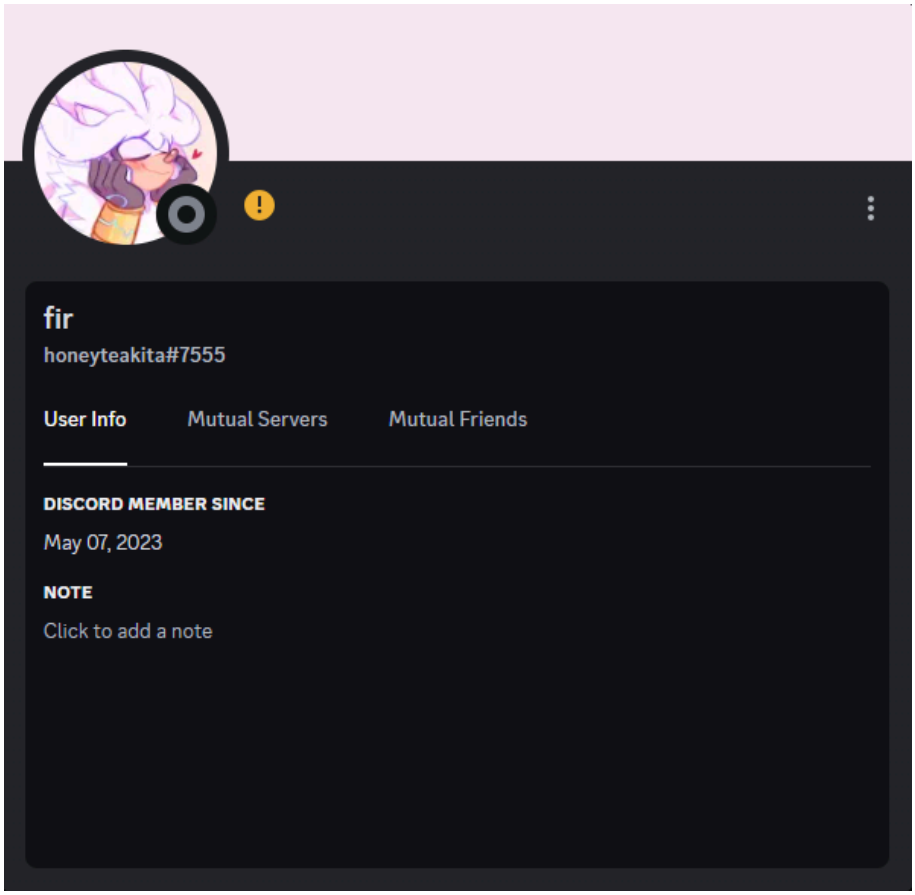

EDIT 2 - 6/7/2023

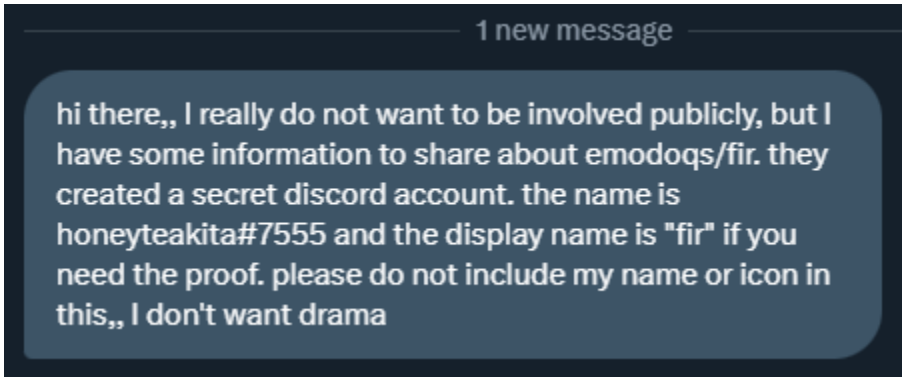

Fir has created a new Discord account in order to hide from the allegations. Their new handle is “honeyteakita”. We are only aware of them having a Discord and Twitter under this name. They blocked the beware account, so we were certain it is them. On the slim chance this is not Fir, we apologize profusely.

EDIT 3 - 1/8/2024 - IMPORTANT

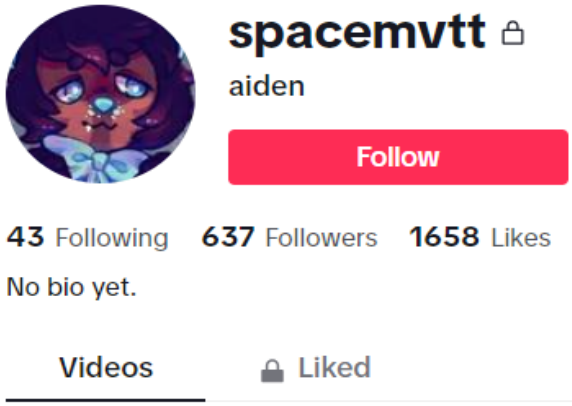

We have been made aware that spacemvtt / Audrey has a secret discord server and is active on TikTok. A member of their server came forward to state the following:

We have attempted to reach out to the poster twice, but to no avail. If anyone has any information concerning spacemvtt or emodoq's new discord server please contact us on Twitter immediately. Spacemvtt's server is not a safe place for anyone to be in, especially minors. We can only hope they have the decency to make it 18+.

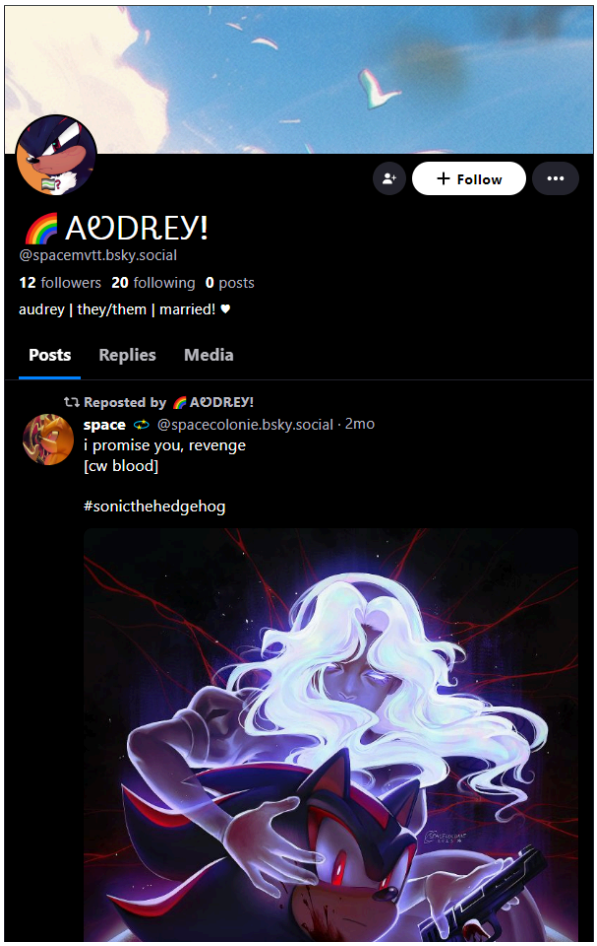

They have proven they cannot safely navigate having a space for minors, nor put any care into being sure they are not preyed upon. They cruelly and callously pushed aside the very valid concerns of a teenager who was groomed. This cannot happen again.

Spacemvtt's TikTok is conveniently made private. The account is:
https://www.tiktok.com/@spacemvtt

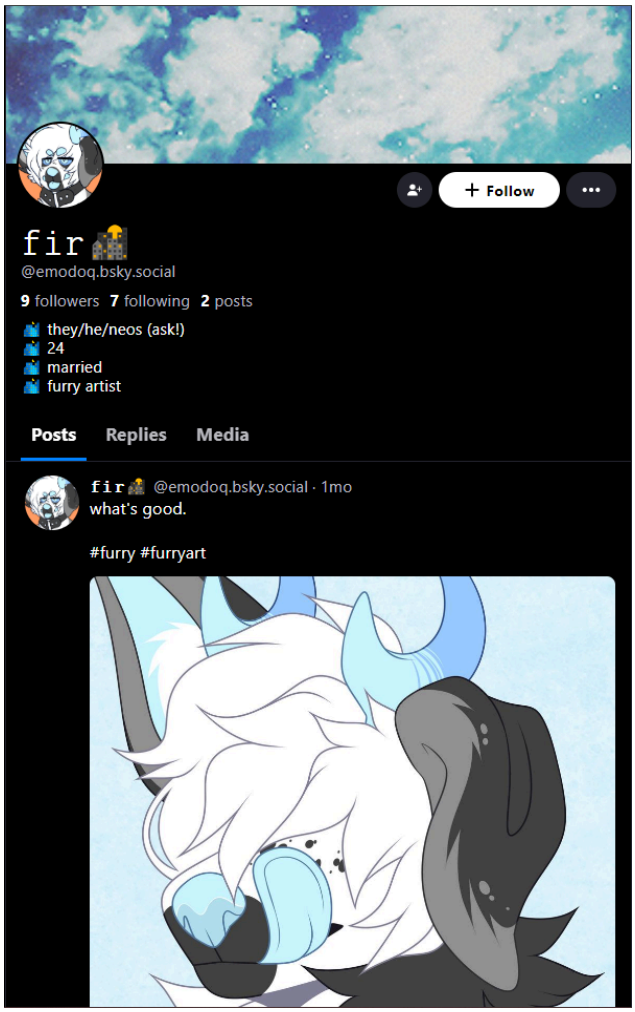

Less importantly, both spacemvtt and emodoq now have Bluesky accounts. The accounts are as follow:

https://bsky.app/profile/emodoq.bsky.social

When we called them out on their usage of public social media again, this is all Fir had to say:

“I can come back when I decide to” no the fuck you can’t. You permitted a child groomer to stay in your Discord server full of teens and kids for months. You did not bother trying to verify the claims against Phoebe, the groomer, until it slapped you and spacemvtt in the face publicly. You never cared about the victim; you have always cared about your image.

This isn't a simple mistake. You didn't do something by accident. You actively harassed and demeaned a child and their defenders because you couldn't bother to do a few minutes of research. We all doubt you've sought help when this is your response to being rightfully called out still.

Instead of showing growth, you have reached out to people who disavowed you in private and attempted to get back into contact with them. You tell them to hide any art you make them and try to buy them back with gifts and nice words. Not anymore. You will not escape from this - you or Audrey. You've both shown you genuinely never cared.

To anyone still supporting them: you are truly scum. Allowing abusers and terrible people into this fandom because you think they have cute art is one of the main reasons non-furries and furries alike hate this fandom. There are plenty of creators you can buy art and designs from that aren't ablest, racist, abusive, shoddy people. But, if you want to go on supporting your spouse-abusing, groomer-apologist, narcissistic furry animation meme idol, who are we to stop you? I hope it's worth it.
