

Hey (name)

I've seen your YouTube channel (name) and thought I should mention you're an inspirational content creator with great tips and tricks.

It caught my attention when you mentioned Joint pain in your most recent video on Instagram, I like this video because you taught me something more and helped me prevent excessive joint pain. (Thank you!)

As a fitness coach, I understand the frustrations in day-to-day life, like managing your time and workload.

That's why helping your clients achieve their goals and milestones, becomes the most important thing on the planet.

This is also why your engagement in marketing is super important, and it's what can help you reach your desired goals in your business.

It is what all the top competitors in your niche use that are making $10K, $100K, or even millions a month.

I use something which I call a "Lead Magnet" that for your same amount of work, you establish more loyal customers.

I'll paste an example below.

We can discuss this further if interested.
