

English Fluency Program: Volunteer Opportunity

 Location: SEGA Girls' School, Tanzania

 Dates: October 2027

Program Overview

The SEGA English Fluency Program empowers girls to build their confidence in speaking English, listening, and overall communication skills through interactive lessons, group projects, and real-world activities. Volunteers guide students in hands-on English practice, mentorship, and collaborative exercises, fostering confidence, critical thinking, teamwork, and language development.

Program Goals:

- Engage students in interactive English activities that build communication, critical thinking, and confidence.
- Inspire students through mentorship and exposure to global role models and real-world applications of English skills.
- Connect students to international learning communities and enhance cross-cultural understanding.
- Support SEGA's English program through teacher collaboration, peer mentoring, and lasting student engagement.

Who We're Looking For

If you are passionate about language education, mentoring, or experiential learning, this is your chance to make a meaningful impact!

- Lead small student groups in speaking and listening activities
- Teach language skills in an engaging, hands-on way
- Mentor students to develop confidence, teamwork, and communication skills
- Support group projects, presentations, and language-focused challenges

Qualifications:

- Experience in English education, language teaching, or tutoring
- Enthusiasm for mentoring and teaching in interactive settings
- Commitment to teamwork, creativity, and cross-cultural learning
- Comfortable facilitating activities with students of varying skill levels

Why Volunteer

- Make a direct impact on girls' English skills, confidence, and leadership
- Gain hands-on cross-cultural teaching experience
- Help inspire the next generation of learners and global communicators
- Collaborate with graduates, teachers, and volunteers to strengthen English education at SEGA

Community & School Support
