After you've donated

If you'd like a thank-you and to be kept informed about the inquiry, please email:

with the date and amount of your transfer.

Where your money goes

Every pound raised goes to the costs of the public inquiry:

- Barrister's fees (Peter Cruickshank of Six Pump Court, instructed as counsel)
- Expert witness fees (currently two experts on board; more added as funds allow)
- Document preparation, plans, inquiry logistics and campaign costs.

Each additional expert we can fund is approximately £30,000 from initial briefing to giving evidence, plus around £30,000 in associated barrister fees, so every ££££ raised unlocks a new strand of evidence at the inquiry.

The coalition - CRGS and CPRA - operates entirely on volunteer effort.

No campaign funds are spent on salaries or overheads.
