3. Purpose of the App

"Daily Tarot" is designed to help to learn tarot cards and for entertainment purposes. Users may also get access to readings of cards and their meanings.

4. Data Collection and Usage

We value your privacy and do not collect any personal data through "Daily Tarot". All information entered into the app is stored locally on your device and is not accessed, used, or shared by us.

Like millions of other apps, "Daily Tarot" uses Google Analytics to collect usage statistics to improve user experience. It collects information about how often you use the app, which buttons inside the app you pressed.

All the data are anonymized, it means there is no way to associate the data with your personality to identify you. The data help us to remove unused options from the settings, to analyze which options are most used and decide how to improve the app.

All the data are stored by Google on their servers. Only developers of this app have access to the Google analytics account and able to see and analyze the data.

You can find Google Analytics Privacy Policy and Terms of Service here:
