

1. Just reaching out again, following up on my email from a couple weeks ago. Are you looking for fresh copy right now?
2. You there, XXXX?
3. Following up one more time before [holiday] - does [company] need fresh copy these days?
4. Happy New Year, XXX - looking for more copy in 2024?
5. [GIF of someone waiting]
6. Just bumping this up your inbox again - do you guys need fresh copy?
7. Following up on this again - is [company] maxed out with copywriters right now?
8. Just seeing if I can catch you at the right time to discuss this - does [company] need copy?
9. Just giving this message a little bump to stay on your radar - want to chat about putting together a relationship here?
10. Following up again this week - did you get a chance to look over the copy I sent over?
11. Ready to talk about getting some copy off of you and [company]'s plate?
12. How about we get a conversation going this week and see where I can fit in with [company] and your team?
13. Haven't heard from you since the 12th - is there a better way to contact you than email? Maybe I'm just getting lost in the pile.
14. Can we talk this week about me taking some [company] copy off your plate?
15. Reaching out one more time this week, hoping to catch you before the weekend.
16. Can we chat this week about this?
17. Are you ready to chat about maybe moving forward with something together?
18. Just doing my weekly follow ups to see if there's room for a conversation yet.
19. Just wanted to bump this one up your inbox.
20. Did you get this email I sent over X days ago?
21. Just doing my follow ups this week - did you want to chat about your copy needs?
22. I don't want to waste your time - is there a better person to reach out to that handles copy?
23. I don't want to clutter your inbox - is there someone else at the company that would be in charge of this?
24. I reached out X weeks ago and haven't heard back. Do you need fresh copy right now?
25. [name]?
26. Haven't heard from you yet. Giving this a bump in case my emails are falling behind the filing cabinet.
27. Just a quick nudge - have you had a chance to think about our conversation on your copy needs?
28. Just touching base to see what you're thinking.

29. Checking in to see if you have any updates for me – are we moving forward with getting some copy going for you?
30. Hope you're well! Did you catch my last email?
31. Popping into your inbox to see if there's any progress on your end regarding your copy needs.
32. Any thoughts on where you're at with copy?
33. Just a friendly reminder about our copy discussion – have you had a chance to review?
34. Is this week a good time to discuss your copy needs?
35. Hello again, just making sure my previous messages haven't been missed. Ready to chat yet?
36. Still looking to help with your copy needs – should we schedule a call this week?
37. Can I provide any more details to help you make a decision either way?
38. Just floating this back to the top of your inbox – get a chance to think about this yet?
39. Thought I'd check in – any updates on this conversation?
40. Still interested in partnering up for your copywriting needs?
41. Hello again! Any progress on our last conversation about your copy needs?
42. Quick check-in: What do you think? Do you need fresh copy?
43. Have you had a chance to go over the portfolio I sent last time we spoke?
44. Just a little nudge to keep this conversation going.
45. Are you free for a quick chat about your copy needs this week?
46. Just a friendly check-in, did you see my last email?
47. Hello again – just trying to stay on your radar. Any updates?
48. I'm here whenever you're ready to discuss further – any update on your needs for fresh copy?
49. Hey there! Just making sure my last email didn't slip through the cracks. Thoughts?
50. Quick reminder about the message I sent over – is copy on your radar right now?
51. Would this week be a good time to discuss your copy needs further?
52. Are you up for a chat about taking some copy tasks off your hands this week?
53. Popping into your inbox one more time – any thoughts on moving forward?