My Name

Dear Sir/Madam

My name is David de Villiers and I am a very motivated individual who is aspiring to reach my full potential. Please refer to my attached CV for more information.

With my collaboration, creativity and adaptability skills, I would make a valuable asset to your company. My background in education involves English, History, Dramatic Arts, Creative Arts, Life Orientation and EGD, as well as my active participation in Physical Education and sports such as swimming and rugby. I've also spent my time at the library where I was a monitor, helping organizing the books.

I have a strong mind-set with the willingness to learn, as I believe that anything can be a new learning experience and a chance to gain new skills. I am so determined and passionate about getting a job done that I will do more than just simply deliver results. I will swiftly surpass your expectations for whatever position you may offer me and meet the deadline.

Having been pushed and prepared for anything that I may be required to do, I have a strong work ethic and the will to push forward in life and achieve nothing but success.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

MY NAME
