

Privacy Policy for SEO Keyword & SERP Extractor

Last updated: September 19, 2026

SEO Keyword & SERP Extractor ("we", "our", or "the extension") is committed to protecting your privacy. This Privacy Policy explains our practices regarding user information and data collection.

1. Information Collection and Use

- No Personal Data Collection: SEO Keyword & SERP Extractor does NOT collect, store, track, transmit, or sell any personal data, search history, browsing behavior, IP addresses, or identity information.
- Local Operation: All keyword extraction and processing are performed locally within your browser tab.
- Google Autocomplete Queries: When using the A-Z Keyword Expander feature, the extension sends your query directly to Google's public autocomplete endpoint (suggestqueries.google.com) to retrieve keyword suggestions. We do not store or track these queries.

2. Permissions Justification

- activeTab: Used solely to detect when you are viewing a Google Search results page and extract visible search keywords upon clicking the extension icon.
- scripting: Used only to parse the DOM of the current Google Search tab to retrieve publicly visible People Also Ask (PAA) and Related Searches data.
- clipboardWrite: Used to allow you to copy extracted keywords, prompts, or lists to your clipboard with a single click.
- storage: Used solely to store the user's PRO license activation status locally on their machine.
- host_permissions: Used strictly to access Google Search result pages and public suggestion APIs when requested by the user.

3. Third-Party Sharing

We do not share, sell, or disclose any user data or extracted keywords to any third party.

4. Changes to This Privacy Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time. Any changes will be posted on this page.
